Today

Lindbergh's Next Day.
A Middle Age Danger.
Coolidge 1932? No.
5 Billion Offered.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

LINDBERGH REMEMBERS the question that Napoleon used to his marshals when they reported a victory:

"What did you do the next day?"

This is "the next day" for Lindbergh, and he intends to fly, with his wife, to Japan and China over the Pacific Ocean.

Because his wife is going, Col. Lindbergh will fly over a northern narrow stretch of the Pacific, no "middle of the ocean and no matter what happens" this time. And he will fly a ship that can land on water.

MORTIMER L. SCHIFF, partner in Kuhn, Loeb & Co., generous in many philanthropies, and only last month elected national head of the Boy Scouts, died suddenly yesterday of heart disease. It is another warning to men of middle age that strenuous exercise, added to strenuous mental work, is dangerous. Mr. Schiff, the day before his death, had played golf for several hours, working hard at his play, as at everything else.

Men past 50 should learn to take life calmly.

MR. COOLIDGE talks to his manager about discontinuing for awhile his daily articles that appear in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Seattle Post Intelligencer and other newspapers.

Mr. Coolidge, it is suggested, does not choose to be a slave and work every week day in the year. Some other inferior slaves wonder how he would like to work seven days every week in the year, writing for two sets of daily newspapers on week days, and two articles for each Sunday.

IT IS EVEN suggested that Mr. Coolidge intends to stop newspaper work entirely, but that is not probable. He gives good advice, publishes wise and helpful comment, and earns at least twice as much as the people pay President Hoover, while leading, as the late Joseph Pulitzer used to say, "the life of a millionaire without its cares."

Some suggest that Mr. Coolidge intends to run for President in 1932. It is quite safe to say that that is not so. In 1936, perhaps, not 1932.

ANOTHER PIECE of political news is the announcement by Col. E. M. House, close associate and confidant of the late President Wilson, that he, Mr. House, is for Franklin D. Roosevelt for president, thinks he ought to be nominated, will vote for him, and says he "will be elected if nominated." That depends a good deal on what former Gov. Smith may say about a year from next November.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST suggested, in a radio talk, that depression might be relieved if the government would borrow five billions of dollars and spend it on work actually needed. He suggested that the government could easily borrow five billions if it wanted to.

The statement is verified in the announcement that Secretary Mellon's request for a loan of $800,000,000 has been oversubscribed seven times. In other words, the people of the United States, which means the banks principally, offer to lend five billion six hundred million at 3½ per cent interest.

Evidently there is plenty of money, and the government could get it if it knew what to do with it.

DR. E. D. CLARK, of the northwest coast, where salmon come to lay eggs and die, has interesting information about that powerful fish, which for good reason is consumed throughout the United States in quantities constantly increasing.

AFTER ONE SEASON of egg laying all the salmon die, fathers and mothers, and their lifeless bodies, broken up in the falls and against the rocks, float down stream. The first thing the little salmon eat, on the way from their fresh water cradle to the ocean, is the broken fragments of their fathers and mothers.

If heredity interests you, study the salmon. It lays a tiny pink egg, having in the center a black spot, one hundredth of an inch in diameter, and in that spot, the parents deposit intelligence that is to carry the little creature through life.

IT NEVER sees its father or mother, except in the shape of small edible pieces. It goes down stream out into the ocean, stays four or five years, then mysteriously finds its way back through thousands of miles of ocean, up rivers and streams to the spot where it was born. It lays its eggs, dies, and its young, untaught, start on the mysterious journey.

THAT IS THE result of millions of years of heredity. A few million years hence when the human race grows up, babies may be born knowing more about mathematics than Einstein, more about music than Beethoven, more about art than Michel Angelo.

Eat salmon, by the way, if only because at the present prices it is one of the cheapest of foods, canned fresh from the ocean, and also because it contains the most important vitamins.

Farmers should purchase the surplus oil of the salmon canneries, mix it with the food of young chickens, mares and foals.

Fathers and mothers should

BRITISH GOLF OPEN TAKEN BY ARMOUR

War-Torn U. S. Pro Beats Argentinian by 1 Stroke; Sarazen Tied for Third

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, June 5. — Tommy Armour, war-torn professional from Detroit, today won the British open golf championship with a 72-hole total of 296, marking the tenth time in the last 11 years that an American entrant has won the crown.

Trailing Jose Jurado, little Argentine staf, by five strokes at the start of the last round, Armour tied the course record with a subpar 71. Jurado carded a 77 for the final 18 holes, and finished second with 297.

SARAZEN TIES THIRD

Gene Sarazen tied Percy Alliss for third honors at 295, and MacDonald Smith and Johnny Farrell added to the United States laurels by finishing well up front with 299 each. Horton Smith totaled 303.

Armour now holds three of the four major championships for which professionals are eligible—the British Open, the Canadian Open and the United States Professional Golf Associational title.

He also is a former American Open champion. In 1927, at Oakmont, Pittsburgh, he tied Harry Cooper for the title and then beat him in the play-off.

LEADER OF PROS

Today, the Black Scot stands pre-eminent among the golf pros of the world. He occupies the same position among the professionals that Jones did among the amateurs.

Armour became a great golfer in spite of physical handicaps. During the World War while an officer in a Scottish regiment, Armour was shell shocked and lost the sight of one eye.

FREED BEAUTY QUITS FRANCE

VILLEFRANCHE, France, June 5.—(AP.)—Mrs. Charlotte Nixon-Nirdlinger, recently acquitted of a charge of slaying her husband, Fred Nixon-Nirdlinger, former American theater man, said goodbye to France this afternoon, boarding the steamship Roma for the United States. She was in strictest mourning.

Mrs. Nirdlinger was accompanied by her mother, her two children and a nurse. She said:

"I am coming back to France. Though I have suffered here, I can never forget the kindness, sympathy and understanding shown me by everybody. Now I am going back to Missouri with my mother in an attempt to rest and forget.

"I am not going o the stage or into the movies."

Prince of Wales Watches Golfers

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, June 5.—(INS.)—Keeping very much in the background "so as not to disturb any player," the Prince of Wales trailed along with the gallery during the final 36 holes of the British open golf championship today.

Wearing brown plus fours and a bright blue beret, the prince arrived as "Mr. Smith, of London."

Medics to Advertise Low, Monthly Rate

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—A New York medical guild, composed of 400 physicians who will furnish all phases of medical care for a flat sum of $1 a week has been formed. The group will advertise in newspapers.

Senator Fess' Son Fined In Night Club Carousal

NEW YORK, June 5.—(INS.)—A young man who identified himself as Thomas Lowell Fess, and said he was the son of Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, dry leader and Republican national chairman, pleaded guilty in police court here today to charges of intoxication, disorderly conduct and resisting an officer. He was fined $10 and paid it.

The youth was arrested early this morning after a stiff fight in an exclusive night club.

He showed the magistrate three photographs of a baby and said that he had been celebrating a new arrival in the family.

NEW YORK, June 5.—(INS.)—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller is working on plans for a long-distance flight, but she declined today to confirm reports she planned to fly the North Atlantic. Mrs. Keith-Miller recently came down in the Bahamas on the return flight of a Pittsburgh-Havana trip.

Irene Castle Enters Court as Farmerette

MORTON GROVE, Ill., June 5.—(AP.)—Irene Castle McLaughlin, former dancer, went to court yesterday as a farmerette. Attired in blue overalls and a blue shirt, open at the throat, she appeared as a complaining witness against William Schroeder, accusing him of cruelty to animals.

WEST POINT BAN LEADS BOY TO END LIFE

Son of Pittsburgh Attorney Shoots Himself Because Of His Failing Eyesight

Richard McKirdy, 19, son of Attorney James McKirdy, formerly of Pittsburgh, was dead by his own hand in Washington today, a coroner's report stated, because he feared he was losing his sight.

Young McKirdy, who received his high school education in Pittsburgh, was in his second year at George Washington University. Recently his eyes began to bother him. He feared the weak vision might defeat his one ambition—to enroll at the military academy at West Point.

His mother found him in his bed—a bullet wound in the temple. He had threatened, the police were told, that he would end his life if ever he became a burden through loss of sight.

He was a nephew of John E. McKirdy, of the Union Trust Company, chief clerk of the State Senate and former newspaperman.

His father, Attorney McKirdy, was born and reared in Pittsburgh. He left here five years ago to become a member of the Solicitor General's legal staff in Washington. In Pittsburgh he was a special attorney for Standard Steel Car Company and many years ago was a member of the Legislative Reference Bureau at Harrisburg.

Divorce Won By Wife of Stillman

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 5.—(AP.)—A final decree of divorce in the marital difficulties of Mrs. Anna Urquhart Stillman and James A. Stillman has been granted Mrs. Stillman by Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser.

Although the decree was entered yesterday, it was not discovered until today.

The action follows an interlocutory decree granted last February.

The decree records that Stillman, former president of the National City Bank of New York, declared he was the father of four children by Mrs. Stillman, and included Guy, now 12, whose legitimacy Stillman questioned in a countersuit in 1921 after his wife had begun action for a divorce.

Adams Praises Man Giving Navy 6 Sons

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—Secretary Adams considers the record of Samuel F. Williamson, of North Tiverton, R. I., "most unusual" and "an evidence of practical patriotism of the highest order." He said so in a letter to Williamson, who has six sons in the Navy.

Queen Marie Given Audience by Pope

VATICAN CITY, June 5.—(AP.)—Pope Pius XI yesterday received Queen Marie, of Rumania, and Princess Ileana at a private audience, which lasted an hour. They were presented by the Rumanian minister to the Holy See.

Wilkins Starts Submarine Trip To North Pole

BOSTON, June 5.—(INS.)—The submarine Nautilus, on the first leg of her great adventure to go under the ice cap at the North Pole, was running at reduced speed along the forty-second parallel today on her approximately 3,500-mile voyage across the Atlantic from Provincetown to London.

A radiogram for the Coast Guard cutter Pontchartrain, which is convoying the Nautilus, to division Coast Guard headquarters, said the weather was good. At Coast Guard headquarters it was estimated that the position of the Nautilus was 50 miles east of Cape Cod Light.

At 9 a. m., the submarine had covered approximately 70 miles since pushing off from Provincetown at 11:20 o'clock last night. At this rate it was estimated that the submersible was plowing the waves at a speed of approximately eight knots per hour, having cut

FIREWORKS ACT SIGNED BY KLINE

Mayor Charles H. Kline today signed the fireworks ordinance legalizing the sale and use of the explosives for Fourth of July celebrations.

The Mayor's signature was affixed in spite of protests of virtually every civic organization in the city.

The new ordinance replaces one which permitted sale of fireworks, but prohibited their use within the city limits.

Kline issued a lengthy statement explaining and defending his approval of the ordinance. It read in part:

"The question of the prohibition of fireworks is not before me.

"I believe this bill is a step

MINE STRIKERS ORDERED OUT OF HOMES

Conciliators Seek Peace as Union Leaders Urge More Men to Join in Walkout

A 10-day notice to vacate Pittsburgh Coal Company houses at Montour Mine No. 10, Library, was served upon the miners who went on strike three days ago. This retaliatory move by the company and the importation of men from other mines unaffected by the strike indicated that the company did not plan to agree to the demands of the strikers.

GUARDS ON DUTY

A detail of state police and Allegheny County deputy sheriffs were on duty to guard against disorder.

While federal and state conciliators and officials of the United Mine Workers of America sought a settlement of the bituminous coal strike today, leaders of the National Miners' Union group were doing their utmost to spread the revolt of workers to all mines in the Western Pennsylvania field.

None of the conciliators has conferred with the National Miners' Union, its officers said. That such a conference is not welcome was indicated in a statement that the scale committee will deal directly with the operators.

12 DEMANDS CITED

Thousands of handbills calling upon the miners to "strike against starvation" and denouncing the American Federation of Labor, the state police, government and

Mauretania Captain Ordered 'On Leave'

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Capt. S. G. S. McNeil, master of the Cunard liner Mauretania, which held the Atlantic speed record for many years, is to "go on leave," construed in shipping circles as a retirement.

He arrived last night from Southampton and said he was puzzled by his orders. Capt. McNeil was honored by Sweden last year for rescuing the crew of the freighter Ovidia during an Atlantic storm.

Only 800 Marines Left in Nicaragua

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—Completion of the 1931 program of withdrawing United States marines from Nicaragua was announced today by Secretary Stimson.

A skeleton force of less than 800 men, Stimson said, will remain until after the 1932 elections there.

Pittsburgh Mail Flier Forced Down

GANG INCOME OF MILLION CHARGED

Chicago Racket Chieftain Expected to Surrender And Face Federal Trial

CHICAGO, June 5.—(AP.)—Alphonse Capone, the scar-faced leader of Chicago gangdom, was indicted by a federal grand jury today for violating the income tax law.

The indictment was returned before Federal Judge John P. Barnes and bond was set at $50,000. It was reported that Capone might surrender either late today or tomorrow to give bond.

The government's claim, based on an investigation which required two years, was that Capone owed $215,864 on a gross income of $1,038,654 for several years.

COYNE'S SON IN AUTO CRASH

Patrick Coyne, 22, son of State Senator James J. Coyne, was injured seriously this morning when an automobile skidded against a pole at Carson and South Twentieth streets. His companions were Regis Leheny, 21, member of the Boston Braves baseball team, a Pittsburgh youth, and Marty O'Toole, 23, a nephew of Senator Coyne. They are in the South Side Hospital.

O'Toole, who resides at 3502 Frazier street, was driving. Young Coyne suffered injuries to the back and body and Leheny suffered severe lacerations of the head and arms. O'Toole suffered injuries to the back, chest and head.

Senator Coyne was at his home at 236 McKee place, Oakland, when informed of the accident. He went directly to the hospital. Young Leheny lives at 102 Oakland court and is the son of Police Lieut. Peter Leheny.

Bruening, Curtius Arrive in London

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., June 5.—(INS.)—Carrying with them German hopes for a "new deal" in the matter of war debts and reparations, Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Dr. Julius Curtius, of Germany, arrived here today aboard the liner Hamburg for a series of conferences with Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald and British Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson.

1 Sandwich—$200; Chicago Fire Price

Rockefeller Gives Baptists $400,000

KANSAS CITY, June 5.—(AP.)—Announcement of a $400,000 gift by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was met with enthusiasm today as delegates to the Northern Baptist convention began consideration of their financial problems.

Flier Entangled by 'Chute' Rescued in Mid Air

RANTOUL, Ill., June 5.—(INS.)—For three-quarters of an hour today Pvt. Harold L. Osborne, of the Chanute Field Air Corps, rode on the aoil of an airplane, helplessly entangled in the lines of his parachute.

His pilot dared not land for fear of battering him to death.

Osborne's rescue was one of the most daring accomplishments at the Army base here.

Other planes taking part in parachute maneuvers bunched around Osborne's plane and followed his pilot until they arrived over Decatur Lake.

A rope was thrown to the dangling Osborne. He caught it and held on.

Slowly another plane came alongside. From the open seat near the pilot a man reached out with a knife in his hand. While fellow pilots looked on breathlessly, one by one the cords of Osborne's entangled parachute were slashed away by the aviator in the other plane.

Suddenly freed he toppled downward a few feet, but he hung on to the rope that was thrown him by the rescue plane. Then slowly, inch by inch, he was hauled up into its cockpit and was carried safely back to Chanute Field.

3 FLEE SHOTS OF POLICE, ONE CAPTURED

Sleuth Knocked Down as He Questions Men in Taxi; Linked in Holdup

Struck in the face with a revolver wielded by one of three robber suspects whom he stopped to question at Bates and Semple streets this morning, Precinct Detective John McGonigle, of 119 Olympia street, Mt. Washington, member of a police radio cruising crew, was injured seriously. The men then ran from their taxicab followed by Patrolmen John Whalen and John Kennedy, who captured two of them.

Mr. McGonigle

The three officers, in a radio equipped scout car, had been searching the district for an automobile stolen from John Subsaro, of 2029 Colwell street, as he sat in Schenley Park early today.

FIND STOLEN CAR

At Bates and Semple streets they came upon the stolen car and a short distance away saw three men entering a taxicab. McGonigle went to the taxicab to question the men, while the two other officers examined the stolen machine.

McGonigle was knocked unconscious with the revolver butt and the suspects ran. The other officers followed, firing several shots before they succeeded in capturing one man, who said he was Abraham Thompson, 22, of 4804 Lytle street. The cab driver, Robert Owens, of 1055 Blackadore avenue, took McGonigle to the Mercy Hospital where he was reported suffering lacerations and shock. He was unconscious for several hours.

DENIES THEFT

Thompson was held for further hearing when arraigned before Magistrate James J. O'Connor in Oakland Police Court today. He admitted being in the cab with the two men who escaped, but denied knowledge of the stolen automobile. Thompson said he and his companions had engaged the cab to take them to Homestead. His companions are being sought.

The three are suspected also of holding up the Sandwich Inn, at 2045 Center avenue, a few hours before, obtaining jewelry valued at more than $200 and $278 in cash. Charles Kanatin, proprietor, and John Canicznius, a waiter, were counting the receipts when the robbers entered. They were forced into a back room and robbed. Kanatin lost two rings and the waiter a wrist watch.

GRILL ACCUSER OF PANTAGES

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 5. — (INS.) — Testimony of John P. Mills, millionaire real estate man, the first witness for the state against Alexander Pantages, theater owner, charged with conspiracy to contribute to the delinquency of a minor, was under fire today in cross examination by defense counsel.

Defense lawyers for Pantages, Jesse H. Shreve, Olive Clark Day and William Jobelman, co-defendants, succeeded in having Mills admit that District Attorney Buron Fitts, of Los Angeles County, had a bearing on this case.

Mills told of the party out of which grew the exposure of the Hollywood "love mart."

At Los Angeles, trial of Miss Eunice Pringle's $1,000,000 damage suit against Pantages based upon an alleged attack on her when she was 17, was set for July 30.

Officer Asks Court Halt Wife's Beatings

CHICAGO, June 5.—(INS.)—Fred C. Larsen, policeman, today sought an injunction to restrain his wife, Mrs. Marie Larsen, from causing him "great mental anguish and embarrassment" by beating him up in police stations. He also filed suit for divorce.

wage-cutting companies were distributed throughout the district.

The pamphlet also contained the National Miners Union's 12 demands upon employers, including $5.55 day rate and 55 and 77 cents a ton for loading coal. The call reads:

"Miners! Strike and fight against this intolerable slavery and misery. . . . Robbery of the miners is inforced by an elaborate system of state police, company thugs and 'yellow dogs.' All the machinery of the government is used against the miners."

CALL PEACE MEETING

Meanwhile efforts towards conciliation were under way at the instigation of P. A. Ramsey, field representative of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry, in co-operation with Joseph Washington, state labor conciliator, and Miss M. Emmelinne Pitt, federal conciliator.

A "peace" meeting of strikers from the Cedar Grove, Atlasburg and McDonald mines of the Carnegie Coal Company was to be held under the auspices of the United Mine Workers of America at Primrose today. P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, and John Grucela, an international organizer, were to speak.

Widow's Grief Delays Schiff Burial Plans

NEW YORK, June 5.—(INS.)—Plans for the funeral of Mortimer L. Schiff, president of the Boy Scouts of America and noted banker and philanthropist, were to be made today. Mrs. Schiff, who is in Paris, was so overcome when she was informed by trans-Atlantic telephone yesterday of her husband's death, she was unable to discuss funeral services.

POWER PROBE TO LAST YEAR

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The "power trust" investigation of the Federal Trade Commission has disclosed so many ramifications in the giant utility holding companies it will be fully a year before the commission has completed its work, it was learned authoritatively today.

While it is possible that a preliminary report may be made to Congress next winter, because of demands in Congress for legislation, it is declared the end of the inquiry is not in sight.

At least three major utility groups remain to be investigated by the commission. These include the vast Insull interests in the Middle West, the Byllesby group and the Associated Gas and Electric system.

'OTHER WOMAN' TRIAL SPEEDED

JEFFERSON, O., June 5.—(AP.)—The state was prepared to play its ace today to obtain the death penalty for Mrs. Maude Lowther, 23, quarter-breed Indian, charged with slaying Mrs. Clara Smith, 28, who stood in the way of her romance with Tilby Smith.

Prosecutor Howard W. Nazor was expected to call his star witnesses, former Sheriff Frank S. Sheldon and former Deputy L. C. Kelsey, before whom Mrs. Lowther is alleged to have confessed a part in the murder.

Sheldon said Mrs. Lowther, arrested the night of the killing, May 29, 1930, admitted she had lain in wait until Smith drove his wife in a truck to a lonely road, then fired the fatal shot. Smith has been convicted and is awaiting electrocution.

Visit by Stimson Raises Europe War Debt Hopes

By GEORGE W. HINMAN, Jr.
Universal Service.

PARIS, June 5.—Hopes of involving the United States in new discussions of war debts and reparations on one hand and disarmament and security on the other soared high throughout Europe today as the old world read the tidings of Secretary of State Stimson's projected visit.

Not since President Wilson has an American statesman of such high position deliberately set out to tread the bewildering paths of Europe's international politics. Naturally, Europe is determined to reap the greatest possible benefit.

When, during negotiations of the Briand-Kellogg pact to outlaw war, France sought to lure the then secretary of state here for "personal discussions" into which such involved points as security and "aggressive war" were certain to be introduced, he declined to accept the bait. Now on his own initiative, Secretary Stimson enters where Secretary Kellogg feared to take one step.

When Stimson says he is giving especial attention to economics, he opens his ears wide to Europe's loudest wail—"our economic misery is the result of America's insistence on collecting war debts."

When he takes up disarmament, he will find himself again precipitating a discussion of France's demand for "security"—a demand which in London wrecked the hopes for a real five-p[illegible] naval treaty.

POPE REJECTS DUCE'S PEACE GESTURE

Mussolini's Offer to Allow Reopening of Women's Catholic Clubs Spurned

ROME, June 5.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini made a gesture of conciliation in the controversy between his government and the church today, offering to permit reopening of Catholic clubs for women and girls. The Vatican refused, however, replying in effect that all or none of the Catholic clubs recently dissolved must be restored to good standing.

The Premier's offer was regarded as the first tangible result of the unofficial negotiations in which diplomats on both sides have been seeking a solution of the present troubled situation.

STANDS BY CLUBS

The Pope's refusal was regarded as a reiteration of his expressed determination to stand by the Catholic clubs.

The Papal Nuncio and the Marchese Pacelli, who have been conducting informal negotiations with the Italian ambassador to the Holy See, conferred again with the Pope today but they issued no statement after their meeting.

Pope Pius today bestowed the Order of St. Gregory the Great upon Commendatore Camillo Corsanego, honorary president of the Italian Catholic Youth Association who recently was placed under technical arrest by the Fascist authorities.

FASCISTS SCORED

The newspaper Osservatore Romano, which is edited in the Vatican City, carried an editorial today condemning a statement issued on Wednesday by the Fascist directorate counseling all Fascists to defend the achievements of the regime against all attacks from whatever source.

The editorial described that pronouncement as "indicating a threatening way of thinking which remains unchanged."

RADIO LICENSE BAN APPEALED

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS.)—The District of Columbia Supreme Court today was asked to issue injunctions restraining the Federal Radio Commission from denying, under section 13 of the Federal Radio act, applications for ferquency licenses and renewals.

The injunctions were sought by the National Broadcasting Company, RCA Victor Company, Inc., RCA Communications, Inc., and the Radio-Marine Corporation of American, subsidiaries of the Radio Corporation of America.

The four petitions brought before the court the question whether these subsidiaries shall suffer the loss of their wavelength channels on account of a decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which held that a clause formerly employed in patent licenses of the RCA to independent manufacturers of receiving sets, violated a section of the Clayton anti-trust act.

ORDINANCE PROVISIONS

The ordinance, Kline explained, forbids sale of fireworks except by licensed dealers, who will pay a $50 fee.

It also prohibits storage of fireworks in certain buildings and locations, a feature, Kline said, which the former ordinance did not contain.

Under the new bill no fireworks of any description are to be sold to children under 12 and the following restrictions are placed on those sold to adults.

No toy torpedoes containing more than five grains of explosive mixture.

No firecrackers exceeding four inches long and ¾ inch in diameter and containing more than two grains explosive mixture.

ROCKETS LIMITED

No skyrockets larger than those commercially designated as one-pound.

No balloons carrying a lighted substance.

No blank cartridge cannon, canes, pistols or other devices in which such a cartridge may be fired.

No cannons using gunpowder.

No large bombs nor shells nor fireworks of large type.

Leaders in the opposition waged against the ordinance since its appearance in Council were the Congress of Women's Clubs, the League of Women Voters, the Irene Kaufmann Settlement, superintendents of the Public and Parochial Schools, Public Safety Organizations and the Council of Jewish Women.

Key Fails as Clue To Identity of Drowned Man

What was believed to be an important clue to the identification of the man who leaped to his death from the Smithfield Bridge last week turned out to be just another key today when attaches in the Coroner's office learned of the existence of thousands of such keys in Pittsburgh. The key, bearing a number, 1570, was sent out by an eastern merchandising firm as an advertisement for a traveling bag. Attempts to trace the key brought to light a dozen or more of them in the Courthouse alone.

JUNE TAYLOR'S EVIDENCE FAILS

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—(AP.)—June Taylor, sought since May 20 for questioning about the slaying of Charles Crawford, political boss, and Herbert Spencer, magazine editor, today awaited further examination by prosecuting officials after having appeared voluntarily yesterday.

Prosecutors said the woman told them she knew little about the slayings, for which David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney, is held on murder charges.

Special Prosecutor Ford said she denied knowing about a picture purported to have been taken of Clark with women at a gay party. Investigators were quoted as saying Crawford might have come into possession of the purported picture and have threatened to "expose" Clark.

LINCOLN 'DUAL PERSONALITY,' BRILL SAYS

President Termed 'Schizoid Manic' in Analysis at Psychiatric Convention

TORONTO, June 5.—(AP.)—Abraham Lincoln was analyzed as a "schizoid manic personality"—a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde who had his baser nature under rigid control—at the American Psychiatric Association meeting today.

The analysis was read by Dr. A. A. Brill, a psychonalyst, of New York City.

When an abstract of Dr. Brill's speech appeared in the program of the association last month, it brought a bitter protest from Dr. Edward E. Hicks, prominent Brooklyn psychiatrist, who described the allusions to Lincoln as "insulting."

Schizoid is a word of Greek derivation meaning to split, and the expression applied to Lincoln does not mean insanity. Dr. Brill found the trace of dual personality in a reputed tendency to tell off-color anecdotes, which bubbled up as part of Lincoln's humor.

Dr. Brill ranked Lincoln as a wit with Mark Twain, but said:

"What is very peculiar about Lincoln's stories and jokes, his own and those he appropriated from others, is the fact that many, if not most, are of an aggressive or algolagnic nature, treating of pain, suffering and death, and that a great many of them were so frankly sexual as to be classed as obscene.

Lincoln had to cope with enormous trials and vicissitudes, poor heredity from his father's side, humble birth, abject poverty, struggle for education, and an unsatisfied love life. But despite these handicaps, he attained the highest ambition of any American. Nevertheless, throughout his life he was unable to disburden himself of his depressive moods."

REDS DENOUNCE OHIO POLICE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 5.—(AP.)—Three thousand Communists and sympathizers stood in the rain last night to cheer denunciations of police they battled on Memorial Day. Eighty-five unneeded bluecoats gathered in sheltered spots to watch and listen.

William Z. Foster, secretary of the Trades Union Unity League, declared that police, in breaking up a Memorial Day parade which was unauthorized, displayed "brutality beyond that ever shown in darkest Russia." A number of police and demonstrators were injured in the Memorial Day riot and 70 persons were arrested.

Foster, described as the man who led the steel strike here in 1919, was introduced as "the man who will lead the next mass strike in Youngstown." He asserted that the government is doing nothing for 10,000,000 unemployed.

Little Hope Seen In Silver Parley

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—Little hope for any accomplishment by an unofficial international conference on silver is seen by Chairman Borah, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Smoot (Rep.), Utah, has suggested an international parley of business men in lieu of the failure of the world governments to agree to enter negotiations for aiding the depressed value of silver.

Coolidge Defends Social And Religious Systems

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 5.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

The pulpit and the commencement platform frequently assert that our governmental and economic system is on trial. The inference is that it has failed.

When told that christianity had failed, Beecher said that it had never been tried. She same reply is applicable to criticism of our system. It has not been tried.

Mr. Coolidge

We live under a system of individual freedom and self-government where each individual is entitled to the rewards of his own foresight and industry and is charged with his own support. The only way to change this system is to restrict the freedom of the individual, let someone else govern him, give the rewards of his industry to others and make him support others. That system is slavery.

For 2,000 years the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount have been preached. Because of ignorance and selfishness their teaching has not been fully accepted and adopted.

Our country has provided a system of government and economics. The same ignorance and selfishness have prevented its complete success. Our religious and social systems have not failed. They are sound. The failure lies in human imperfection. We need to grow in social and religious grace.

DO-X, SPANNING ATLANTIC, WELCOMED AT NATAL, BRAZIL

MAKES SPEEDY FLIGHT FROM ISLAND

Ocean Crossed in 13 Hours From South Africa; Rio to Be Next Port for Plane

By APROXELLAS CALVAO
International News Service.

NATAL, Brazil, June 5.—Successfully completing its crossing of the Atlantic from South Africa to the South American mainland, the giant German seaplane DO-X descended off aNtal at 2:15 p. m. today (Pittsburgh time), 90 minutes after taking off from the Island of Fernando de Noronha, 150 miles off the Brazilian coast.

The population of Natal, turning out en masse for a glimpse of the huge plane, extended a vociferous welcome to the 12-motored ship and its hardy voyagers as the hardy voyagers as the air liner swept in from the sea and circled over the city.

PERFECT LANDING

Dipping in recognition of the welcome, the DO-X headed out into the harbor and dropped its gigantic bulk down on the surface of the water in a smooth easy landing.

State and municipal officials extended a welcome to Commander Friedrich Christiansen and Admiral Gago Coutinho, of the Portuguese Navy, who made the flight from Portuguese New Guinea.

The DO-X was to remain at Natal for a short time beofre proceeding to Rio de Janeiro.

13-HOUR CROSSING

The air liner, carrying 13 persons, including the crew, winged her way across the ocean from Porto Praia, Cape Verde Islands, to Fernando Noronha Island in 13 hours and 18 minutes, making an average speed of 167 kilometers, or about 104 miles an hour.

Commander Christiansen indicated the flight had proved successful in every way and had demonstrated the worth of such craft for long distance flights.

The craft started its flight yesterday after months of delay and near catastrophes.

Weather Conditions.

Relatively low pressure stretches from New England, Southwestward to Arizona, thence Northwestward over the Pacific Coast states, while high pressure covers the southeastern states and northern Plains. As a result of the low and flat barometric conditions, showers and thunderstorms, with light to moderately heavy rainfalls were general over the Middle Atlantic Coast states, and Westward over the Ohio Valley states and the Central Plains to the Rocky Mountains. The weather is still unsettled over that section, therefore the showery weather will continue today and tonight over most of the area. Temperature changes were unimportant.

River Conditions.

The Allegheny River is falling, the Ohio and the Monongahela rivers are stationary or rising slightly. Generous rains fell over the Monongahela River, the heaviest, 1.45 inches at Fairmont. The Monongahela and Ohio rivers will rise slightly. Stage at Franklin is 2.0 feet; Lock No. 7, 11.4; Pittsburgh, 11.5; Dam No. 4, 9.5; Dam No. 6, 8.4; Dam No. 10, 8.8; and Dam No. 13, 8.4. ## Wilkins Lauds U. S. Action In Providing Escort at Start of Pole Trip

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS
Commander of the Wilkins-Ellsworth trans-Arctic submarine expedition, which will go from Spitzbergen under the Arctic ice to Alaska by way of the North Pole.
By Radio via American Radio News Corporation.

ABOARD SUBMARINE NAUTILUS, at Sea, June 5.—We are heading out to sea.

Through the courtesy of the Coast Guard Service, the ice patrol cutter Ponchartrain accompanied us to bid us bon voyage on our start from the shores of the United States last night.

The Nautilus, with her stern low in water, burdened with a heavy load of fuel oil, looks like a lion poised for a spring. Or it may be she is hunched to relieve the grinding pain produced by the crew, busy as bees hammering this, pinching that, within her vitals.

MUCH WORK EN ROUTE

In the labyrinth of engine room machinery, the chief engineer is busy with his assistants, girdling a cylinder that weeps slightly from a water jacket. It means a patch or a new cylinder; patching we hope will suffice.

The electricians' staff has watered the 60 tons of thirsty batteries. The radio man is kept busy receiving and answering many calls. The cook department works overtime. A mess boy is in charge while Rothschild, jealous of his reputation as a weight-producing chef, scours the town for delicacies to edge the appetites of hard-working men.

U. S. TRIBUTE WELCOMED

A welcome message came late yesterday from the Coast Guard ice patrol cutter Pontchartrain. It said that, with permission from the service, she would proceed with us for a few miles out to sea. It was a fitting gesture from a service of international origin. Ours is an international organization, proud as is the ice patrol to be sailing under the Stars and Stripes.

With Lincoln Ellsworth as co-organizer and adviser, and Capt. Danenhower, U. S. N. Reserves, as skipper, I am assured of splendid co-operation in the work we have on hand. We received from Ellsworth the following message today:

"Goodbye and godspeed. If for any reason unforeseen circumstances should arise whereby my own services might become necessary to expedition en route will join you immediately. Faith in your success I had in the beginning, and such is my way of showing it to the end, for I have no reason to change my mind."

NAUTILUS OFF ON POLAR TRIP

CONSERVING FUEL

It was presumed at Coast Guard headquarters that the Nautilus was conserving fuel to be ready for any blow that might come up. However, the submarine had enough fuel oil to carry her 5,000 miles. She was expected to arrive in London in nine days. There was enough food aboard to last 18 months.

It was an eerie scene which marked the start of this modern Jules Verne voyage. The Nautilus, a big submarine, looked tiny floating in the dark expanse of Provincetown Bay. All about her were brilliantly lighted vessels.

Navy men drew alongside a few minutes before the Nautilus sailed and three booming cheers echoed over the bay—tribute to Sir Hubert and his crew.

LIGHTS FLASH

Then the submarine's red and green sidelights flashed out against the sky. They moved slowly out through the bay—the Nautilus' great journey was begun.

In the iron whale as she moved out to sea, on what has been hailed as the grandest adventure of all time, were Sir Hubert Wilkins, Capt. Sloan Danenhower and 17 others, all except one of them former members of the United States Navy.

They were of the almost unanimous opinion that their Atlantic crossing is more to be dreaded than their actual plunge under the polar ice crust.

FACE PERILS

That the Nautilus may find real perils confronting her as she moved along the North Atlantic steamer lanes arises from her high superstructure. Seafaring men have warned that in any stiff wind the superstructure, acting like a mainsail, might make the vessel exceedingly difficult to handle.

Capt. Danenhower, the Nautilus' skipper, was in high spirits. He said:

"We are all glad that the many long weeks of waiting are over and that we are actually on our way across the ocean. Every member of the crew is elated and happy to take part in this wonderful adventure."

The decision to proceed immediately to sea was reached after a succession of splendid speed tests.

NAUTILUS IN SHAPE

The Nautilus demonstrated, according to Capt. Danenhower, that she was ready for the long journey. On the eve of sailing Sir Hubert said:

"I have learned from many years of experience that the Arctic waits for no man. If we are to keep our rendezvous with Dr. Eckener and the Graf Zeppelin at the North Pole it is necessary for us to make all possible speed. Hence we all say our farewells to America, hoping that when we return we will have brought with us a vast store of scientific data, that will be valuable to all the world."

LINDY AND WIFE SPEED PACIFIC FLIGHT PLANS

Ann Practices Alone in Air To Aid at Controls on Trip Over Stormy Ocean

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Sometime after June 22, the first birthday of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., his parents will leave him at Englewood, N. J., with his grandparents, Senator and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, and fly over the Pacific Ocean for a vacation.

Preparations for the flight are being rushed. At the North Beach Airport, Queens, mechanics are fitting the colonel's Lockheed plane with pontoons. Mrs. Lindbergh is getting more experience in the air.

While details are unsettled the Pacific flight probably will be made from the Alaskan coast over the Aleutian Islands, across the 600-mile stretch of ocean and over the tip of Kamatchka, along the Kurile Islands to Japan. Another possibility is a more northern route, which would only necessitate flying over a 56-mile stretch of water at Bering Strait.

Mrs. Lindbergh will be at the controls with her husband.

ISTRES, France, June 5.—(AP.)—Mlle. Lena Bernstein, French woman flier, was injured today when her airplane hit a pile of gravel in taking off on an attempt to break the world's straight line distance record. Her condition was described as not serious, but the plane was destroyed.

Moving down a cement runway with a heavy load of gasoline, the plane left the track at about 500 yards and plunged into the gravel pile in spite of the pilot's efforts to avoid it. It turned over and the motor was hurled 15 yards.

Thrown five yards, Mlle. Bernstein suffered a broken ankle, a cut lip and numerous contusions. She was to be taken to a hospital at Marseilles.

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Correspondent aboard the Graf Zeppelin for its polar flight and rendezvous with Sir Hubert Wilkins' submarine Nautilus at the North Pole.

BERLIN, June 5.—The North Pole tryst of the American submarine Nautilus and the German airship Graf Zeppelin stirred Europe's imagination today with news of Sir Hubert Wilkins' sailing from Provincetown, Mass.

Commodore Hugo Eckener, the Graf's commander, followed with the announcement that there will be 45 persons, including one woman, 10 scientists, the crew and two "polar tourists" aboard the craft in the aero-Arctic expedition.

Five countries are represented on the official list, which includes William B. Leeds, American millionaire traveler, and a friend, David Brooks, who are the "tourists."

CARNEGIE HEAD VOICES FAITH IN KANE

All Paintings Submitted To International Exhibits Genuine, Church Believes

The disclosure that John Kane, Pittsburgh painter of pictures and houses, has used photographs as the basis for some of his work will not affect the attitude of the Carnegie Institute toward him, Samuel Harden Church, president of the Institute, said today.

Mr. Church said he was confident that all pictures Kane has exhibited in Carnegie International Exhibitions have been genuine free hand work.

Disclosure that Kane has exhibited and sold painted photographs as original works was made after a contemporary of Kane's, Milan Petrovits, complained of the unfairness of that method toward competing artists.

FAITH IN KANE

Mr. Church said:

"While I know nothing of the facts in the case, I am quite sure that all of Mr. Kane's pictures which have been exhibited in the Carnegie Institute have been painted on canvas according to standard practice and not over photographs. We must remember that Mr. Kane discovered quite late in life that he could paint beautiful pictures. He may not have learned all the ethical rules of his profession.

"His pictures shown at Carnegie Institute have been admitted by the best artists of the world only after most careful scrutiny and if he continues to paint with the same simple but effective skill I feel sure that future committees will not hesitate to admit his work."

SYMPATHY VOICED

Sentiment among other Pittsburgh artists varied. Sympathy for the man who became an artist late in life was expressed on many sides. Kane said yesterday that only a few of his pictures were painted over photographs; none of the canvases, he declared, were products of the method.

Kane's pictures have been exhibited widely, crashing some of the most prominent galleries in the country. His pictures have been bought by artists and patrons of artists. He has been credited with naivete and sincerity and is a leading light in the so-called "primitive" school.

Everett Warner, Pittsburgh artist and a member of the Carnegie Tech faculty, said today:

"I am quite an admirer of Mr. Kane's best work. The discussion of these pictures doesn't alter my opinion of his finer work."

RESCUES CHILD, JUST 'ROUTINE'

A policeman directing traffic in East Ohio street saved the life of a small girl today—and passed it off as a routine matter not necessary to report it to his superior officers.

Mrs. Della Mellon, 409 East Ohio street, telephoned Inspector Charles Faulkner, of the North Side station, that the patrolman rushed between two cars, grabbed the girl, about 7 years old, and leaped with her to safety.

Faulkner said the officer was Traffic Patrolman Frank Duffy, usually assigned to day traffic duty at Sandusky and East General Robinson streets, but today assigned to East Ohi street and Moravian way to direct school children during the lunch hour.

CITY-PRUNED TREES

The tree pruning in front of 1028 and 1026 Murrayhill avenue to which Nathaniel Newingham, 1026, takes objections to City Planning Commission.

CITY PRUNING PROTESTED

Complaint that workmen of the City Shade Tree Division ruined a tree in front of his home by close pruning and expended two days in which a large part of the time was taken in trimming trees in the yard of a city employe, has been filed with the City Planning Commission by Nathaniel Newingham, 1026 Murrayhill avenue.

The Planning Commission gave Newingham a hearing last Tuesday and instructed U. N. Arthur, chief engineer, to investigate. Arthur's report has been completed, and Newingham says he will appeal for a further hearing before the commission.

Newingham said city employes pruned a Carolina poplar tree in front of his home of most of its limbs. According to Arthur's report, the city employes were called to prune the trees by Miss Anna C. Martin, of 1028 Murrayhill avenue, stenographer in the city legal department.

Newingham says city employes ignored a promise made by Arthur that the trees would not be pruned without consultation.

Laura Ingalls' Paris Plane Lacks Pontoons, Radio

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—(AP.)—Laura Ingalls, diminutive New York girl flier, soon will take delivery of a big monoplane in which she hopes to be the first woman to pilot a ship across the Atlantic, a projected flight she announced recently in the East.

Miss Ingalls arrived here this week to test out the ship, which will be similar to the craft Miss Ruth Nichols will use in an Atlantic flight this summer.

Within a week Miss Ingalls hopes to have the plane in New York for final tests, preparatory to a start soon afterward from Newfoundland for Paris. Commenting on her plans, she said:

"I don't want to do a lot of talking and no flying. My ship—I haven't named it, and don't care to have any trick names painted on it—will carry 660 gallons of gasoline. I will not carry a radio. The ship will not have pontoons for I haven't made any preparations to land until I get to Paris."

POLING STARTS DRIVE TO SAVE DRY LAWS

Leader of New Prohibition 'Army' Admits Situation Calls for Extreme Action

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 5. Coincident with the statement of Prohibition Commissioner Amos W. W. Woodcock that it was up to the states and cities to cope with speakeasies, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, chairman of the Allied Dry Forces, possible successor to the Anti-Saloon League, was today marshaling the youth, businessmen, feminine leaders and others of the nation for a gigantic drive to keep the Eighteenth Amendment in the Constitution.

Admitting that some of the dry leaders who 17 years ago followed the banner of the late J. Frank Handley, whose flying squadron crusaded through the nation to pave the way for prohibition, had been "asleep at the switch," Poling asserted the present situation calls for extreme action.

Through the Christian Herald, of which he is editor, and other methods of personal appeal, the chief of the new dry organization intends to raise possibly a million dollars or more to make certain that the Congress and the President in 1932 will be bone dry and pledged to maintenance of the Eighteenth Amendment and its enforcement laws.

The campaign of the "Allied Forces" is planned to last 10 months. However, the results undoubtedly will be conserved in a continuing organization that will make its force felt during the 1932 presidential campaign, according to Poling.

Poling said his organization was drawing on those who had not heretofore been prominent in prohibition work and that a new alignment was deemed advisable to renew the temperance campaign.

It was made clear that the organization is not, so far, committed to any presidential candidate or political party. This will be determined after the conventions next year. The 10 months drive will be educational in nature—the campaign after that will be political.

MAYOR GREETS LATEST FORD

Making his first public appearance since his illness in March, Mayor Charles H. Kline welcomed the twenty millionth Ford automobile to Pittsburgh yesterday. The welcoming party included County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh and President of Council John Herron.

A reception committee met the Ford, which is making a transcontinental tour, at the city line on the Ohio River boulevard, and escorted it to the City-County Building, where a crowd watched as the Mayor signed the car's log.

At the close of the tour, the twenty millionth Ford will be placed in the Ford Museum beside the first one to be manufactured.

CLARA BOW TAKES 'RAP' FOR FILM INDUSTRY

Defi to Coast Reporter Real Service to Every Star on Screen

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service
(Copyright, 1931, by Universal Service, Inc. Reproduction in part or in whole prohibited.)

CHAPTER XVI.

Likely enough Frederick Girnau was looking to the future.

Under the guise of pretending to clean up the morals of the motion picture industry, he is alleged to have threatened, on the occasion when he talked to Paramount executives, to expose Clara Bow.

It is not unlikely that Girnau believed Paramount would protect a valuable star and endeavor to keep her name out of the Coast Reporter.

Mr. Girnau, however, failed to reckon with the mail laws of the United States. United States Attorney Sam W. McNab and Chief Postal Inspector Clark Webster were speedily assigned to the Girnau case.

Girnau's onslaught against Miss Bow was branded as one of the most vicious attacks ever printed in a paper. There were four issues of the paper and four charges against him of distributing obscene matter through the United States mails.

After eight days in the county jail, the publisher of these attacks against Miss Bow was released on a $6,000 surety bond.

Service to Industry

Clara Bow did a great service to the whole motion picture industry when she took a stand against the methods of the Coast Reporter.

Clara Bow, alone, took the rap. Clara Bow, out of all the long list of motion picture stars and producers allegedly selected by the Coast Reporter, was the only one to make this fight against this publication.

One of the biggest producers in the film business was approached by a representative of a scandal sheet who, it is alleged, said that unless a certain other famous actress was kept off the screen a story about her would be made public. The actress who is perfectly innocent naturally could never hold her head up again if such a story had ever reached the public.

Other stories have come to light. One of the youngest male stars is said to have paid $20,000 to keep out of print an adventure in which he had had no part. And he was absolutely innocent of the stories aimed at his reputation. Rather than run the risk of losing his standing with his public, he paid.

Protects Star

Another victim is one of the leading motion picture producers of a large studio who, it is declared recently paid $1,700 to protect the good name of one of his stars. There was no truth in the attack directed at this star.

These are only a few of instances of this form of racketeering that have come to light.

It takes courage to be brave enough to refuse to pay tribute to blackmailers who think nothing more of ruining a woman's reputation than they do of eating their dinner.

Many schemers have tried to ruin the reputations of the stage and screen folk. I remember well in New York when Steven G. Clow, editor and publisher of a paper called "Broadway Brevities," was convicted of using the mails to defraud. Clow was named by many people who yielded to the demand of the paper's solicitors to pay for the paper's advertising.

What does the future hold for Clara Bow? In tomorrow's installment Miss Parsons relates her recent conversation with B. P. Schulberg of Paramount. His revelations and the deductions made by the writer of the REAL life story of Clara Bow are of timely interest as this thrilling serial reaches its climax.

BANKERS HAVE reduced their "margin requirements" which means that on $100 worth of stock exchange collateral you can now borrow $80, if the bank likes your collateral. This encourages borrowing and buying and Wall street was more cheerful yesterday.

Prices were up, bears stampeded, optimists were perhaps, too optimistic.

THE NEW YORK State Chamber of Commerce, excited about Russian wickedness, decides that the United States should "lead the other nations in an embargo on Russia."

The United States should do whatever its own interests dictate, but there is no reason why it should play the part of catspaw for other nations. Let THEM boycott Russia if they want to.

WE LENT Europe $10,000,000,000 and as a reward our Uncle Sam was nicknamed "Uncle Shylock." Why draw on ourselves some Russian nickname that probably would be worse?

Why not make a great exception and mind our own business?

And why not compete, instead of boycott. No prosperity in a boycott.

FRAU LONNY BARTH'S husband left her, five years ago, leaving also her idiot and crippled child. She lost her work, the institution caring for the child sent it back, because she could not pay. She walked with the child to the edge of a lake, sat thinking on a bench for a while, wondering how she could support the child.

Then she walked into the water, "and," she told the court, "I held his head under water until he died. What else was there to do?"

THE COURT having investigated her statements, and verified her desperate efforts to earn money to support the child, acquitted her, without comment. It did not answer, and no one has answered her question:

"What else was there to do?"

This is not a good world for a workless mother, with an idiot child.

Rare Roast Beef

"Some like a juicy steak, but I like the rib roast best,
'Tis juicier and tenderer and
meatier than the rest;
Put on this roast a dash of salt,
and then of water pour,
Into the sizzling dripping pan
a cupful and no more;
The oven being hot, the roast will cook in half an hour;
Then to the juices in the pan,
you add a little flour,
And so you get a gravy that is called the cap sheaf
Of that glorious summum bonum*
rare roast beef."

THE ART OF CARVING: First get a SHARP Knife, then follow directions below.

Standing Rib Roast—The roast is placed on the platter with the ribs protruding to the left of the carver. The carver steadies the roast by grasping the uppermost rib with the left hand, or he may hold it by thrusting the fork into the thick center of the roast. He then cuts very thin slices across the grain of the meat until the knife comes to the bones. When several slices have been carved, the knife is drawn along the edge of the bones to separate the slices from the rib.

Rolled Roast—The carver steadies the roast by inserting the fork just below the next slice that is to be taken. The cords that hold the roast in shape should be cut one at a time as they are reached in carving. This practice keeps the roast in shape and preserves the uniformity of the slices and it also keeps the juices from running out. The knife is drawn across the whole surface of the meat in a horizontal direction, cutting thin slices.

Beefsteak—Steak is easy to carve. The meat is separated first from the bone by cutting along the edge of the bone with the point of the knife. Then beginning with the wide or bone end of a porterhouse, or similar steak, and cutting across the steak, it is divided into sections an inch in width, or so, depending upon the number to be served. A piece of the tenderloin with a piece of the wide part is served to each one. The flank end is not so choice and should not be served unless necessary.

HEROIN TRADE FINDS FRIENDS IN PARLEY

Six Nations at Geneva Dope Meet Consider Narcotic Fit for Sale and Export

By WINIFRED BLACK

GENEVA, June 5.—Is heroin a harmless and necessary drug or is it one of the most dangerous narcotics in the world, not in the least useful in any way, shape or form in the legitimate practice of medicine?

For a day and a half the League of Nation's international narcotic conference has been discussing the question of heroin, and whether it should be thrown out of the world forever.

Portugal, Great Britain, Germany, Belgium, France and Switzerland all believe heroin is a perfectly legitimate thing to make, sell and export from one end of the earth to the other.

BRITISH STAND STRANGE

Britain takes a curious position which seems to imply that one grain of heroin is a deadly danger, but whole tons are as harmless as a cup of milk thoroughly sterilized and served in the finest china.

You can't buy a quarter of a grain of heroin in England without a doctor's prescription, but British factories make and sell it by tons, in excess of any illegitimate medical need.

Conservative estimates say there are in existence today 15 tons of heroin stock, even countries which insist that it is a harmless drug admit that one ton is enough to take care of any barely possible medicinal needs.

ITALIAN ADROIT

Senator Cavazzoni of Italy made a neat speech on the subject of heroin, in which he remarked it was plainly seen that the factories of each particular country were, of course, absolutely honest and absolutely without thought of money to be made by the secret illicit and terrible traffic. He admitted with reluctance that some countries appeared to be able to get along without heroin. He said he hoped that some day England would be able to follow this happy example, but for the present he was sorry he could not vote against heroin.

Then the question went to the technical committee for decision.

It is perhaps unimportant, but it is interesting to know that three expert advisers to the technical committee have just arrived from three great manufacturing countries which make a large income from heroin—Great Britain, France and Germany.

It is expecting a good deal to hope that they may vote entirely against the financial interests of their own countries. Even when heroin is more dangerous and cruel than morphine and cocaine.

BAPTIST SEES SCIENCE PERIL

KANSAS CITY, June 5.—(AP.)—The threat of science against the peace of the world is more dangerous than its threat against religious beliefs, the Rev. George F. Finnie, of Camden, N. J., told delegates to the Northern Baptist convention here. He said:

"Einstein may more safely be immortalized in stone on the facade of a Baptist church than some other scientists who had better remain unnamed. At least his theories will not be used to destroy men and women and children."

Referring to clashes between fundamentalists and evolutionists he said:

"When religion learns that there is no real conflict between it and pure science, it will be good for both science and religion; for, after all, science is a method of investigation and religion is a mode of living."

British Royal Pair Hear Rosa Ponselle

LONDON, June 5.—(AP.)—King George and Queen Mary paid a visit to Covent Garden last night to hear Rosa Ponselle, Metropolitan Opera diva, sing "Forza del Destino," Verdi's opera. Their majesties arrived after the opera had begun, and neither was recognized until after the first act.

You Must Have a Large Hat

It seems that every woman wants one big, shading "cartwheel" hat, this summer, no matter how loyal she may have been to close-fitting ones in the past. And no wonder, when Horne's have them in such intriguing straws and heavenly shades! . . . Of rough and semi-rough straws, and straws which look rough but are not. White and pastels, that can be worn with all light summer frocks, except those for active sports.

... Horne's, Millinery Salons, Fourth Floor ...

Exquisite Blousettes

Of Very Fine Batiste

$2.95

The most delicately feminine blousettes we've seen this season—of sheerest, silky batiste, beautifully trimmed with Val lace insertions and edgings, with dainty pin tucks and hemstitching.

They are all frilly types—with circular jabots and shirred ruffles, and most of the models have short sleeves. Of course, they are beautifully finished, and really quite remarkable at this price. The smartest complements to suits; in white or eggshell.

...Neckwear, Main Floor...

"Something Cool, But Dark"

Navy and White Jacket-Frocks—
A Special Saturday Feature

$15

—That's what knowing young women are asking for, who must stay in town during the summer or who are going to do considerable traveling by train. (We applaud the good taste of the latter, after seeing how inappropriately some people dress for traveling). And we provide that "something" in this group of navy-and-white georgette jacket-frocks, which are well-tailored so they'll look smart anywhere.

. . . Three models with snowy white, short-sleeve georgette blouses. And one model with a one-piece, short-sleeve frock instead of a blouse. (Two models sketched at left.)

... Horne's, Misses' Dress Section, Second Floor ...

Graduation Special

Four-Piece Blue Flannel Suits
With Two Trousers to Match or Contrast

$25

That son of yours will be dressed to befit the occasion when he steps up to receive his coveted bit of parchment—if he wears one of these Varsity Shop specials. Both pairs of the trousers may be blue, or one pair may be blue and the other white or gray—giving him, in the effect, two suits appropriate for any summer occasion. The value is most unusual—important from the parents' viewpoint!

... Horne's, Varsity Shop, Third Floor ...

Men's Panamas, $5

At the country clubs, along the Fourth Avenue financial district, almost everywhere that hats are taken seriously, they're wearing panamas almost to a man! Here are panamas that we believe are the finest in town for the price. They are imported bodies, closely woven and beautifully blocked. Optimo, flat crown, and pinched shapes.

... The Men's Store, Main Floor ...

Again . . .

White Coats

$13.75

More of those swagger, white coats that created such a furore in the Misses' Shop last week. The kind which the young crowd has gone crazy about and will wear everywhere this summer . . . a double-breasted model of creamy white wool frieze, with Joan Crawford type collar, raglan shoulders, and lining of white silk crepe . . . Sizes 12 to 20.

... Horne's, Misses' Coat Section, Second Floor ...

Cotton Mesh Sports Frocks

$5.95 $8.75

"Meshanet" and "Leno-Mesh" frocks are featured in The Sportswear Shop because they're chic, the most comfortable thing in the world, and are washable. One and two-piece, short-sleeve models in white and pastels. Sizes 14 to 20.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

People I've Met

NEW YORK, June 5.

NANCY CARROLL. A movie star de luxe. I have written about Nancy many times. She has always been interesting to me. In this very column some 15 months ago I did a short review of Nancy's career. I said that, come what may, she was one film player who would never go the divorce route. As usual when I say such things, the lady is now suing for divorce.

Such situations always amuse me. About four years ago I pounced upon what I thought was a swell idea. I saw Fannie Brice and Nicy Arnstein, her husband at that time, sitting in the Rialto Theater during a big motion picture premiere. I began to think of their lives together. At the same time, Fannie's greatest song kept running through my mind—"For whatever my man is, I am his forevermore."

I rushed back to my office that very night and went to work immediately. I took Fannie back to her early days when as Fannie Borach she stepped on a burlesque stage during an amateur night. I traced the history of Nicky Arnstein, master crook, whom she finally married.

I told of their two children and of Fannie's great devotion. I pictured Fannie when they sentenced Nicky to Leavenworth prison. I showed how she had waited patiently through the years. And I wound up with the two of them in the Rialto holding hands. Lines from the "My Man" song ran right through the story.

The yarn was published on a Sunday. It was such a tear-jerker that I almost cried a little myself.

On that cheerful morning, Fannie sued Nicky for divorce! . . .

But let me return to Nancy Carroll.

Back in 1924, working on the same paper with me at the time, was Jack Kirkland, an expert newspaperman. Jack was madly in love with a chorus girl in the Al Jolson show at the Winter Garden. He told me her name was Carroll.

Jack introduced me to her one night in the old Hotsy-Totsy Club. I began to understand why Kirkland was so hopelessly in love. This Carroll girl had red hair and huge blue eyes. She was very young and very beautiful.

Although they had decided that two could live more cheaply than one it wasn't until some months later that they were married. Their religions differed and there were parental objections. But they laughed the trouble away. June, 1924, saw the knot tied.

Love? Well, I've seen plenty of maniacs holding aces in the game of hearts; but those two kids must have been dealt extra cards. They were absolutely daffy.

At out eight months after their marriage, Jack and I were sitting in the Charm Club, one of those Broadway spots that has long since become a shoe store or an automobile salesroom. Nancy had insisted on continuing in the chorus. She was in Atlantic City. And Kirkland was so blue that he was pitiful.

It was one of the coldest nights of that winter. I kept talking volubly in a somewhat vain effort to cheer Jack up.

Suddenly he leaped to his feet. "I can't stand it without her," he cried. "I'm going downstairs and drive out to Atlantic City. I won't be in the office tomorrow. Will you stall them with some kind of a story about me taking sick?"

I gulped. He had a battered old machine in front of the door. It was completely open. And at 3 in the morning he intended to race four hours along the open road to Atlantic City.

"You're crazy," I assured him. "You haven't even got a heavy overcoat. You'll kill yourself. You can't go."

He couldn't, eh? Five minutes later, with a pint of gin in his pocket and his thin coat wrapped around him, he drove off. As the ancient auto cracked away, there was a happy smile on his face.

"That guy is absolutely insane," I told myself.

But I think I envied him just a little. . . .

Jack and Nancy both wanted to go to Paris. The Fox Film Company was in need of an advance man for a European tour that Tom Mix was about to make. Jack was hired. So Mr. and Mrs. Kirkland sailed abroad.

When they returned some months later, they settled down in a cute little apartment in the west nineties.

Soon Jack established a new contact. He signed with First National as a writer and agreed to go to the coast. Jack told me he could see a grand future out there.

If you follow the movie publications you know what happened. After some hectic competition, Nancy was chosen to play the leading role in "Abie's Irish Rose." After living in Hollywood for some time, it seems, Nancy felt a return to the stage might not do any harm. She played the leading role in a musical out there—and the picture contract was the result.

It wasn't until some time later that I saw Nancy again. She had returned to New York to make a personal appearance. I spoke to her. And I saw at once that she had changed. How she had changed I cannot put into words. It was something you sensed.

The name of Nancy Carroll grew larger and larger in the picture firmament. She came East about a year ago to make Paramount pictures at the Long Island studio. Jack was with her. I sat with them many times in restaurants. I watched Nancy and Jack on many occasions.

And as I watched I often wondered what had happened to the boy in the thin overcoat who drove to Atlantic City on that freezing morning because of love. I didn't think there would be a divorce because of Nancy's ideas along those lines. But there it is. She now has fame and fortune and power, while Kirkland is doing well as a writer. They are celebrities—but that great love is gone.

And I sometimes wonder if, in the long run, the scales balance?

Rosenbaum's BIG 26 JUNE SALES

EVENT No. 6 June Sales

Starts Saturday at Rosenbaum's

There was great excitement and enthusiasm in our receiving room when the suits for this sale arrived and were opened up. It seemed as if every man in the entire store had heard what "knock-out" values they were and had hurried to see them. No purchase of suits in years aroused so much interest in our own organization.

Brand New! Men's Suits

Regularly Priced $35 to $45
With One and Two Trousers

$26

Two months ago our Men's Clothing chief began scouting around in the lowest woolen market in years buying carefully picked fabrics from leading mills at lower than market prices. When he got as many as our suit manufacturer could handle, he had him make them up to our specifications. The suits are now here - - and what fine suits they are! Fabrics and tailoring good enough for any man to wear and be proud of. Most of the suits have 22-points of hand-tailoring. All have celanese coat and sleeve linings, and vest backs. Suits for dress, business and sports wear. Fine flannels, 14-oz. worsteads, basket weaves, tweeds and twists.

All wanted models and colors. Sizes 35 to 50.
Regulars, stouts, shorts, longs and short stouts

TWO MEN KILLED IN MINE BLAST

WELCH, W. Va., June 5.—(AP.)—Two men were killed in an explosion of gas at the No. 2 mine of the Warrior Coal Company at Warrior near here last night.

The dead were Lucian Woosley and Aiva Couch, both machine runners. Several other men were in the mine, officials reported, but were not hurt.

W. H. Prentice, of War, and Frank Kerr, of Welch, inspectors for the State Department of Mines, were at the mine at the time and recovered the bodies.

Carol's Party Wins Assembly Election

BUCHAREST, June 5.—(AP.)—Official election returns indicated that King Carol's Government Party, with its allied parties, had obtained 299 of the 387 seats in the National Assembly.

Of these nearly 100 seats went to the Liberals and the German Party, allies of the Government Party, and it was expected they probably would be inclined to oppose the government more often than not.

Chileans Dig Coal Under Ocean Bed

CONCEPCION, Chile, June 5.—(AP.)—Coal is obtained from under the Pacific Ocean. Shafts start from the shore and in places are 1,500 meters below the water. Calculations are that deposits extend 31 miles from shore.

Portrait Painter's Brush Unkind to Art Patrons

A painting of one of the city's outstanding art sponsors, Arthur Brown, Jr., shows Brown's hat at too jaunty an angle to please Mrs. Brown. Another painting of an art patron shows the patron's legs slightly bowed.

Associates of Rivera argue it was a matter of perspective and that there are elements of illusion in the paintings due to looking at them from the floor below.

Russia Bars Pastor, Accuser of Walker

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—The Rev. Dr. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Community Church, yesterday announced he had been barred from Russia, where he had planned to visit the latter part of this month.

Dr. Holmes is chairman of the City Affairs Committee, which preferred charges against Mayor Walker before Gov. Roosevelt. Walker, in his reply to the charges, referred to Dr. Holmes as "a recognized Soviet sympathizer."

DR. KURTZ GETS DEGREE

The Rev. Parke B. Kurtz, pastor of the Callender Memorial Church Wilkinsburg, received a degree of doctor of divinity from the Bob Jones College, College Point, Fla., this week, it was announced today.

Dr. Kurtz

Dr. Kurtz was ordained as a United Brethren minister 10 years ago after his graduation from Temple University, Philadelphia. He came to the Callender church in October, 1929.

Nine Held in Fake Bus Injury Plot

CHICAGO, June 5.—(INS.)—A conspiracy to ruin a bus company through faked accidents was brought to light today with the arrest of nine persons. Eleven more are sought in indictments which followed a wreck near Pontiac, Ill., April 28, in which several persons filed claims of $30,000. The driver of the bus said they were engaged by members of the "purple" gang of Detroit to stage the accident.

I. O. O. F. HEADS INSTALLED

HARRISBURG, June 5.—(AP.)—The Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania Odd Fellows ended their annual convention with the installation of officers and the selection of York for the meeting place next year.

The Rev. Simon Sipple, Allentown, was installed as grand master. Others inducted into office were: Archibald A. Grant, Pittsburgh, deputy grand master; Norval Daugherty, Pittsburgh, grand warden; Usher A. Hall, Philadelphia, grand secretary; Fred C. Hanyen, Scranton, grand treasurer, and James H. Avery, Philadelphia, and John N. Mark, Oil City, grand representatives.

The James A. Garfield Lodge 1069, of Shamokin, was adjudged the winner of the drill team competition held Tuesday night.

Light Tender Dead After 120 Rescues

CUXHAVEN, Germany, June 5.—(AP.)—Klaus Ringhoff, who served 40 years on the Elbe River lightship, is dead at 86. During his career he helped rescue a total of 120 persons from boats in distress in the North Sea.

Polish National Bishop Criticized

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 5.—(AP.)—Delegates to the universal synod of the Polish National Catholic church held a session yesterday in which Bishop Wladyslaw Faron, of Poland, was sharply criticized.

The Rev. John Madziasz and the Rev. Stanislaus M. Zawadski, delegates from Poland, charged the Bishop's administration had aroused antagonism among his own clergy.

Carrick, Knoxville Schools On Picnic

Carrick, Knoxville and Brentwood schools will hold their outing at Kennywood Park today. Special street cars will take the picnickers to and from the park and the program will include swimming, amusements and refreshments. Committees include Miss L. R. Stewart, Miss M. J. Sharpe, W. H. Sprenkle, C. B. Critchfield, Milo H. Miller and C. H. Bracken. The East Pittsburgh schools will hold outings at Kennywood tomorrow.

Man Asks $20,000 For Crash Injury

Judge Prince, of Pittsburgh, filed a suit for $20,000 damage in Federal Court against the Railway Express Agency, a trucking concern of Pittsburgh. In his bill of complaint Prince avers that he was riding in a street car on Liberty avenue June 6, 1930, when a truck of the defendant company crashed into the rear of the car. He said he was injured in the crash and charged carelessness and negligence on the part of the driver of the defendant company's truck.

Foster to Address Beechview Club

Judge D. Paulson Foster was to address the Beechview Civic Club at a meeting today. His subject was to be "The Jury System."

Speaking at a dinner last night held by the Braddock Boy Scouts, Judge Foster declared that in 15 years he had heard of only one Boy Scout ever appearing before the Juvenile Court in Allegheny County. He also addressed the Pittsburgh Lions Club at the Fort Pitt Hotel yesterday on "Juvenile Court Procedure."

Chuck Roasts

You can't improve on "chuck" for flavor. Especially good sliced cold with catsup or horse radish. A 5-lb. roast for 75c.

lb. 15c

Rib Roasts

In considering the price remember that these roasts are boned and rolled... practically no waste. If you favor juicy meat buy this cut.

lb. 35c

Baked Ham . . lb. 59c

We bake it in our kitchen after an old Virginia recipe. Sliced, and whole or half at this price.

Young Broilers . ea. 67c

These little fellows lead a short but merry life with special feeding 'n' everything. A good dinner for two.

Favorite Coffee, 3 lbs. 59c

Fresh roasting is one reason why Favorite Coffee is so delicious. Sold almost immediately after it leaves the roasters.

Orange Pekoe Tea ½-lb. box 40c

We recommend O.P. for icing. If you have trouble sweetening iced tea, try putting the sugar in when you make it.

Heinz Ketchup, 4 bottles 75c

Almost indispensable during the summer season when cold meats play such an important part in the menu. Large bottles.

Assorted Fruits, 5 cans 95c

Peaches, pineapple, pears, plums, cherries . . . your own selection. Large number 2½ cans.

Reymer's Mint Patties lb. box 29c

Big round fellows thickly coated with chocolate. A price anyone can afford to pay for sweets. And who doesn't like them?

Green Beans, 3 lbs. 29c

Apricots, 4 qt. carrier 49c

Just arrived from California. They look as if they were sun-ripened and they taste that way, too.

You'll want them for salads and sandwiches, but here's another idea . . . fry them for luncheon or dinner. After they're well-browned, add milk for a cream gravy. Delicious!

McCann's Butter, 2 lbs. 59c

Why be satisfied with anything less than the best, when the best can be had for so little?

Fresh Eggs . 2 doz. 55c

Hard boil them, then chop up and serve with spinach, or in vegetable salads. Mixed browns and whites.

Sharp Cheese . . lb. 39c

Aged a year to ripen its flavor to the degree of sharpness lovers of good sharp cheese like.

Potato Salad . . pt. 19c

Think of the work you save when you buy a pint of potato salad ready to serve. Enough for four.

Sardines (Boneless) 4 cans 89c

These sardines are boneless and mellowed in pure olive oil and brought to you from Portugal.

Smoked Tongues, each $1

Cold tongue sounds expensive, but it really isn't if you boil the tongue yourself. These are closely trimmed.

Raspberry Cream Pie, ea. 50c

Fat, juicy red raspberries are tucked away in its creamy filling. Sold in pie tins for safe carrying . . . serves seven generously.

Prize Beauty Tells How Auto Accident Reacted Upon Mate

(Copyright 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THERE HAVE been many strange tales of men whose character suddenly changed following a severe accident or shock. Today such a story is told by Mrs. Charlotte Nixon-Nirdlinger, who, after a sensationally brief trial in Nice, France, has recently acquitted of the murder of her husband, wealthy theater manager.

In previous chapters Charlotte related her meteoric rise from obscurity to the pinnacle of a beauty queen, how she met the Philadelphia millionaire and after a whirlwind courtship married him. There followed jealous quarrels which reached their climax when Mr. Nixon-Nirdlinger disappeared with his two children.

Charlotte here reveals how a severe injury received in an automobile accident affected her husband's mind and, by a series of threats, the climax of which was death in his palatial villa on the Riviera.

NICE

Some of Fred's friends have insisted it was the accident that changed his nature. Although this is not entirely true, I intend to show that it did aggravate his jealousies and suspicions to a point beyond all reason. If it be asked why I did not leave him, let me say here that I had the children to think of and I felt, too, that it would not be safe to be out of my husband's reach. I felt safer when I knew what he was doing.

I tried to pamper him, to keep his mind off his suspicions, but then he would become more suspicious than ever. He would think my solicitude was intended to cover up some imagined secrets.

It was in the summer of 1930 that my husband and I were in a terrible automobile accident near Atlantic City, when our car struck an automobile. Fred's scalp was almost torn off from ear to ear, with two arteries severed, causing an awful loss of blood that almost proved fatal. He had 14 stitches taken in his head and was in the hospital for several weeks.

I only suffered shock and so was able to visit Fred every day in the hospital. As the nurses well know, I sat at his bedside for hours. I know he suffered a lot. As soon as he partially recovered he had his picture taken showing all the stitches. These photos he sent to all his friends.

Fred Different

Then, when he was able to walk, I noticed that a most decided change had come over him. Whereas before he would politely and sarcastically accuse me of having trysts with other men, now he would break out into violent, loud accusations and make threats. Until the accident Fred did not make threats.

Upon his return home he was more violent than ever. I cannot discuss the scenes he made in my home. My arms and shoulders were covered with bruises which he inflicted.

In addition he was acting strangely in other ways. Always reveling in law suits he staged three at once. Here is other evidence of the change: One friend who had enjoyed letters from Fred before the accident, stated that it was impossible to read some of his recent letters. In one instance a handwriting expert had to be summoned in order that the scrawl be deciphered. This same man said that in some of Fred's later letters his statements concerning me clearly showed a distorted mind.

Beauty Locked In

One day I was in my boudoir when Fred came in. I looked at him, at the glaring eyes, and instantly knew something terrible might happen. He grabbed me and started to choke me. He threatened to kill me. I wrenched myself loose from his grip and ran into another room. He locked the door and left me there. I screamed for help but none came. Finally I attracted the attention of some painters nearby and induced them to help me out of the window and to the ground.

Then I discovered that Fred had left the house and had taken the two children with him. I was frantic, heartsick — to realize that my babies had gone. I didn't know where. I went that night to the President Hotel. I learned later that detectives hired by Fred had followed me, checked up on me.

The next day I hurried to the office of my attorney, Maj. Albert N. Shahadi. I told him how I had left home the preceding night and was afraid to return. I asked him to help me obtain my clothes from the house, explaining that all I had was what was on my back. I told him how my husband had accused me of having illicit relations with other men and how he worked himself into a perfect rage when I replied to him. I told him how Fred had leaped at me and struck me and, as Maj. Shahadi said in his affidavit, I showed him the marks upon my arm, made by my husband.

After listening to my story, Maj. Shahadi took me to the home of Judge Joseph A. Corio, to whom he explained the situation. He begged the judge not only for an order to get my clothing but also to send someone with us so that nothing would happen to me when I attempted to get my clothes.

Trunks Missing

We went to the house but Detective Black and others would not let us in. Maj. Shahadi informed him that if I did not get my clothes he would take legal measures and he threatened them with arrest if I was not allowed to have all my personal effects. Detective Black telephoned Judge Corio, who instructed him to obey the order and let us in.

I found some of my trunks had been taken away. Later Fred himself came down and demanded that Maj. Shahadi communicate with his lawyer and promised to send me my clothes within 24 hours. The next day Fred said he wanted a private conversation with me. But my attorney would not allow it unless he could be within hearing — for he feared for my safety.

Fred immediately began to demand that I forgive him, promising me that what had taken place would never happen again. I replied to him that I was afraid, especially since he seemed to lose only for an order to get my clothing but also to send someone with us so that nothing would happen to me when I attempted to get my clothes.

Warrant for Woman In Pitt Co-ed's Death

Information was made by county detectives today against Mrs. Lydia Maltese, Third avenue, Carnegie, following an investigation into the death of Mary Jaremia, 19-year-old University of Pittsburgh co-ed, of Plum avenue, Carnegie. The girl died Monday in the Elizabeth Steel Magee Hospital. Mrs. Maltese is alleged to have given illegal treatment.

Burglar Ransacks Squirrel Hill Home

A second-floor bedroom in the home of James B. Murdock, at 419 Glen Arden drive, Squirrel Hill, was ransacked by a burglar who escaped a short time before the arrival of the police radio cruisers.

A neighbor, seeing the burglar entering a third-floor window, summoned police, but before they arrived the robber had fled. The Murdock family is abroad and a maid was unable to tell police if anything had been stolen.

Confederate Vets Pay Dead Tribute

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 5. (AP)—Confederate veterans paused in their rounds of business and pleasure to pay tribute to the memory of those who have answered the "last muster." Meeting with the Confederate Southern Memorial Association and the United Sons of Confederate Veterans, the veterans held their annual memorial hour for departed comrades.

Labor Aide Heads Housing Corporation

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS.)—Theodore G. Risley, solicitor of the Labor Department, has been elected president of the U. S. Housing Corporation, succeeding Mrs. Lulah T. Andrews, resigned. Secretary of Labor Doak announced today.

Duties of the corporation were to provide quarters largely for the increased number of industrial workers brought in by the war. Its affairs are being liquidated as rapidly as possible, Doak said.

American Pair Reach Lisbon on World Hop

LISBON, Portugal, June 5.—(AP.)—Richard Halliburton, American author, and his pilot, Moy E. Stephens, on a projected round-the-world flight, arrived here yesterday. They recently crossed the Sahara Desert by airplane to Timbuctoo, Upper Senegal.

The Americans plan to go to Persia, Russia, Turkestan and India.

400 Traffic Signs Being Placed Here

More than 400 direction signs, indicating routes to nearby towns, are being placed at major intersections in Pittsburgh in addition to route number markers, according to City Traffic Engineer Lewis W. McIntyre.

The signs, showing the exact routes to towns in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, McIntyre says, are calculated to decrease the confusion of tourists going through Pittsburgh.

MAN, 2 WOMEN SEEK DIVORCE

Mrs. Margaret Packer Houck, owner of a Wilkinsburg beauty parlor, threw most anything that came to hand at her husband, Marion Ralph Houck, Rose avenue, Wilkinsburg, he told Judge Samuel H. Gardner in Common Pleas Court. He asked a divorce after 20 years of marriage on grounds of cruelty.

She was compelled to do all the work in conducting their Swissvale florist shop, while her husband neglected the business, according to the testimony of Mrs. Bessie B. Judge, 828 Braddock avenue, Braddock, granted a divorce from Alfred J. Judge, Clairton road, Mt. Oliver, by Judge W. Heber Dithrich in Common Pleas Court.

Mrs. Marie R. Kuhns, 1317 North Lang avenue, asked dissolution of a marriage of 24 years in her divorce suit against James J. Kuhns, of Detroit, on the grounds of desertion. They were married May 19, 1907, and she alleged he left her without justification July 25, 1922.

Prince Von Urach Weds Scottish Girl

LONDON, June 5.—(AP.)—A romance between a Scottish girl and a German prince was revealed today with the announcement of the marriage of Miss Rosemary Slackadder, of Cairnside, near Berwick-on-Tweed, and Prince Albrecht von Urach. The bridegroom is the son of the late Duke Wilhelm von Urach, Count of Wurtemburg, and his wife, the late Princess Amelia of Bavaria.

The ceremony took place June 1 before a registrar. The only guests were the bride's mother and a few relatives and friends.

Bank Bandits Plead Guilty, End Trial

We Know You, Al

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Can the king do wrong?

Spain claims that Alfonso, the recent, chiseled his large fortune. And he didn't get it by saving wrapping paper and string.

The Republicans insist that the royal family grabbed everything within reach and threw snowballs at the rest.

But the king can do no wrong. Provided he has the right lawyers.

Al is in London now. And doing fairly well, so he writ.

He claims he has not abdicated. But whatever he did, it is a fairly good substitute.

As an absolute monarch he was entitled to take anything he wanted. And to repeat at leisure.

So he rolled up a haystack of pesetas. It was perfectly legitimate. Al was putting something away for a rainy day and it wasn't an umbrella.

That's the wisdom of the turtle. You may force him outdoors but he always has a roof over his back.

The royal fortune is big. Most of it is in storm-proof cash. The rest is in family jewels, intact save for those few Isabella hung on Columbus. But why talk about that affair? A sailor has a sweetie in every port.

Spain has turned Alfonso's picture toward the wall. But the wall is thick. And Al is safe on the other side.

He did much better than the Czar, Louis the Sixteenth and a lot of other kings who hesitated too long around the home works instead of going to London and phoning it in.

We have heard Al speak in the talking news reels. He speaks perfect broken English, has a smile full of used teeth and seems as happy as a king!

Following our quaint old American custom, we must admire him for getting away with it. He beat the Republicans to the rap.

CITIZEN FRAUD BRINGS TERM

Leonardo Calabretta, 42, of Peekskill, N. Y., was ordered by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker to surrender his certificate of naturalization for cancellation and serve four months in jail, when he pleaded guilty of making false affidavits in procuring citizenship, granted February 11, 1927, in the Federal District Court.

Carmelo Calabretta, of Midland, Pa., a relative, pleaded guilty of making false affidavits concerning residence of Leonardo Calabretta, and was fined $200 and placed upon probation two years.

Leonardo Calabretta, when procuring citizenship, said he had resided continuously in the United States since 1911, and was unmarried, according to naturalization officials. Instead, they said, he returned to Italy in 1913 and remained there until 1923, and while there married Teresino Saffino.

Business Men Mail Out Questionnaires

Questionnaires have been sent to members of the North Side Chamber of Commerce by Secretary J. J. Kassouf, for the purpose of gathering facts for "Progress," a proposed publication that will show who's who in the chamber. The book will contain names, addresses, telephone numbers and standing of members of the chamber.

Charles S. Stearns Decorated in Paris

PARIS, June 5.—(AP.)—Charles Storrier Stearns, of Hartford, Conn., Pasadena, Cal., and Paris was decorated with the Order of Legion of Honor in a ceremony conducted in the Louvre by Director Henri Verne. The honor was in recognition of gifts of art works to French museums.

WAR PERIL SEEN BY HENDERSON

LONDON, June 5.—(INS)—Helpless non-combatants with the "firing line" on the very threshold of their homes will be the chief victims of the next war that sweeps the world, British Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson declared in delivering the Burge memorial lecture here. He said:

"The world must organize for peace the same as it organized for war if the awful calamity of another world tragedy is to be averted.

"In the next war, helpless people will be on the firing line to meet death from poison gas and become the victims of air attacks."

One Dead, 1 Hurt As Planes Collide

PENSACOLA, Fla., June 5.—(AP)—Doris Thomas Murphy, seaman, was fatally injured and Cliff Llewellyn Bostwick, aviation machinist's mate, was slightly hurt as an airplane piloted by Lieut. Richard S. Moss taxied into another plane on which the two men were working at the naval air station here.

Suicide Toll 345 In Phila. in 1930

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—(AP)—The Bureau of Vital Statistics reported that 345 persons committed suicide in Philadelphia in 1930. Of these 260 were men and 85 women. During the first five months of this year 72 men and 33 women took their own lives.

RETAIL TRADE HERE LARGE

Pittsburgh retailers did a business in excess of $454,000,000 during 1929, figures of the 1930 Distribution Census, released by the United States Department of Commerce, revealed. There were 8,624 retail stores included in the report, with a payroll during 1929 of $63,247,588.

Mayor 25 Years Loses to Democrat

ROMNEY, W. Va., June 5.—John C. Linthicum, for 25 years mayor here, was defeated for re-election by C. J. Powell, who carried five of the six wards and 33 of the 36 election districts.

CORONER HOLDS 4 IN CRASH

A coroner's jury today recommended grand jury hearing of four men, only one of whom has been arrested, on charges of manslaughter growing out of the killing of Martin Ambrose, Jr., 22, of 3429 Denny street, in an automobile accident, May 12.

Testimony indicated Ambrose, William F. Moore, 28, of the same address, and three other men were fleeing in a stolen car from a police radio cruiser when they collided with another automobile. Ambrose was killed. Moore arrested, the other three escaped. The jury recommended apprehension of the three, said to be Walter Pollock, Joseph Cygnacowicz and Joseph Westman.

Thiel to Announce Campaign Totals

Cash Prizes! New!

While the entire series of 40 cartoons in this new contest will be based on the names of the public thoroughfares of Pittsburgh, the contest will be attractive to all readers of the Sun-Telegraph, no matter where they live, because under each contest picture there will be a list of thoroughfare names and in this list the correct answers can be found.

CONTEST PICTURE NO. 18

Name of Thoroughfare.

WHAT STREET OR THOROUGHFARE DOES THIS PICTURE REPRESENT?

YOU WILL FIND THE CORRECT ANSWER IN THIS LIST:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Railroad St. | Buffalo St. | Obey Ave. | Liberty Ave. |
| Diamond St. | Overcliff Way | Mohawk St. | Alpine Way |
| Ensign Ave. | Fedora Court | River Hill St. | Boquet St. |
| Jewell St. | Overbrook Ave. | Victor Way | Manilla St. |
| Falcon Way | Industry St. | Shady Ave. | Kaufman Way |
| Milton St. | Ferry St. | Plough St. | Beacon Way |
| Washington St. | Valentine St. | Underhill St. | Market St. |
| Smithfield St. | St. Patrick St. | Yale St. | Denver St. |
| Oakland Ave. | Wheeler St. | Marathon St. | Block House Way |
| Grant St. | Tobogganon St. | Pine St. | Dewey Ave. |

| Highland Ave. | Tunnel St. | Overlook St. | Banksville St. |
| Newport Road | Bigelow Blvd. | Telescope St. | Beacon St. |
| | | Spruce St. | |

Do Not Submit the Answers Until the End of the Contest.

Note—Street Nomenclature as listed above is taken from the directory employed by the Pittsburgh Postoffice.

READ THESE SIMPLE RULES:

(1) Under the title, "Know Your Own City," the daily and Sunday Sun-Telegraph will publish a series of cartoons to run consecutively for 40 days, starting Sunday, May 17. All of these cartoons will represent a public thoroughfare in the territory commonly included in Pittsburgh, and prizes will be awarded to readers who submit the neatest and most nearly correct sets of pictures and answers.

(2) A total of $1,000 in cash prizes will be awarded, divided as indicated in another part of this announcement.

(3) This offer is open to all except employes of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and their families. You pay nothing. Files of the Sun-Telegraph are available at the Public Library or at the office of the Sun-Telegraph, and you may make tracings of the cartoons if you desire.

(4) Answers in the contest are not to be submitted until the entire set of 40 has been printed. After the last (No. 40) cartoon has appeared, entrants will be allowed 15 days to submit their sets of answers. They are to be addressed to the "Know Your Own City" Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

(5) All answers submitted become the property of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and none will be returned. The judges will be appointed by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and their decision will be final. In case of ties, a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

Note—Inadvertently Cartoon No. 19 was printed yesterday instead of No. 18. The change today will renew the continuity.

HOPE IN CHICAGO MONEY CRISIS

CHICAGO, June 5.—(AP)—Two rays of hope pierced Chicago's financial gloom today.

One was a tentative offer of two New York financial houses to lend the city $10,000,000 to tide the municipal treasury over until September 1.

The second was the passage of a House of Representatives bill by the State Senate in Springfield to empower cities and counties to purchase their own tax anticipation warrants from idle funds. It was estimated $58,000,000 would thus be made available for payrolls and expenses.

Representatives of Lehman Brothers and Pressbrich & Co., of New York, conferred with Mayor Anton J. Cermak and Comptroller Szymczak yesterday after local bankers declined to come to the city's rescue until after a house-cleaning of the ramified taxation system is made. The New Yorkers delayed consummation of the deal, however, pending consultation with spokesmen for Chicago banks.

WAR MOTHERS HONORED

Three Gold Star Mothers who will sail for France in the next two months were honored at a luncheon at McCreery's by 32 members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Eighteth Division Veterans' Association. They are: Mrs. Mary Keibler, of Holyoke street; Mrs. Laura Ketchum, Virginia avenue, and Mrs. Caroline Ivanek, 331 Kearsarge street.

They were given pocketbooks at the luncheon yesterday. When they leave for France each will receive a large gold star on a background of moss.

These mothers have been entertained in the past two weeks by the Millvale and Madison auxiliaries, by the War Mothers and the Sons of Veterans of the John A. Fairman auxiliary.

Mrs. W. A. Gordon was chairman of the luncheon yesterday, and Mrs. A. H. Kohnfelder, vice chairman.

U. S. COMMERCE FLEET SHRINKS

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—The vast fleet of 2,600 merchant ships built by American Liberty Loan dollars to help win the World War has shrunk to barely 300 as a result of the government's policy of putting the Merchant Marine into private hands.

At the end of the war, the Shipping Board established 38 lines in the foreign trade. All but 13 of them have been finally disposed of, while four, still in the board's possession, are to be delivered to purchasers soon.

The sale of the American Diamond Lines on Wednesday to the Black Diamond Steamship Corporation, of New York, is expected to be followed shortly by disposal of the American-France Line, consisting of 11 vessels plying between North Atlantic and French ports. The American Pioneer Line, comprising 17 motor ships operating in the North Atlantic-Far East trade, is slated for early disposal.

Boys' Federation Gives Teller Medal

The Boys' Club Federation of America, at its current international convention at Washington, D. C., presented Sidney A. Teller, director of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement and the Emma Farm Association, with a service medal for 30 years of volunteer and professional service with and for boys, according to word received here today.

Mr. Teller

Teller is completing 15 years of service here, during which he brought about the new model Emma Kaufmann Camp at Harmony, erected at a cost of $125,000, and the enlargement of the Irene Kaufmann Settlement with Henry Kaufmann's gift of $650,000.

Democratic Deficit Mounts to $707,054.08

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS.)—The deficit of the Democratic national committee is on the increase, according to a quarterly report of James W. Gerard, of New York, treasurer, on file with the clerk of the House today. It is now $707,054.08, not including some claims. John J. Raskob, of New York, chairman, continues to furnish the sinews of the political warfare being carried on by the Democrats. He made four loans of $10,000 each during the three-month period.

Brilliance of Boy Laid to Blindness

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—An ordinary boy till he lost his sight, as his mother expresses it, Olaf Leonard Larson, blind, has been graduated from Columbia University as a member of Phi Beta Kapp. Blindness stirred him to brilliance of mind, Mrs. Larson said.

Educators Protest Ousting of Teacher

NEW YORK, June 5.—(INS.)—Protest against the dismissal of Herbert A. Miller, professor of sociology at the University of Ohio because of "his teachings on the relations on the races" was made in a letter sent yesterday to the president and trustees of the university by 29 prominent educators.

CHORUS ON AIR

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

The East Liverpool Chorus of 65 voices, which won the gold medal at the recent Welsh Eisteddfod in Warren, O., gives a 30-minute concert on KDKA at 11:15 tonight. W. A. MacDonald, director, brings with him two of the Kroen brothers, Max and Vincent, who captured highest honors in the tenor and baritone divisions of the Eisteddfod. They offer an ambitious program which should please late listeners.

Miss Schilling

Have we ever told you that Mrs. Kroen, blind, never misses a concert in which her sons participate? It's a 1,000-to-1 shot that you may find her tonight at the set in her Beaver Valley home. Everything's "rosey" in the Theater of the Air (WCAE 10:30) with Peter Higgins and Margaret Schilling the stars. Pete does "Only a Rose" from "Vagabond King" and Miss Schilling contributes "Last Rose of Summer."

A Lehar composition seldom heard is one of Jessica Dragonette's solos on WCAE at 8 o'clock. "Yours Is My Heart Alone" has rare emotional appeal. "Two Hearts In Waltz Time" comes as a duet for Jessica and Leo O'Rourke.

Studio Lights

Speaking of Dr. Karl Menninger a moment ago reminds us that Will Durant, the philosopher, has an important little duty to perform on WOR at 9:45 tonight . . . recently Mr. Durant overlooked radio when he named the 12 events which have most affected civilization . . . WOR asked "How come?" and Mr. Durant accepted the challenge . . . There's a fellow on the News Drama (WJAS, 10:30) who is known as "The Man of 1,000 Voices" . . . on a single program recently he portrayed a banker, gangster, British diplomat and Mayor Jimmie Walker . . . Dave Rubinoff fulfills our request for Joyce Kilmer's "Trees" with a violin solo Sunday night via WCAE . . . John L. Baer, of Greensburg, has been denied his application for a broadcasting license . . .

Burt McMurtrie and Harry von Zell of CBS have formed a championship tennis team . . . Burt always was pretty good at this racket . . . don't jump! . . . WOR asked a cool $3,000,000 for an outright purchase recently . . . Louis Reid's prayer may soon be answered . . . Bill Paley, chief of CBS, is Europe a-hoy, determined to put the ex-Kaiser on the radio spot . . . You know the cute rule against profanity on the network . . . well, maybe the NBC boys didn't burn up the other day when the voice of R. C. Lyle describing the British Derby went something like this, "'Tis an 'ell of a ryce, an 'ell of a ryce, an 'ell of a ryce." . . . Is there anything more touching than the way Anthony Wons says "Are you listening?"

Bobby Meeker holds forth at WBBM at 2 each morning. . . . Francis Owen pays tribute to pets on the "Wastebasket" this Sunday. . . . Margaret Daum, KDKA soprano, packs a heap of personality in her song . . . It's our guess that Christy Wilbert is to be the "Hollywood Reporter" on KDKA at 6 tonight . . . Jack and Tony of KQV are featured on the covers of two new songs, "Blue Mountain Shack" and "Whistling in the Dark" . . . and that's sumthin'. . . . With a record of 1,648 "sign-offs" at KDKA, Walter Myers holds the record, we think, for having lost more sleep than any other announcer in the last five years.

Ford Miller's big brother, Paul G., graduates from West Point next Monday . . . and marries on Saturday the thirteenth!

If atmospheric conditions are OK, the Revelers Quartet will be heard over WCAE, from Leipzig, Germany, next Monday afternoon, at 3:30 . . . Jim Corbett swaps punchs next Wednesday, moving from WJAS to KDKA . . . H. Zientek, director of KQV's Polish Orchestra, and Miss Helen Suszinski are to say "I Do" on June 24 . . . Sir Hubert Wilkins has a first class radio in the Arctic submarine, "Nautilus" . . . The Waynesburg College Quartet sings for KDKA Saturday, at 2:15 . . . A local announcer snapping a bite to eat between broadcasts poured himself a cup of coffee near the microphone this morning and it sounded like Niagara Falls.

RAMBLING IN RADIOLAND :-: Around the Dial In Fact, Fancy :-: NEWS AND PROGRAMS

The Loudspeaker

—By LOUIS REID—

NEW YORK, June 5.—The most successful radio orchestras are those which can roam all the way from Bach to "Turkey in the Straw" without snapping a fiddle string.

With such a range they strive to keep every class of listener contented. And contented listeners, dear classmates, are the goal of the broadcasters. Not yet are the archangels of the air waves able to shout—and mean it—"as contented as a listener." But they have hopes, and their hopes lie in the fingers of their musicians.

Contented listeners are hard to capture. What is Bach to one person is boredom to another, and what is "Turkey in the Straw" to the countryside is just so much rural taffy to those who consider Carnegie Hall the pinnacle of musical expression. Therefore, the broadcasters are ever hot on the hunt for a common denominator.

And the common denominator of radio seems to be the robust, rollicking figure of Victor Herbert. Because Herbert's music is not only robust but rollicking, not only moodful but melodious, it appeals to both high and lowbrows. It seems to please the greatest number of listeners. But not far behind stalk the spirits of Sir Arthur Sullivan, Stephen Foster and Tschaikowsky.

These are the big four of radio music; the patron saints of the microphone, and no program builder goes wrong who, seeking the attention of the armchairs, selects them for interpretation. Yet considering their popularity it is strange that no bust of any of them decorates the swanky salons of the microphone. Radio could not get along without them, yet radio perversely refuses to pay sculptural tribute.

Of all quartets this side of Mandalay, or the other side for that matter, the Revellers continue most in demand. They appear in numerous broadcasts. They are ever on the wing on concerts here and abroad. They are busy in the recording mills. Their numerous activities have placed them definitely in the heavy dough—a matter that must be a fruity topic where showmen gather to air their blues.

It proves that even a quartet, if it happens to be the leader of its class, can win the rewards that go with leadership—even in this wise-cracking age that is supposed to pooh-pooh at quartets. The Revellers' leadership depends upon something more than a wistful gaze at the Swanee or Wabash or the Volga. It strikes out for the rocky cliffs of Rachmaninoff, for the complicated gardens of Gershwin.

Question a Day:

Where may I hear Phillips Lord and Arthur Allen?—Janet W., Brookline.

Answer—The portrayers of "Uncle Abe and David" are due back on the air soon in a "down east" sketch similar to the previous series. It will be patterned somewhat after "Sunday at Seth Parker's" in which Lord takes the leading role. It will be on the NBC network twice a night, six times a week.

King of Persia Episode

How the King of Persia forsook his role of sovereign long enough to play personally what he regarded as an insult to his queen will be one of the dramatized news events.

The Queen had gone to a mosque, and while in a deserted courtyard of the temple of worship took the opportunity to adjust her veil. She was spotted by a priest on a roof, however, who raised a cry of "sacrilege" with the result that the police had to save her from a mob of communists who threatened her.

The King strode alone into the temple the next day, drawing the priest from his altar and publicly whipped him.

Other news events of interest that will be dramatized during this program include the doings of the notorious "Jake the Barber," reputed to have swindled the English public out of $5,000,000. This episode will be presented in two scenes, one in England and one in Chicago, where he is to come to trial. More adventures of a group of American mayors on a tour of Europe will be reenacted with a scene during a luncheon at the American Club in Paris with Gen. Pershing as the principal speaker.

GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

Comes to SPEAR'S

It is a tribute to Spear's high standards of storekeeping that SPEAR'S is the ONLY FURNITURE STORE in Pittsburgh AUTHORIZED to sell this famous quality Electric Refrigerator!

$10 DOWN puts one in your kitchen tomorrow

TOMORROW—for an initial investment of only $10—you can have a General Electric Refrigerator in your home.

If you plan to own an electric refrigerator at any time within the next 12 months, it will pay you to buy now on these extremely liberal terms.

A General Electric is one household convenience that returns real dividends—actually repays its cost within a few years.

Figure the cost of foods you now waste—the loss of left-over meats and vegetables—the higher prices you now pay for buying in small quantities. You will quickly decide a General Electric spells real economy in your home.

Come in and inspect the newly refined all-steel cabinets—with new sliding shelves, acid-resisting porcelain interiors, finger-tip latches and many other features. Prices are now lower—with terms within reach of every income. Remember, every General Electric is sold with a complete 3-Year Guarantee, covering both the efficient Monitor Top mechanism and the beautifully modern all-steel cabinet.

ELECTION OFFICIALS' CONVICTION UPHELD

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

William Pfarr

Any impression that speakeasies are a development of the Prohibition laws is dissipated in items sent out by the office of Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington. These items were clipped from the papers of 30 years ago and show that speakeasies existed then, and they were called joboats. Regardless of what Mr. Pennington hopes to accomplish with these items, they are interesting in themselves. Here they are:

"The canvas-covered speakeasies which formerly dotted the shores of the Ohio River from the head of Neville Island to Stoops Ferry are almost things of the past. Small joboats are gradually replacing the old-time fishing camps, but as of yore liquor is freely sold to thirsty visitors, while fiddles make music to mingle with the melody of distant church bells.

"Between Groveton Station and Stoops Ferry 20 joboats were counted yesterday. In the majority of them the initiated could get all the liquor he wanted, but strangers sometimes found it hard to be served. At Groveton Station a joboat was doing a large business. The proprietor, a large, red faced man, with his sleeves rolled up above his elbows, was serving out beer to a crowd of men and boys.

"In the willows a short distance away a group of seven men were playing poker. Three fishing camps were hidden further up the beach. They were deserted by all except two men, one of whom was reading a newspaper. A few empty beer kegs were scattered around, but the speakeasy a short distance away supplied the needs of the thirsty visitors.

"At Lashels Ferry, below Coraopolis, and opposite Chestnut street, Sewickley, two joboats are hidden in the willows. One of them is said to be the most flourishing speakeasy in the Ohio valley. Both of them had many visitors yesterday, but there was no disorder.

"The previous Sunday a crowd of young men from Coraopolis made things lively at one of these boats, and a fierce fight was precipitated. Below Stoops Ferry and nearly opposite the residence of Judge E. H. Stowe, another speakeasy was in operation. At Leetsdale another joboat was doing a flourishing trade.

"The pleasant weather of yesterday was the cause of a large contingent of Pittsburgh and Allegheny people visiting the beer camps up the Allegheny River. There was a steady stream from the end of the Sharpsburg and Aspinwall street car line to the camps which infest the vicinity of Ross Grove.

"Most of them are located along the river front, but there are many scattered throughout the country. Not only the district near the workhouse, but the Evergreen district as well, did a good business.

"Along the hillsides, in well shaded and secluded spots, beer flowed freely, but it was mostly from private kegs. Singing and dancing were popular, several guitars and accordions helping along. Near 'Rube's Place,' well known among the sporting men of both cities, a bar was fitted up and did a land office business."

When her 6-year-old son, Jimmy, didn't come home from school Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Carroll, wife of James E. Carroll, the deputy coroner, became worried.

She tried to locate her husband by telephone. She failed.

She called the police, the Bureau of Missing Persons, the homes of her son's friends.

But there was no word of Jimmy.

Mrs. Carroll was reaching the frantic stage when over the radio she heard these words from Cousin Lora on her program for youngsters:

"We have a stranger in the studio. What's your name, young man?"

"I'm James E. Carroll, Jr."

"And what can you do?"

"I can sing—'Springtime in the Rockies'."

Jimmy sang. An hour later he was home, explaining to his mother that after school a group of friends had announced they were going to sing over the radio and Jimmy had wanted to prove he could sing as well as any of 'em.

AUTO SET AFIRE IN GAS THEFT

The attempt of several boys to steal gasoline from the automobile of Irvine Rapoport, parked in front of his home at 749 Hazelwood avenue, early today, resulted in the car being set afire. Rapoport had attached a red lantern to the rear of the car and when the youths were siphoning the gasoline some of it spilled onto the lantern.

The boys fled. The car was damaged slightly.

Brokers Shake Hands, Then Count Their Fingers

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Can't tell yet whether that thing in Wall street is a rally or just another bounce.

Still we're getting better if we can bounce higher.

Expert says the rise was three billion in paper profits. Indicating prosperity.

Gosh, do we have to go through that thing again?

Brokers are happy. Shaking each other's hands. Then counting their fingers.

Those broker boys are real philanthrophists. They can make two blades grow where but one was stuck in your back before.

But we wish them jolly times, happy days, big cars, yachts and all the by-products of success. All we ask is that they leave us out of the next batch of bread they bake.

As a life member of the American public, we hope our fellow members resist the lure of speculation, roll up those sleeves and bring back the good old salad days when there was a little dressing on the salad.

And let that ticker tape alone until we toss it around when Lindbergh flies the Pacific.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 5.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

We used to always be talking and "sloganing" about "Back to Normalcy." Well, that's right where we are now, and where we are going to stay, so we might just as well get used to it. It's taught us one important fact—that we haven't got as many "big men" as we thought we had. We used to think every head of a big organization was a "big man," and he was, as long as everything was running in spite of him, but when old man "get back to earth" hit us in the jaw, why we didn't have an industry that shrunk like the "big man" industry did. Big men are just like stocks now, they are selling at just what they are worth, no more. Yours, WILL.

100 WILL FACE GRAND JURY IN SUPPLY QUIZ

Reed Prepares Additional Calls, With 47 Served; Audit Report Due Today

More subpenas are being prepared for the grand jury investigation into the Department of Supplies, according to Attorney Earl F. Reed, who has been named special prosecutor in the case by District Attorney Andrew T. Park.

Twenty-five summons were reported served yesterday, bringing the total to 47. About 10 were said to include clauses asking for the presentation of records and papers. It is estimated at the district attorney's office that more than 100 will be served before the end of the week.

WITNESS ASKS RELEASE

Fred G. Turrill, of Minneapolis, a former employe of the Royston Cadillac Company, Baum boulevard, appeared at the District Attorney's office today and asked to be excused as a witness.

A subpena, served on him earlier in the week when he came to the bedside of his son, ill in Mt. Lebanon, ordered Turrill to take certain record of the Royston company before the jury.

He told Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt he knew nothing of any city purchases and as he was no longer employed there, records of the company were not available to him.

Langfitt took his request under consideration.

NO 'WHITEWASH'

The report of Price, Waterhouse & Co., auditors, who have checked the records of the Supplies Department for the city, is expected to be given to Controller James P. Kerr today. It will not be a "whitewash," according to rumors, but will reveal slipshod methods.

The report will include two 150-page volumes with exhibits. Three sets of these will be given to Controller Kerr, who will study the figures and pass them on to City Council early next week, it is believed.

Fraud will not be touched upon in the Price, Waterhouse report, according to reliable information. The data on which subpenas are being issued were gathered by Main & Co. for the Citizens Committee and the League of Women Voters. It is estimated that the audits will cost between $50,000 and $100,000.

FOOD EVIDENCE

Subpenas issued yesterday were said to include officials of the L. H. Parke Company, whose sales of canned goods to the city at high bids brought the protest, from John D. Houston, which resulted in the dismissal of Bertram L. Succop, superintendent of the Department of Supplies.

More men connected with the automobile business have been reported subpenaed. These include George N. Bauer, cashier of the Brockway Motor Truck Corporation, and Adam M. Hauber, president of the Auto Truck Equipment Company.

Unidentified Man Hurt in Stair Fall

An unidentified man, about 50, is in Mercy Hospital with a fractured skull as a result of a fall today on the steps leading under Bigelow boulevard to the Pennsylvania Station. Attaches at the hospital found a card in his pocket bearing the name of Andrew K. Logan. Spectators said he lost his balance near the top of the steps.

Gun Assailant Sent To Home for Insane

A commission reported today that Andrew Susko, 50, of Fair Oaks, was mentally unsound, and Judge George V. Moore sentenced him to a home for the insane at Fairview, Pa. Susko had pleaded guilty to assaulting and pointing a gun at George Stewart, manager of the McClintic-Marshall plant at Leetsdale.

TRADE SCHOOL SITE APPROVED

Approval of the site of a proposed $600,000 trade school in the rear of the high school at Cornell and Bailey avenues, McKeesport, was given last night by the school board, pending the advice of consulting engineers.

Tentative arrangements for the building were also made and it was suggested five portable buildings of the Grandview and Eleventh Wards schools be moved to the George Washington School to facilitate care of students in the fall.

Repair work amounting to nearly $15,000 in the city schools was also authorized.

AGENTS SEIZE STILL, MASH

A 300-gallon still was seized and 3,750 gallons of mash were destroyed when prohibition agents raided a shed near Irwin, in Westmoreland County, yesterday. Two men are being sought as owners of the distillery.

A 75-gallon still confiscated in a dwelling at 1206 Main street, Sharpsburg, resulted in the arrest of Dominick Roda, 40, the agents reported.

At 2534 Fifth avenue the agents said they seized large quantities of gin, whisky and beer and arrested Edwin Elford, 27.

MILITARY TOUR HERE RESUMED

Sixty army and navy officers from the Army Industrial College, Washington, who arrived yesterday to inspect Pittsburgh's industries, continued their tour of the district today. The object of the visit, which will terminate tomorrow, is to study the ability of industries to adapt their operations to wartime needs should the necessity arise.

Last night the visitors, who are in charge of Lieut. Col. W. A. McCain, of the Quartermaster's Corps, were guests at a dinner in the Keystone Athletic Club.

Pennington Here On Routine Visit

John D. Pennington, prohibition administrator for Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, was in Pittsburgh today on what was described as a routine visit. Sunday he is to speak in Emory Methodist Episcopal Church.

Name Commissioner Of North Versailles

E. J. Fritchley has been appointed commissioner of North Versailles Township to succeed H. C. Taylor, resigned, by Judge George V. Moore, in Quarter Sessions Court.

JUDGE REFUSES SIXTH WARD RETRIAL

Conspiracy Verdict Against 5 Defendants Sustained In Decision by Jurist

Conviction of election board officials of the Fifteenth District, Sixth Ward, on charges of conspiracy to violate the election laws, was upheld by Judge James H. Gray in Criminal Court today.

In his decision, Judge Gray refused a new trial for Robert Drzewiecki, judge; Stanley Zvikowski and Frank J. Skibo, inspectors, and Joseph Bentz and Frank Szossolek, clerks. Their alleged irregularities occurred during the primary election in May, 1930.

Judge Gray said:

"The real question was whether phantom marks had been made on more than 160 ballots by the defendants or others. The commonwealth's theory that they had been made by the members of the election board after the polls had been closed by marking ballots not marked by electors was sustained by the jury."

RAID HILL PLACE THIRD TIME

An alleged speakeasy at 131 Elm street, twice raided, police say, during the recently announced cleanup of vice conditions in the vicinity of Franklin school, in the Hill district, was raided again early today.

George Bonner was held for court by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Center Avenue Police Court on charges of violating the Snyder act. Ten visitors were fined $5 each.

The raid was ordered by Inspector Albert Beebe, who said he had received complaints from the principal of Franklin school.

PLAN TRAFFIC ESSAY CONTEST

A fifth annual city-wide traffic essay contest in the public and parochial schools of Pittsburgh next fall was to be the subject of a luncheon meeting of the Better Traffic Committee's education section with school officials in the Chamber of Commerce rooms today.

In the four previous contests, according to Chairman Walter Rosenbaum, more than 250,000 essays have been written on traffic accident prevention problems by school children.

Leechburg Water Complaint Upheld

HARRISBURG, June 5.—(INS.)—Formal complaints lodged by the burgess and Town Council of Leechburg against the Vandergrift Water Company because of the quality of water furnished by it today were sustained by the Public Service Commission. The company serves Apollo, Leechburg, Hyde Park and sections of adjacent townships.

Death Car Driver Held by Grand Jury

Dominic Romeo, of near Crafton, accused as being the driver of an automobile which killed George H. Massie, 53, chef, of 3133 West Carson street, May 27, was held for the grand jury today on charges of manslaughter by a coroner's jury.

Fayette Students To Present Play

"I'll Explain Everything," a three-act comedy, will be presented by the junior class of the South Fayette Township High School at Morgan this afternoon and tonight.

FREIGHT THEFT FOILED, 4 HELD

Three men and a boy, accused by North Side police of attempting to loot a freight car on a siding near Anderson and Lacock streets, were being held today. The prisoners said they were Peter Albert, 46, and Charles Alleckner, 45, of Jeannette, Pa., and William Kaszbusky, 37, of Penn Township. The boy, whose name the Sun-Telegraph will not publish because of his age, was turned over to Juvenile Court.

North Side police say they discovered the four attempting to steal meat from one of the cars on the siding. Kaszbusky and the boy were arrested but their companions escaped. Later police arrested Alleckner and Albert. Charges of being suspicious persons were placed against the prisoners.

Traffic Man, Wife To Get Pitt Degrees

Alfred M. Lee, secretary of the Better Traffic Committee, and his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Briand Lee, of Center Court Apartments, will receive master's degrees Wednesday at the commencement exercises of the University of Pittsburgh. For the past two years Mrs. Lee has been a student assistant in the department of sociology, and both she and Mr. Lee have prepared papers on that subject.

Inaugurate New Air Link With Washington Monday

Ceremonies inaugurating the Pittsburgh-Washington passenger and air mail service will begin at 9:30 a. m. Monday, when two planes will leave Washington for Pittsburgh carrying 18 passengers. They will arrive at Bettis Field at 12:20 p. m., where they will be met by two escort ships carrying Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, James Francis Burke, A. L. Humphrey, president of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company; T. C. Foley, acting manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and others.

The ships arriving from Washington will have, among other passengers, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, Thomas A. Dunn, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Raymond A. Tucker, chairman of the chamber's aeronautics committee, and Congressmen Clyde Kelly, Guy Campbell and Samuel Kendall.

After a brief welcome at Bettis Field a luncheon will be held in the Chamber of Commerce. The program there will be broadcast over KDKA from 1:30 to 2:30 p. m.

Speakers will be President Dunn, Burke, Humphrey, County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, Councilman John S. Herron, George Hahn, president of the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation; Postmaster General Brown and Admiral Byrd.

School Visitors to Cease Activities Entirely

Pittsburgh's boards of school visitors will stop visiting the schools, even in an unofficial capacity, it was learned today.

Some hope had been expressed that the members would continue advising the Board of Education of needed improvements and changes in schools in their wards. This was dispelled today by a canvass of officers of boards, who said the recent enactment of a state law depriving the boards of their official status means their abolishment.

No move is under way to replace the elected visitors. Supervising janitors from the Board of Education are constantly in touch with condition of physical equipment in Pittsburgh schools. Parent-Teachers' associations feel the work is not in their province, according to Mrs. C. A. Rehtmeyer, president of the Pittsburgh Parent-Teacher Association, said today.

A system of regular, rigid inspection will be continued by the Board of Education, it was learned.

PLAN DUQUESNE GRADUATION EXERCISES

Cathedral Service Sunday To Open University's Commencement Week

Baccalaureate services which will open Duquesne University's fifty-third commencement week program will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in St. Paul's Cathedral. Previously the baccalaureate services have been conducted in the morning and the solemn pontifical vespers to be sung mark a change.

The Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of Pittsburgh, will be celebrant. The address will be delivered by the Rev. Ralph T. Hayes, D. D., pastor of St. Catherine's Church, Beechview, and former superintendent of parochial schools.

The program begins with a procession of the graduates and faculty in academic costume from the boys' high school, Fifth avenue, former superintendent of parochial schools.

Diplomas will be awarded 67 graduates of the Duquesne University Preparatory School at commencement exercises in the university gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock tonight. The Very Rev. J. J. Callahan, president of the university, will address the class and award the diplomas.

The valedictory address will be delivered by Paul M. Baker, who will be presented with the gold medal for excellence in the academic department.

Seek Deportation Of Smuggled Aliens

MAN, YOUTH DIE FROM AUTO INJURIES

Eleven Others Treated At Hospital for Hurts In Overnight Crashes

A man and boy died in hospitals today from injuries suffered in automobile accidents during the night. In the accident in which the man was fatally hurt, three companions were seriously injured.

The dead are Michael Sweeney, 50, of 5309 Keystone street, and Joseph Bowers, 11, of House 96, Mine No. 2, near Castle Shannon.

Sweeney was fatally injured when a machine in which he was riding with his three companions skidded against a pole at Butler and Forty-eighth streets. The car was demolished. The man was pronounced dead when admitted to St. Francis Hospital. John McGinley, 39, of 5429 Keystone street, Patrick Trainer, 21, of 5405 Carnegie street, and John Kelly, 29, of 1145 Penn avenue, are in St. Margaret's Hospital.

McGinley, who was driving the car, suffered a fractured skull. Trainor also suffered a skull fracture and Kelly suffered shock.

BOY HIT NEAR HOME

The Bowers boy was injured near his home when struck by a machine reported driven by Edward Davidson, of Castle Shannon. The child died this morning in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Three men were injured, one seriously, when an automobile in which they were riding skidded and crashed against a pole in West Carson street between Telford and Earl streets, last night.

The most seriously injured, Charles Seemiller, 23, of 4 Grant street, McKees Rocks, who suffered a fractured skull, was in South Side Hospital. Charles Cassidy, 22, of 301 Minton street, Sheraden, alleged driver of the car, and Willard Alexander, 20, of 309 Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, suffered bruises and were treated by a physician. Cassidy was arrested.

DODGE CHILDREN, CRASH

John P. Brady, 40, of 121 Sycamore street, was in South Side Hospital today with a probable skull fracture suffered when an automobile, swerved by its driver to avoid hitting a group of children, crashed against a pole in Virginia avenue, near Shiloh street, last night.

Collision of two automobiles in Kelton avenue, Dormont, resulted in slight injury to three men last night. The injured, according to Dormont police, were Clarence Irvine, of 732 Rosemont avenue, Mt. Lebanon, driver of one of the machines; Robert Neff, 19, of 1546 West View avenue, and Arthur Burgoyne, 19, of Los Angeles avenue.

Burial will be in Uniondale Cemetery.

2 BOYS ADMIT SIX HOLDUPS

Two young men admitted holding up six gasoline stations after they had been identified by attendants in Morals Court today. They were George Bauman, 23, of Collins avenue, and Wilbur Block, 23, of North Beatty street, arrested in the home of Charles Willoughby, 20, in Fifth avenue extension.

Willoughby is being held, although he has not been connected with the holdups.

Club Urges Autoists Shun Perry Detour

Motorists were advised today by the Touring Bureau of the Pittsburgh Motor Club to avoid a 14-mile earth detour on the Perry highway, U. S. Route 19, between Sheakleyville and the Perry highway; route 322 intersection, a few miles west of Meadville. This detour is reported to be in poor condition.

The club recommended use of Route 19 to Mercer, Route 65 to Sandy Lake, Route 78 to Cochranton, Route 322 to Meadville and on the Perry highway again to Erie.

BUS TRIAL OFF, LAWYER HURT

The trial of James Sinclair, 26, of Morris Camp, near Oakmont, charged with holding up a driver on a Pittsburgh Motor Coach bus, was postponed today when it was reported that the prosecutor, Assistant District Attorney Chauncey E. Pruger, had sprained an ankle while playing tennis last night.

Walter Campbell, 28, of Renfrew street, who was to have gone on trial with Sinclair, died two months ago. Sinclair, who said both were innocent, testified yesterday he believed Campbell had died of a broken heart.

CITY OF PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVANIA
OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the City Controller of the City of Pittsburgh until the 9th day of June, 1931, at 10 a. m., eastern standard time, for the purchase of the following issues of bonds of said city:

$100,000.00 General Improvement Bonds 1931.

$75,000.00 Bridge Bonds 1931.

Said $100,000.00 General Improvement Bonds 1931 will be dated April 1st, 1931, and will mature in ten (10) equal installments on April 1st of each year. Said bonds will bear interest at the rate of four and one-quarter (4¼) per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on the 1st day of April and October in each year without deduction for taxes which may be levied thereon by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pursuant to any present or future law. Said $75,000.00 Bridge Bonds 1931 will be dated May 1, 1931, and will mature in fifteen (15) equal annual installments on May 1st of each year. Said bonds will bear interest at the rate of four per centum (4%) payable semi-annually on the 1st days of May and November in each year without deduction for taxes which may be levied thereon by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pursuant to any present or future law.

Said $100,000.00 General Improvement Bonds 1931 are issued to provide funds for furnishing supplies, materials, equipment, salaries, labor and supervision for improvement generally of streets, parks, playgrounds, sewers, etc., the labor to be furnished by the Allegheny County Emergency Association. Said $75,000.00 Bridge Bonds 1931 are issued to provide funds (including engineering expenses) for the construction of bridges and repairs to present bridges crossing streets, highways and streams in the City of Pittsburgh.

Said bonds will be coupon bonds of denomination of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars, exchangeable at the option of the holder at any time for a registered bond, or bonds, of the same maturity and of the denomination of One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars or a multiple thereof not exceeding the aggregate principal amount of the coupon bond or bonds surrendered in exchange therefor.

Unless all bids are rejected the said bonds will be sold to the highest responsible bidder complying with the terms of sale. No bid for such bonds at less than par and accrued interest from the date of said bonds to the date of delivery will be accepted. The right is reserved to reject all bids and any bid not complying with the provisions hereof will be rejected. Any bidder may condition his bid upon the award to him of all or none of the bonds for which he bids.

All bidders are required to deposit a certified check drawn to the order of the City of Pittsburgh, on a National Bank or Trust Company for two per centum (2%) of the principal amount of bonds bid for. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be allowed upon the amount of the check of the successful bidder and such check will be retained and applied in part payment for the bonds or to secure the city against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of this bid.

The City of Pittsburgh reserves the right to deliver to the successful bidder temporary typewritten or printed bonds, in the form of one temporary bond for each maturity, which shall be substantially as to the terms of the definitive bonds, with such appropriate omissions, insertions and variations as may be required. Until their exchange for definite coupon bonds, the temporary bonds shall be in full force and effect according to their terms, and shall bear interest from the first days of April and May, 1931, respectively.

Proposals should be addressed to James P. Kerr, City Controller, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and enclosed in a sealed envelope, marked on the outside "Proposal for Bonds." Bids must be made upon blank forms which may be obtained from the City Controller.

The successful bidder will be furnished with the opinion of Messrs. Reed, Smith, Shaw & McClay, of Pittsburgh, that the bonds are binding and legal obligations of the City of Pittsburgh.

JAMES P. KERR,
City Controller.

Dated, Pittsburgh, Pa., May 22, 1931.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids as may be deemed for the best interest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Blank proposals, specifications and prepared schedules may be obtained at the office of the Secretary of Property and Supplies, Bureau of Publications Building, at the above address. No bid will be accepted unless submitted on said blanks.

JAMES F. MALONE, Secretary.

PLEA TO DROP HARMONY LINK OPPOSED

Opposition Challenges Jurisdiction of Court; Heavy Losses Set Forth

After hearing arguments on abandonment of the Ellwood City-East New Castle and Ellwood City-Beaver Falls branches of the Pittsburgh, Harmony, Butler and New Castle Railways Company, Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker permitted attorneys participating in the hearing until Monday to file briefs.

The petition of Maurice R. Scharff, receiver of the railways company, seeking authority to discontinue service of the two branches, covering 17 miles, met with opposition from persons residing in the territory affected by abandonment of the branches.

Scharff, on the witness stand, said that the railways company has been operating at a heavy loss since 1923, and discontinuing the two branches would result in a saving of $3,000 a month, as the revenue from these branches has averaged only $850 a month over a long period.

Property owners and others opposing abandonment were represented by Attorneys W. S. Doty, of Pittsburgh, and R. W. Humphrey, of Ellwood City.

Counsel for the opposition also claimed that discontinuance of service rests with the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania and not with the Federal Court.

The receiver was represented by Attorney George K. Warn.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Events

In Mayfair

—With—

Patricia Pitt

With a scarlet-clad band playing and singing "School Days," "Jingle Bells" and popular sentimental tunes, Pittsburgh and Sewickley society folk in all sorts of amusing costumes and in every sort of vehicle rode round and round the show ring, Sewickley Heights, yesterday afternoon to the applause of the enthusiastic grandstand.

And this parade, a part of the annual costume riding and driving party the William Christopher Robinsons give each year, closed the first day of the Allegheny Country Club horse show. The show closes tomorrow. After the parade the guests drove, or rode, to "Franklin Farms," the Robinsons' Sewickley Heights estate.

Leading this hilarious parade were the hosts in a phaeton. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan, as usual, were with them. Mrs. Robinson wore a buttercup yellow gown of the gay nineties, trimmed in black and having an enormous bustle. Her hat was an intricate affair of black and yellow, perched high on her head. Mrs. Milligan chose a white voile gown and picture hat of the same period.

One of the most amusing "acts" in the parade was a group of Arctic explorers with a dog sled and huge dogs.

Explorers Of Arctic

Appearing in this stunt were the Lewis A. Parks and the David Gilmores, wearing fur coats and hoods and galoshes.

The Alan Magee Scaifes rode by in a hansom cab with Richard King Mellon in plaid brown trousers, a swallowtail coat, top hat, and an enormous moustache, driving and dodging oranges thrown by friends riding in a fruit and vegetable wagon. Mrs. Scaife wore an old-fashioned pale blue striped gown, trimmed with quantities of ecru lace, and a plumed hat.

Riding in the vegetable cart were, among others, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ricketson III, Mrs. George Riley Bailey and Mrs. John Laughlin.

The Alexander Laughlin Robinsons and Clodagh McCune were in a pony cart on their way to school. Mrs. Robinson and Clodagh wore red and green plaid gingham dresses with brief skirts and Mr. Robinson wore a white sailor suit.

The George Singer Ebberts and the Gordon Kings, driving by in an old-fashioned carriage, looked picturesque in the garb of bygone days. Pony carts were popular. The J. O. Burgwins chose one, and Mrs. Burgwin wore a short white lawn dress, blue sox and a huge blue hair ribbon, and Mr. Burgwin chose a white sailor suit.

Pony Cart Popular

Harriet Ramsburg, William Doolittle, Mary Childs and her fiance, William T. King, were driving an ancient car, towed by a plow-horse.

The junior William Christopher Robinsons, in Turkish garb, won a prize for the best couple on horseback. George Nicilla won a prize as a Viking on horseback, and Betty Childs and Charles Woods as young Italians with a monkey and a parrot and a grind-organ were picturesque.

Having an old-time hay ride were Dr. and Mrs. Maitland Alexander, the Christian Ihmsen Shannons, Mrs. James Oliver, Mrs. Charles Brown and others.

The Herbert A. Mays, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Childs III, the Dorwin Donnellys, Evelyn Evans, Stewart McClintic, and others, garbed as gypsies, were in a fruit garden float.

Riding In Floats

There was a Christmas toy wagon, driven by Santa Claus. Riding with him were Mary Franklin Robinson, James Ebbert, Emily Frew, Peggy Milligan, Myron H. Wilson, Mary Elizabeth Floyd, Katherine Collin and others.

There was a radio float with Mrs. James Verner Scaife as Madame Queen, and Mrs. Clinton L. Childs, the McCleane Browns, the James McKinneys, and the Allen Gordons among those riding in the group.

The Simon T. Pattersons, the A. Rex Flinns and the John W. Lawrences, in white milking outfits, rode on a Guernsey float. And there were ever so many more.

Miss Margaret Coulter, from Greensburg, wore a suit of lettuce green crepe with a hat of matching straw, and Betty Bovard, from Greensburg, wore riding clothes.

Seen at Allegheny

Mrs. John W. Lawrence appeared in blue boucle with a collegiate brown slicker, and Mrs. H. Norton VanVoorhis chose brown boucle with a matching hat of rough straw.

Attractive Louise Evans wore brown and white crepe with a brown straw hat, and with her was Frances Johnston. Janet Hardie was in the grandstand, in white crepe with a navy blue jacket having smart touches of red.

Betty Bughman wore yellow crepe with a matching straw hat, and Mrs. Richard Clemson chose a blue crepe frock with a matching straw hat and a beige wool coat.

Yellow crepe fashioned the frock of Dorothy Slack, and green jersey, the smart model worn by Ethel Christie.

I saw Mrs. Lawrence C. Woods, who is Mrs. H. C. Bughman's mother, at the show, and Mrs. Edward P. McKinney.

Mrs. W. W. Collin occupied a box. With her were her small children. Mrs. George Ebbert, looking smart in a pink silk dressmaker suit and a brown straw hat, arrived late in the afternoon to see the riding and driving party. Other late arrivals were Mrs. Carroll P. Davis, in black, and Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., in a black and white wool coat, collared in black galyak, and a black straw hat.

Late Arrivals

Mrs. Thaw entertained in her home, by the way, with a luncheon yesterday.

I saw Genevieve Bell wearing a smart blue knitted suit with a blue fabric tam, and Mrs. William Christopher Robinson in red and white jersey with a red and white tam to complete her costume.

Ruth and Virginia Willock attended the afternoon session, and so did Rebecca and Nancy Doyle and Harriet Fickes.

* * *

Mrs. W. Terrell Johnson chose a striking chartreuse boucle suit with a white jumper and white and green knitted hat. Others I noticed in the grandstand were Mrs. Francis de Lacey Hyde in an eggshell shantung dress with a brown jacket and brown straw hat; Mrs. David M. Gilmore in pink boucle; and little Susan Burgwin in riding things.

Seen in Stand

Watching the riding and driving party was Mrs. William A. Galbraith in a navy blue and white boucle dress and a blue straw hat.

Hundreds Attend Open House Day At Zoar Home

Another "open home day" at Zoar Home has gone into history and a little more help along the financial road has gone into the treasury of the home. Again hundreds of friends of the home out in Butler road visited it, admired the babies, exchanged a few words with the old ladies who are residents there, patronized the various booths and stayed on for dinner.

Until yesterday the home had housed 60 babies, but at noon a new little girl arrived to take her place in the big family, that includes 26 mothers and five old ladies as well as the tiny folk.

One of the most largely patronized features of the bazar was the fish pond which did a record business under Mrs. P. Burgin Digby's chairmanship. Perhaps the salesmanship of those four pretty little aides, Jane and Mildred Lowry, Florence Olsen and Sara Jane Digby, had something to do with the amount of fishing that was done.

Mrs. Joseph Barclay and her aides had charge of a varied array of articles at the gift shop; the tempting cakes were under the supervision of Mrs. Charles Yahres; Mrs. William Turner headed the candy booth committee and Mrs. William McBeth the lemonade committee; Mrs. George Hopkins was assisted by members of the Winona Bible Class of the Second Presbyterian Church. Wilkinsburg, in selling the multi-colored balloons and ice cream cones were the "stock" disposed of by Mrs. William Spencer and her aides. The entire day was managed by Mrs. Edward E. Meyer and her committee.

EVENING FROCKS FEATURE TWO DIFFERENT MATERIALS

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, June 5.—This should be a year of material success for many textile manufacturers. There is a growing demand for the new fashion of combining two different materials in the latest evening frocks. It is perhaps a logical outcome of the color contrast that has become so important that it has spread to the evening wardrobe. An interesting fashion, too, and one that permits great originality and a wide latitude in choice. It gives the silhouette a chance to do things and lends points and emphasis to the tight bodice and the flaring skirt when the bodice is done in a heavier fabric and the skirt in something sheer and light. The woman who is seeking a new idea should be alert to utilize this fashion tip for her next frock.

LELONG IS THE couturier who is showing the new two-fabric evening frocks. He is displaying these in several striking yet logical combinations. For instance, the model sketched has a bodice and hipyoke of emerald green velvet while the flaring skirt is of green tulle. The bodice and yoke are in one piece, unbelted and slightly draped at the waistline. These models are attracting much interest and favorable comment.

* * *

THE PRESENT WAVE of economy necessitating much pruning of the budget, coupled with the knowledge that "it all comes out in the wash," must be responsible for the attention given by the smartest houses to wash frocks. Yes, the once humble and neglected little frock of wash material is now glorified in the collections of the foremost dressmakers. Jenny is among the houses featuring the new wash frocks. In the sketch is shown an ensemble from this house consisting of a sleeveless frock of fine white pique woven with a tiny fleck, and a short sleeved jacket of plain, vivid blue pique. The scalloping on the jacket and frock is done by hand. Large pockets head the top of the box-pleated skirt.

DR. COPELAND -:- Discusses Food Values of Lettuce -:- PRUDENCE PENNY -:- Some New Recipes to Intrigue the Homemaker

Lettuce Rich in Mineral And Vitamin Content

This leafy vegetable should be included in every food budget because of richness in contents which prevent scurvy and preserve health.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Former Health Commissioner of New York City, United States Senator from New York

King Henry the Eighth awarded his gardener a prize for devising a dish of lettuce and berries. From his day to this lettuce has been used more or less.

Lettuce is one of the oldest of food plants. It is only in recent times that its full value has been appreciated. Now that we know its vitamin and mineral content, we enjoy it more than formerly.

Lettuce belongs to a group spoken of as the leafy vegetables. It is believed that those vegetables contain more food values than other vegetables.

This vegetable is particularly rich in mineral content. It contains iron, magnesium and copper salts in great abundance. It has an alkaline reaction and aids in maintaining the blood in proper condition.

Vitamins are found in this leafy vegetable. It is particularly rich in vitamin C. This vitamin is essential for health and as a preventative of scurvy. It is an excellent source, too, of other vitamins.

Unlike many of the nutritious foods lettuce is not expensive. It can and should be included in every food budget. Lettuce should form part of your daily diet.

This vegetable is to be had throughout the year. It does not spoil and may be shipped long distances.

If you are fortunate in having a small patch of land for a garden try growing lettuce. It is easily grown and does not require much care.

Though lettuce is not of high caloric value as a food, it is of importance as part of a well balanced diet. In addition it serves as "roughage." Such roughage is essential in preventing and overcoming any tendency to constipation.

The recognition of its vitamin content alone is sufficient reason to include this food in your diet. When you add more vegetables to your diet, you are putting money in the bank of health.

Though Henry the Eighth was appreciative of the new dish placed before him, he was not aware of all the advantages this food possessed. However, you are better off, for you do know its wholesome value and should take advantage of this knowledge.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

FRESH PEACH BAVARIAN—Beat 2 egg yolks together with ½ cup sugar and slowly add 2 cups scalded milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until the mixture is smooth and creamy. Add 1½ tablespoons gelatin, softened in ½ cup cold water. Fold 1 cup cream which has been whipped into 2 egg whites, beaten stiff. Combine the cream and eggs with the custard mixture. Sweeten 1 cup sifted fresh peach pulp to taste and add 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Add to the custard. Chill thoroughly in a mold. Serve with sweetened sliced fresh peaches.

RHUBARB TAPIOCA—Wash a bunch of rhubarb, cut off the ends and unless the rhubarb is very tender, remove the skin. Cut in ½ inch pieces to make 3 cups. To 1-3 cup quick cooking tapioca, add 1½ cups boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt and cook together in a double boiler 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Then add the rhubarb as well as 1¼ cups sugar and cook until the rhubarb is soft and the tapioca clear. Chill thoroughly and serve with whipped cream.

BAKED VEAL CHOPS EN CASSEROLE—Select medium-size thick veal chops. Season with salt and pepper, and dust with flour. Brown the chops on both sides in hot fat, and put in casserole with 1 carrot and 3 small onions, all finely cut. To the fat in the pan, add 1 tablespoon each of chopped onion and chopped parsley. Fry for 2 minutes, and gradually stir in enough flour to thicken smoothly. Add 1 cup soup stock or water. Stir in 1 tablespoon lemon juice, sprinkle with ½ teaspoon paprika, and pour over the chops. Bake in a moderately slow oven one hour. Serve with a border of steamed rice.

JUNE SALAD—Cut 3 hard-cooked eggs in half lengthwise, remove the yolks and cut a slice from the end of the white so that the egg will stand upright. Mix ½ cup of finely chopped cucumber and 3 tablespoons of chopped sweet pickles with enough mayonnaise to make a paste. Fill the egg cups with this mixture, and garnish with the crumbled egg yokes. Arrange a thick slice of tomato on crisp lettuce on each salad plate and set an egg cup on each slice. Garnish with mayonnaise, watercress; and border the salad with mixed pickles.

CRABMEAT SOUFFLE—Melt 3 tablespoons of butter, blend in 3 tablespoons of flour, ½ teaspoon of salt and ¼ teaspoon of paprika and cook for one minute, stirring constantly. Add 1½ cups of scalded milk and cook over hot water until the mixture thickens. Pour over the beaten yolks of 3 eggs.

Cool slightly and add a can of crabmeat and ⅓ cup of diced ripe olives. Fold in the beaten egg whites, turn into a buttered baking dish, set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Serve with Hollandaise sauce.

ons and remove the meat from the bones. Cut in cubes and cover with ¼ cupful of French dressing. Set in the refrigerator to marinate and to chill. At serving time, mix the chicken with the chopped celery and peppers, season with salt and pepper and add enough mayonnaise to bind the salad together. Chopped olives, chopped hard-boiled eggs and chopped sweet pickles add zest and piquancy to the salad.

FRENCH DRESSING—Rub a mixing bowl with a cut clove of garlic on a fork. Pour in the measured salad oil; add 1-3 as much vinegar or lemon juice as oil. Add salt and pepper to taste and enough paprika to make the dressing pink. Add a dash of dry mustard or a few drops of Worcestershire sauce; and a pinch of sugar helps to bring out a rare flavor. Beat with an egg beater until the oil and the acid form a smooth mixture.

CHICKEN LIVERS WITH CURRY — Six chicken livers, cleaned and cut in pieces, crumbs, salt and pepper, egg, butter, ½ tablespoon chopped onion, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon curry powder, 1 cup chicken stock, rice timbales. Dip livers in seasoned crumbs, egg and crumbs and fry in the butter. Remove livers and add 2 tablespoons butter to the fat in the pan and the onion and cook five minutes. Add flour mixed with the curry powder and stock. Stir and cook until the sauce boils. Strain over the livers and serve in rice timbales made by packing the hot, seasoned rice in well buttered molds and placing the molds in hot water for 10 minutes. Garnish with parsley.

CHICKEN LOAF—Three cups cooked chicken, ⅓ teaspoon pepper, 2 hard cooked eggs, 2 eggs, salt and pepper, 3 sprigs parsley, 1 cup milk, ½ cup bread crumbs. Chop chicken and parsley. Add beaten egg crumbs, pepper and milk. Pack in greased pan. Bake at 400 degrees for 40 minutes. Turn out on platter and garnish with sliced hard cooked eggs. Serves six. May also be baked as individual loaves in small pans.

Don't Let Yourself Be a 'Baby' All Your Life

She's stubborn . . . and oh so sensitive . . . Besides that, she's the Baby of the Family, and used to getting all the breaks . . . So when her "honey" dares to talk back—

Yes, stranger, you're right. The riot is on. And if it isn't quelled soon, the engagement's going to be off. Which would "Just Break Seneira's Heart." It's a Sad, Sad Story, and no mistake. So if you like Tearful Tales, read on.

DEAREST SALLY:

I always read your column, yet I never thought I would have to write you, but I am terribly troubled, so here I am and I hope that you will help me.

ARGUES WITH HIM

I am engaged to an awfully nice fellow, and I am very much in love with him. He is much in love with me, too. But he never gives me my own way about anything. Being the baby of a family of seven, I realize mother has spoilt me terribly. In fact, even my brothers and sisters always give in to me. But Jim won't.

Lately we've been having arguments all the time, and he will never be the first to make up. I always have to go over and kiss him, and say I'm sorry. I will admit that I am always starting arguments . . . and that I am terribly sorry afterwards.

Just today my honey was here, and we were going out and, before I knew it, I had an argument with him, and he left without me. Really, my heart was just breaking. Finally he called up, but I was so hurt I was perfectly nasty to him, and he hung up, saying he'd "call me again when I was in a better humor." He knows that I am just crazy about him. I cried for two hours. Please help me, won't you? I am in terrible distress.

WANTS HELP

Lately, I have been terribly nervous, anyway. My brother died just a short time ago, and I have been terribly upset ever since. I think that's what makes me so crabby and jumpy. When my darling called up today, I just broke down and couldn't stop crying after I said what I did to him. I think I am to blame. He is very stubborn, and so am I. He was wonderful to me during our sorrow. I am 23 and he is 31. Oh, please help me won't you? Really and truly I think I'd die, if we broke up. What is wrong?

SENEIRA.

What's wrong?

I'll tell you what's wrong! It's your notion that you're "the baby" and in the privileged class. Snap out of it! No woman of 23 is a baby, and she has no business to act like one, if she wants to be treated like a rational human being. Stop thinking of yourself as a Cute Little Trick who can wind the world around your finger. Stop thinking of yourself as a child, who has a right to impose on folks and "work" them. Stop being the "Big I," and try to give other folks a break.

MUST ALTER WAYS

Learn to use your head. Learn a little dignity. Learn to be too proud of generosity and fairness to want "your own way" about everything. Stop a minute, and think what a mad house this world would be if every silly human insisted on his or her "own way." Grow up!

And take that "nervousness" of yours in hand. I know that your brother's loss was a blow to you, but you can't afford to wreck your happiness and perhaps your life because of it. After all, death is a natural thing we all must some day meet. And it is up to us to go on living just as we lived before. The world couldn't exist if we didn't. And "nervousness" such as yours can be controlled, if you'll use a little sense and spunk.

As for your "honey"—I admire his technique, but marvel at his nerve. He's certainly tackling a lot of grief. You call him "stubborn," but my hunch is that he's only trying to jar you loose from your silly conceit and selfishness, and make a 100 per cent woman of you . . . and that, when he finds you have learned to be one, he'll treat you accordingly.

A Good Thing is Always a Good Buy Even at Its Regular Price—Fay King

By FAY KING

These are happy days for the bargain hunters.

The more you know about things the more you can appreciate the prices at which they are now offered.

Now is the time to buy anything from furniture to furs, and one way of saving money is to spend it for good values.

Times will pick up again, and the big bargain days will be over.

Don't be among those who will sit back and sigh over the things you could have got but didn't.

Many things you wanted but couldn't afford before are now within your reach.

A good thing is always a good buy even at its regular price.

Madge Warns Lillian Against Unhappiness

"May I have the thoughts for a penny, Auntie Madge, or has the price gone up? I warn you I only have about a nickel left in the world."

Marion's hands, lightly laid over my eyes, and her merry voice effectually banished my worry over the effect of Mary's bethrothal ring upon Philip Veritzen. It would come back again, I knew when I had leisure to consider it. But now I must pin my attention firmly to the final details of the Christmas preparations.

"They aren't worth a farthing, Marion," I told her, unclasping her hands and bringing her winsome face down to mine for a kiss. "They are so vague. I doubt if I could gather enough of them together to be worth uttering. Let's congratulate each other instead. We're almost ready to go to bed, aren't we? And at an earlier hour than last year?"

"That's because most of the boys' things are downstairs, and the big boys are out from under our feet," Lillian said, with an affectionate pat upon her young daughter's shoulder. "When I remember the Christmas Eves during which only quick foot work kept me from tripping over Dicky, as he wound those infernal train tracks all over this room, and the others, I'm ready to slay you, Madge, for not thinking of this basement playroom thing years ago."

"And I haven't seen it since early this evening," Marion exclaimed. "It should be done now, shouldn't it? The Ticers went home quite a while ago."

"I think it's all ready except the train system," her mother drawled. "I doubt whether those will be completed before sunrise."

"I'm going down to give it the once and twice," Marion danced away as she spoke, and added, mischievously, from the doorway: "That will give you a chance to fix my table by the time I get back."

"We fix no table of yours until you are safe in bed," her mother called after her, "so hurry back."

"O-oo! I'll fly," she promised, as the hall swallowed her, and Lillian's eyes came back from the doorway and met mine.

"I wonder if she'll get over this bubbling enthusiasm for Christmas, and everything that goes with it," she said wistfully.

"We didn't," I reminded her, laughing. "You know what Harry and Dicky call us."

"'The original Christmas filberts—cracked'," she quoted with an answering grin. "Well, I fancy they're right but see if we care. It's worth it, isn't it?" She swept a hand around the softly lighted rooms, redolent of evergreen.

"You don't expect me to dispute that?" I queried.

"I thought you'd subscribe to that sentiment," she said, sitting down in a chair opposite mine, and snuggling contentedly against its cushions. "Let's stretch our muscles and relax our souls for a minute," she went on, and I nodded acquiescence, reveling in the relaxation until Marion's breathless reappearance at the head of the stairs brought us back to activity.

She closed the door behind her, and then burst into soft laughter, which she evidently had been repressing.

"O-o-o! They're so funny," she gasped. "The tracks are all done, and they're running the trains over them just as if they were kids 10 years old. And when I came down they sort of jumped, as if they'd been caught in mischief, and then Uncle Dicky explained very gravely, that they were trying out the trains, to be sure they were correctly assembled. I'm going to scoot upstairs before they get up here, or I shall laugh right out at them. Oh!" reproachfully, "You haven't covered their tables. They'll see their things!"

She dashed to a chair piled with large sheets of white paper, and carefuKy laid enough of them over the tables devoted to the gifts for Harry and Dicky, so that no detail of the contents was exposed. Then she kissed us both and with a final "Merry Christmas, darlings!" flitted out of the room.

"Now!" Lillian said, rising quickly, "we can get her things out, and, after that, I'll take your table and you mine, as per usual."

We worked quickly, and in a few minutes Marion's table was piled with her gifts. Then our backs carefully turned to each other, in accordance with the solemn promises we had made to Junior, Marion and Katie, Lillian and I arranged each other's tables, and shielded their contents from view with white paper. As we came back to the fire, Lillian put her hands on my shoulders and kissed me.

"Well, we're ready for another big day, you blessed Christmas fairy," she said. "Here's hoping that the day will end as happily as it has begun."

I returned her kiss with a simple "Thank you," but in my heart there was a terrified "Don't!" a foolish, superstitious protest against her toast.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

The Diet and High Blood Pressure.

Dr. Copeland

Frequently I am asked to explain what is meant by normal blood pressure. This is a difficult question to answer. It is difficult because there is a wide range of measurements, within which it may be said the pressure is normal.

Blood pressure varies greatly in different persons. Age, sex, mode of living and atmospheric factors, must be taken into consideration.

Between the ages of 18 and 40, the blood pressure is assumed to be normal at about 120. This figure means that the pressure exerted by the blood in the vessels of the body is equal to that exerted by 120 millimeters of mercury.

Of course a reading of 125 or 130 by no means could be called abnormal. This is interpreted usually as a "high normal."

As a rule, the blood pressure is higher in males than in females. It is found to be higher in cold countries, as compared to that found in tropical countries.

Heat causes the blood vessels to expand. With this dilation, the pressure is lowered.

The blood pressure can be compared to the pressure of water in a pipe. If the pipe is narrow, the water spurts out more quickly than the water from a wider pipe under the same pressure.

As we grow older, our blood vessels undergo certain changes. These changes occur chiefly in the walls of the blood vessels. They lose their elasticity and become brittle. This change in texture leaves less chance for expansion and causes an elevation in the blood pressure.

Some individuals grow old quickly. The blood pressure is higher, for their blood vessels have lost their tone. This fact gives origin to the expression "a man is as old as his arteries."

Persons with tendency toward high blood pressure should not indulge in strenuous exercises. More rest and relaxation are needed by such individuals. The diet should contain temperate quantities of meat. Salts, pepper, spices and condiments should be reduced.

Answers to Health Queries

F. B. Q.—My son who is not in robust health uses both cream and sugar in his coffee and tea—is this injurious in any way?

A.—No.

Miss E. M. R. Q.—What would you recommend for falling hair and dandruff?

A.—Keep the hair immaculately clean and use a good tonic several times a week for dandruff.

Miss C. R. Q.—What can I put on my fingernails to prevent their breaking off so esily?

A.—Try applications of a good cold cream or olive oil—and avoid putting the hands in water as much as possible.

J. A. B. Q.—What will stop the habit of biting the finger nails?

A.—If the will power is not strong enough to stop the habit try painting the nails with tincture of asafoedita—this has a most unpleasant taste and should be effective under the circumstances.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

"The Mermaid in the Zodi-ack"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. What is the correct pronunciation of zodiac? Is the ac pronounced as "awk" as in awkward or as "ack" as in acknowledge?

2. Is it ever correct to pick lettuce up in the fingers to eat?

3. Is it correct to pick up a leg of a chicken in the fingers when eating?

4. When a lady speaks to anyone on the street whom she knows, should not the young man with her lift his hat? My friend says only older men lift their hats, young men only touch them.

5. Some young men say it is all right for a man to smoke on the street while walking with a lady, if he asks her consent and she gives it. I do not agree. Am I right? W. S.

1. The last syllable of Zodiac is pronounced like the ack in acknowledge. The poet Keats makes a brisk rhyme of this in his delightful poem, "The Mermaid Tavern":

And pledging with content smack
The Mermaid in the Zodiac.

2. No, lettuce should either be eaten with a fork, or, if you prefer, with the salad knife and fork.

3. No. Chicken should be eaten with the knife and fork.

4. Your friend is a bit confused on this, I should say. I never heard of such a differentiation. All men should lift their hats under such circumstances, or when they meet a man with whom they are acquainted who is accompanying a woman, whether or not the woman is a stranger.

5. Right you are, very right. A gentleman would not smoke when he is walking in the street with a woman.

As Correct As It Was Permissible

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

As I find your column very interesting as well as educational, it is one of the first I read each night. From reading it I have learned many things. I am, therefore, going to ask you about a few points on which I am not quite clear.

1. In a case where girls are entertaining at a restaurant, such as at a sorority supper, how should the seating be arranged—the escort on the girl's right, or the girl on the escort's right?

2. When a couple are dining in a restaurant and a friend or friends of the young lady pass, is it correct for her to ask them to join her table, or should he do the asking?

3. Recently, while on an English liner, we were served a thin pudding, and given a fork with which to eat it. As I thought it quite impossible to manage with a fork, I asked for a spoon. Was this permissible?

Thank you for your good words . . . you're a dear to write them.

1. If the girl and her escort are to sit side by side, the girl should be seated on the man's right.

2. Usually it is not good form to do this, for obviously the parties were not intended to join, or they would have done so before they came to the restaurant. Also, the girl is usually not sure if this will be agreeable to the man, and the man is not sure that this will be agreeable to the girl. Since it is the man's party, it would be best for the girl to wait for him to suggest it. He is the host, and has this privilege.

3. Yes, this is permissible and correct.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

There is no beauty profit gained in neglect, letting oneself go to seed. Work and worry and no play invite the old meanie ravages of Time—dull eyes, bent figure, wrinkled skin. Worry takes the skip and jump out of life, trails spirits in the dust. It is foolish business. The worrier says she can't help worrying, but that's bunkum. She can pull herself out of the ditch of mental torment by building for herself a working philosophy, by being strong, facing life with courage.

Heroines in books have long, black, curling eyelashes that rest upon their rosebud cheeks. Beautiful eyelashes are a necessary element in the composition of pulchritude. You get them by giving them the care they deserve, bathing the eyes with cold water twice a day, touching the edges of the lids at night with vaseline, coddling the lashes with a small brush designed for that purpose. Clipping is all to the bad; cuts away the needle point end and doesn't help the growth.

Prematurely gray hair may be an inheritance or the result of physical depletion. Nervous troubles have a bad effect upon the hair, not only changing its color to frosty whiteness, but impairing the strength of the hair shafts, causing them to lose luster. Various hair dyes are suitable for various colors; therefore it is wisest in the long run to seek the advice of a professional who specializes in hair coloring.

Skimping on food is no economy, yet plenty of girls do it, so they can indulge in luxuries of dress. You can't keep the old engines going without fuel. The amount of food necessary depends upon the amount of energy expended, but even the lazy little girl needs 1,500 calories a day. The diet should be balanced. It should include meat, eggs, cereal, green salads, vegetables and fruits. The greater the variety of dishes the better. Finicky eaters who live mainly on bread, meat and potatoes do themselves an injustice.

Household Hints

When only half a lemon is required in a recipe, don't throw out the other half. Place it on in the refrigerator. It will keep quite a while in this manner.

Before putting the children's woolen suits into the suds for washing, it is wise to run a basting thread around the badly soiled spots so as not to miss them during the scrubbing.

When windows rattle in the breeze, and very naturally become annoying, there is a way of discouraging the nuisance. Screw a small hook to the bottom of the window and a small screw-eye to the window sash, having them so situated as to make a pretty snug fit. That'll hold them.

PRUDENCE PENNY :-: Attractive Dishes For June Menus :-: NEW RECIPES

There should be 1½ cups of raspberry bulp. Whip milk until stiff, add lemon juice and whip until very stiff. Cut and fold in the raspberries, freeze in trays for four or five hours. Serves eight.

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD—One orange, ¾ cup white grapes, 1 cup whipping cream, 1 banana, 2 slices pineapple, 1 cup fruit salad dressing, 12 maraschino cherries.

Free orange from all skin and rind. Cut the pineapple fine and halve the cherries. Seed and peel grapes. Place fruit in refrigerator to chill. Whip cream and combine it with the salad dressing. Combine fruits and add banana, sliced very thin. Add fruits to cream and salad dressing. Pour into tray and freeze. Cut in cubes to serve.

POTATO SALAD—Six potatoes, ½ teaspoon celery seed, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 onion, ¼ teaspoon mustard seed, ½ teaspoon paprika, salad dressing. Pare potatoes, cut in halves and cook in boiling salted water with the onion until tender. Cool, cut in ½-inch cubes, add seasonings, and mix with dressing. Cover with dressing, and garnish with parsley, red beets or cooked carrots.

EGG SALAD—Four hard cooked eggs, diced, ½ cup diced celery, 2 tablespoons chopped onions, 2 tablespoons chopped green peppers, 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ½ cup salad dressing. Mix and chill ingredients. Serve on crisp lettuce.

COUNTRY SALAD—Two cupfuls chopped cooked meat, 2 cupfuls diced cooked potatoes, 1 cupful cooked sliced carrots, 3 hard boiled eggs, boiled dressing, lettuce, 3 small gherkins, 1 cupful diced celery.

Combine the chopped, cooked meat, which may be corned beef, tongue or ham, with sufficient boiled dressing to mold. Pack in a cold mold and chill. Likewise, thoroughly chill the cooked potatoes and carrots. Let the diced celery stand in cold water to which a little lemon juice has been added. When ready to serve, line the salad dish with lettuce, unmold the meat in the center and arrange the potatoes tossed in boiled dressing around it. Place the border of carrots around the potatoes, then the celery drained and wiped dry. Chop the whites of the hard-cooked eggs and sprinkle over the meat. Garnish with halves of gherkins and pour boiled dressing over the vegetables. Potato balls or carrot slices cut in fancy shapes may be used.

CUCUMBER SALAD WITH SALMON DRESSING—One head lettuce, 2 cucumbers, 1 onion, salt, 1 cupful cooked salmon, pepper, boiled dressing.

Break apart, wash and dry the lettuce leaves, pare the cucumbers and chill all. For each individual service, make a bed of the lettuce leaves on the plate and upon it place thin slices of cucumber, some of the finely minced onion and a sprinkle of salt and pepper. Put the salmon into a cold bowl, shred and remove the bones; add to it until right consistency to pour, a sour, highly seasoned boiled dressing. Beat thoroughly and pour over the lettuce and cucumbers. Makes six servings.

VEAL SALAD—Two cupfuls cold veal, diced, 1 cupful diced string beans or celery or equal parts of each, 6 hard-cooked eggs, ½ teaspoonful salt, paprika, few grains pepper, 4 tablespoonfuls salad oil, 1½ tablespoonfuls vinegar, 3 tomatoes, 1 small cream cheese, mayonnaise, parsley, lettuce. Chop the eggs rather coarsely, and combine them with the veal, string beans, oil vinegar, salt and pepper. Let stand 30 minutes to marinate. Then add mayonnaise to moisten. Arrange the salad in a mound on a large, round platter, cover with mayonnaise, border with lettuce and surround with the tomatoes sliced and overlapping. Garnish with the cream cheese formed into balls and dusted with paprika. Serves six.

BRAISED SMOKED TONGUE WITH SAUCE—Wash the tongue thoroughly and soak in cold water overnight. Drain, put in kettle, and cover with boiling water. Bring slowly to the boiling point, and simmer two hours. Let the tongue partly cool in the water and remove the skin. Place the tongue in a deep baking dish with a tight-fitting cover.

To prepare the sauce, brown ¼ cup butter, and slowly stir in ¼ cup flour; then add 4 cups of liquid in which the tongue was cooked. Stir constantly until the sauce boils. Add 1 teaspoon Worcestshire sauce, and pour over the tongue. Cover and bake in a moderately slow oven, turning the meat once, until tender.

PINEAPPLE TART—One unbaked pie shell, 3 cups chopped or grated pineapple, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons water, 1 cup whipped cream.

Mix pineapple, sugar, lemon juice, rind, nutmeg and water. Pour into pie shell and bake 25 minutes in moderate oven. Cool and chill. Serve, topped with cream.

De Sylva Has Title for New Janet Gaynor Film— Plot to Follow

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, June 5.

After all, Buddy De Sylva's debut as a Fox associate producer will not be in the Guy Bolton-George Gershwin picture "Delicious." He is to handle Janet Gaynor's next picture instead.

The story is up in the air but the former musical comedy wizard promised to have it ready to go into production the middle of August. As it often happens in these quaint movies, the title has been selected first. De Sylva favors "Angel Face," though "Heart Free" is a possibility. The plot will come later.

Janet Gaynor

Charles Farrell will not play in the De Sylva film, because of previous assignments.

It looks as if you will find a couple of songs tucked in "Angel Face," but they will be the work of another writer, as De Sylva figures to have his hands full on other matters.

Somehow, this smart young man inspires confidence. He is the only one of the trio of De Sylva, Brown and Henderson who survived the disappointment of the public reception of "Just Imagine."

WHAT HO! THE MILLENIUM

When the members of the Paramount publicity department write about the stars in the future, they have been instructed to leave the following adjectives out of their copy: "famous, noted, celebrated, world-famed and greatest."

Isn't that colossal?

LATEST GOSSIP

The film colony is getting a great deal of amusement out of Dorothy Mackaill's latest prank. The Horace Hough whom she introduced to ship reporters as "the man I really am going to marry" is an assistant director at Fox and already has a wife. The boys swallowed the rib and it got in the papers. Poor Hough has come in for plenty of kidding. . . . Injuries and illness have hit the Will Rogers company hard. First, Will got hurt in polo; then Director Dave Butler had an iron bar fall on his foot, and now Joel McCrea, the juvenile lead, has gone home with the flu. Which, no doubt, will set a lot of feminine hearts in Hollywood beating solicitously. . . . Due to the death of Mary Pickford's cousin, she and Doug arrive here today by plane instead of spending a week in Canada. If they make it on schedule, the trip from London will have taken only eight days. . . . Phillips Holmes and Ethel Sutherland, ex-wife of Eddie Sutherland and hostess of Hollywood's first "separation party," are going places together. . . . Ann Harding hankers to put some of her memories of military post life on paper. She has hired a teacher to coach her in the art of the short story. . . . Bill Conselman and Sidney Landfield plan a trip to Reno over the weekend to "absorb some atmosphere" for their next picture, "Alimony Queens." And, incidentally, Mrs. Landfield, better known as Shirley Mason, expects that blessed event next month.

ACCENT GOT JOB

There's more than one way of crashing the gates of Hollywood. Thelma Miller, a good-looking blonde from Birmingham, Ala., went out to Universal to interview the casting director. She got as far as the secretary, who found out she wasn't registered at the Central Casting Bureau and didn't have any experience. That was her cue for exit.

It just happened, however, the casting director heard her molasses-thick southern accent. He popped out of his office, stopped the thrilled young lady and promptly signed her up to demonstrate to Sidney Fox how she should slur her r's in "Strictly Dishonorable."

Well, it's an entree, anyway.

SISTERS TOGETHER

For the first time in their screen careers, Nancy Carroll and her sister, Terry, are to play sisters in picture. It will be "Personal Maid," which Paramount is making in New York. The two girls often have appeared in the same stage show or film. Back in New York, when Nancy was 16, they made their debut together in an amateur night at the Orpheum Theater. Terry Carroll is a blonde and a third sister, Elsie, a brunette.

Tropic Sun

Karen Morley has to pit her wits against the romantic lure of the tropics in "Never the Twain Shall Meet," which opens today on the Aldine screen.

Cameraphone to Have Sunday Benefit

A midnight benefit show for the Warner Brothers Employes' Welfare Fund will be held Sunday in the Cameraphone, East Liberty. In addition to a feature picture there will be five acts of vaudeville. The screen feature will be "A Gentleman's Fate." The stage show will feature Eddie Weitz and his orchestra.

Westinghouse Vets Hold Benefit Dance

Seeking funds for the relief work of the Veteran Employes' Association of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, a benefit entertainment and dance will be held tomorrow evening in Syria Mosque. The association is administering relief to 400 families in the East Boroughs.

Globe-Trotting Director Now Stays Home

After three years of globe-trotting, Director W. S. Van Dyke has at last received a home office assignment. He will direct Bayard Veiller's original story, "Guilty Hands." He is now at work assembling a cast. Van Dyke has made four consecutive pictures on location: "White Shadows in the South Seas," "The Pagan," "Trader Horn" and "Never the Twain Shall Meet."

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

(Copyright, 1931, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Hint.

We start anew—all faithfulness forgotten
To salvage gold from castles built in Spain;
We've found—as all must find—that pride goes rotten,
And leaves behind a heritage of pain;
So, once again, with kisses and with roses,
I'll do my best to rouse an ancient flame,
But do not weep if fleeting time discloses
That glamour dies and love is not the same.

Oh, we sigh and vow abject devotion,
Find phrases new to gild our young affair;
Despite it all, I have a saddened notion,
We'll find it hard again to really care;

But youth is sweet and perfumed nights are here—
So lie your very prettiest, my dear!

—Beau B'way.

Classic

In "The Third Lillie Show," which stars Beatrice Lillie, there is a pantomime which is by far the most amusing item in the uneven revusical. It features Miss Lillie, and it reveals the bad manners of the typical First-Night audience. It kept the initial auditors at the Music Box in stitches the other premiere evening.

It reminds one of us of The Retort Swelegant pulled at a Ziegfeld opening last year. A well-known society man was ignoring the proceedings and he talked boistrously to his femme companion.

"I beg your pahdin," sarcastically said the annoyed seatholder in the row ahead, "but I can't hear a word you're saying because of those actors on the stage!"

Is My Nose Bleeding?

"The trouble nowadays," says the Pathfinder, "is that there are more wisecrackers than there are wisecracks."

Things That Knock Me Cold

In Cleveland, according to the press dispatches, John Saliga, who was brought to court over a board bill of $9, said to the judge:

"O, yeah?"

Which proved too much for Judge Grossman, who ordered the defendant to spend 24 hours in jail for contempt to rid himself of the wisecracking.

O, Yeah?

Imagine!

When Bugs Baer heard of the fellow who went over Niagara Falls in a barrel the other day, he said that he wouldn't be at all surprised to hear of a Singer's Midget doing it in a Lily Cup!

And They Slice Ham!

One of the numerous authors of "The Ziegfeld Follies" was halted along The Great Whoopee Way yesterday by a pal.

"I see" said the friend, "that you are one of the numerous authors of the new Ziegfeld show. What was your contribution?"

"Oh, nothing much," was the retort between yawns, "I merely put in all the wows!"

Reason Enough

One of the Broadway wiseys and his Heart-Thumper were reading the morning rags.

"Hmm," humm'd the femme, "I see here that Mrs. Skolsky McIntyre is suing her husband for divorce. I cannot understand that—there isn't a better fellow going."

"That's just the trouble," replied the Broadway-wiseguy, "he went too far and forgot to take her along with him!"

Stranger Than Fiction

Barbara Blair, just signed for the new "Scandals," doesn't believe in telling fibs to traffic cops. She has never received a summons from a cop, she avers, because she has been truthful with them. Yesterday, frixample, she was motioned to a curb.

"What's the matter," growled the bluecoat, "didn't you see that light?"

"Yes," she responded coyly, "but I didn't see you."

Quiteso, Quiteso

Fred Allen says the feller who is all wet has one consolation. The same flower will keep in his buttonhole for days.

Always the Critic

Variety publishes its final Critics' Box-Score for the 1930-31 season, which reveals Mr. J. Mason Brown of the Post in the driver's pew. When a comrade telephoned to Mr. Brown and so notified him of his Ducky Luck, the scholarly drama-defender responded:

"Real-leh? I wonder who translated my reviews for for them."

Swifty

Observed over the bar of an E. 61st St. giggle-water place:

"There is one way to tell the difference between a college professor and a student. Ask him what 'It' is. If he says it's a pronoun—he's a professor."

Sotto Voce

"Jigger:" Very good. More? Barrington, N. J.: Thanx a lot.

A Form of Criticism

Mr. Channing Pollock, the playwright, is thumbing his nose at the critics again. In a letter to high school students he offers a medal for the most constructive criticism published in a school publication.

Mr. Pollock points out to the adolescents that the newspaper critics prefer building up their own reputations by tearing down others, etc.

In fewer words, Pollock doesn't want a cracker.

Add Depression News

The sign on the recently opened miniature golf course which reads: "Opened by Mistake."

Incidentally

And Master Elinson adds that things must be tough in the movie business. They are even laying off relatives!

Sock!

Jack Benny, of the Big Time, says that maybe it is a good thing that the Sharkey-Carnera fight has been called off.

"I'm afraid," says Jack, "that Sharkey couldn't hit Carnera high enough to foul him."

Chemist Makes Food From Cotton Seed

HEIDELBERG, Germany, June 5.—(AP.)—Caspar Schmitt, a Heidelberg chemist, has a process for converting cotton seed into excellent food for human beings. He calls the product "florida albumen" and says it contains vitamins A, B, C and E, and is valuable for body building. It is tasteless and odorless and costs little.

Theater Employes Vote for Wage Cut

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Members of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Motion Picture Machine Operators have voted a voluntary wage cut of $450,000, William Canavan, international president announced. The reduction approximates 5 to 7½ per cent reductions in individual salaries.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Evidence of the "repression" seen at the Nixon yesterday: a long queue waiting for the box office to open so those in line could force Harry Brown to accept upwards to $4.40 per tick for one night of "Follies." The repression became cruel for many of those who preferred seats for Monday night. These went to readers of Mr. Brown's advertisements, which stated several days ago that the mail order sale was on and to send checks or—almost as good—money, itself. Even some checks had to be sent back, not because they were n. g. but because there were not enough tickets. Harry should have hired an additional theater for his premiere, and have the players skip from one to another.

The "Follies," accepted by the public as the Barnum & Bailey of revues, will feature Ruth Etting, Helen Morgan, Gladys Glad, Harry Richman, Reri, a South Seas dancer, and others, including a large group of male singers.

Small Timer, finishing his alleged song, says that in Hollywood things are so gloomy that some of the biggest yesmen in the business now only nod their heads.

To cheer up summer audiences, the large "presentation" house circuits are booking "big name" acts for their stages. The latest to sign is Waring's Pennsylvanians, for a tour of 12 weeks. When their turn comes to tootle their tunes in Pittsburgh, the tootling will be done in the Penn.

Small Timer, stealing an encore, says he has a real liking for a man with spirit—and a pair of glasses. Glasses, not cheaters.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is to be associate producer of the stage comedy, "The Man In Possession," in which he also will play a leading part in a Los Angeles theater. Doug, Jr., likes the stage—between pictures.

* * *

Small Timer, scramming at the finale of his act, says some of the boys who once had money to burn are sifting the ashes now.

German Ambassador Leaves for Europe

NEW YORK, June 5.—(INS.)—Baron F. W. von Prittwitz und Gaffron, German ambassador to the United States, was among more than 3,000 passengers sailing today. Others sailing include Gloria Swanson, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt and the American Davis Cup tennis players, Francis Shields and Sidney B. Wood.

Peasant

Dita Parlo has the leading role in "Melody of the Heart," German-made film depicting Hungarian peasant life, which will open in the Pitt Monday.

TRUCK DRIVER HELD UP

Two Negroes robbed James Simon, of 1512 Beechview avenue, as he stepped into his truck in the rear of the Eye and Ear Hospital, Fifth avenue, early today. They obtained $45, Simon told police.

His face covered with a handkerchief, an armed thug last night rifled the cash register in the grocery of P. Sterns, at 3277 Fleming avenue, North Side, of $56 after holding the proprietor at bay with a revolver. The thug is believed to have escaped in an automobile.

Jobless Man's Wife Wins Automobile

Harry Rothe, of 424 Sample street, Millvale, has been out of work for four months. Funds were low, but Mrs. Rothe went to the Harris Theater last night—buying a 25-cent ticket which resulted in her being awarded an automobile by the Warner Theaters.

The car is a Franklin, worth about $3,000. The distributors, the McKinley-Gregg Automobile Company, after hearing Mrs. Rothe's story, expressed a willingness to find a purchaser for it if Mrs. Rothe decided to dispose of it.

Severe Earthquake Rocks South Serbia

CHEVEGHELI, South Serbia, June 5.—(AP.)—A severe earthshock was felt here today.

Greta Garbo Gets Bob

Robert Z. Leonard, who directed the last two Marion Davies vehicles, "It's a Wise Child" and the newly-completed "Five and Ten," has been assigned direction of Greta Garbo's new starring film, "Susan Lenox; Her Fall and Rise."

Further announcement is made that Clark Gable, the young actor who was signed by Metro-Goldwin-Mayer when playing in a coast dramatic production of "The Last Mile," will have the chief male role in "Susan Lenox."

Gable has played in four pictures to date, "The Secret Six," "Dance Fools, Dance," "A Free Soul" and "Torch Song." "Susan Lenox" is an adaptation of the novel and play of the same name by David Graham Phillips.

TOWANDA, Pa., June 5.—(AP.)—Backfire from a pumping engine caused a fire which destroyed two barns, a creamery and several sheds on the dairy farm of Mrs. L. D. May at Granville, near here. Mrs. May estimated the loss at $40,000.

Brother Unable To Swim, Sees Boy Drown

BALTIMORE, June 5.—(AP.)—Linwood A. Herrmann, 11, fell into the Roosevelt reservoir here and was drowned while three companions, one of them his brother, looked on powerless to aid him. None of the three could swim.

Two of the dozen or more youths, who worked with the squad which recovered the body two hours after the drowning, were injured in diving for it.

FIRE HOSE USED TO ROUT BEES

Firemen from No. 17 Engine Company, Mt. Washington, routed an army of bees that stopped over for a short time between two houses at 513 and 515 Grace street, yesterday afternoon.

The neighbors closed their doors and windows and a call was sent to police. One complainant said she had been referred to police by the Humane Society, which, she said, was not interested in insects. The police thought a fire hose would be best to put the bees to rout and summoned the firemen. A hose was turned on and the invaders vanished.

3 SUITS FILED AGAINST CITY

Three unrelated suits against the city, seeking a total of $35,000 damages for injuries to three women in falls, were filed in Common Pleas Court. Irene Simms, waitress, asked $10,000, alleging she tripped on an uncapped meter box on Crawford street April 10. Mrs. Gertrude V. Seter, widow, of Hazelwood, asked $15,000, alleging she tripped on an icy sidewalk fronting 533 Greenfield avenue March 12. Mrs. Anna Morgan asked $10,000, claiming she fell in a depression at Fifth avenue and Magee street February 11.

Mrs. Frances G. Caughey, 17 Moody street, Braddock, suffered a broken nose and other injuries while riding in the automobile of Mrs. Catherine Jones, 226 Mercer street, Homestead Park, June 29, 1930, when it collided with the automobile of William J. Caughey, husband of Mrs. Caughey.

These allegations were contained in a suit filed by Mr. and Mrs. Caughey against Mrs. Jones asking $10,000 damages for injuries to Mrs. Caughey and damage to the Caughey car.

OHIO WELCOMES ROOSEVELT

CINCINNATI, June 5.—(AP.)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, was greeted here last night by the Democratic leaders as "the Democratic standard bearer in 1932" at a public reception.

On his way home from the Governors' Conference at French Lick, Ind., Gov. Roosevelt said he was not talking politics at this time. He said he was busy attending to his duties as Governor.

Gov. Roosevelt was to go to Dayton today and have lunch with former Gov. James M. Cox, of Ohio, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1920, when Gov. Roosevelt was candidate for Vice President. From the Cox home he will go to Antioch College for a brief visit and thence to Columbus, where he will dine with Gov. George White before leaving by train for Albany.

Lack of Reserve Closes W. Va. Bank

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 5.—(AP.)—Closing of the People's Bank of Ridgeley because of insufficient reserve was announced yesterday by L. R. Charter, state banking commissioner.

The bank, in its last published statement on March 25, listed resources aggregating $183,832.11 and deposits totaling $112,130.82.

Schenley High School, champion of Section 1, and South Hills High, champion of Section 2, of the City League, will clash in the second game of their playoff series for the city championship at Forbes Field this evening. Their first game resulted in a 10-inning, 2-2 tie on the same diamond last Tuesday evening, with Pitcher Lentz, of South Hills, fanning 17 batters and Pitcher Stratton, of Schenley, striking out 15. The series will be continued until one of the teams wins two games.

By JAMES J. LONG

Cuyler Discusses Ball. Sees Interest Lessened. Regan Delivers Again.

A's Unbeaten by West. McTiernan's Setback. Middleweight Changes.

KIKI SAYS SEAMS HURT LONG THROWS

AFTER SMASHING a 1931 model baseball into the centerfield bleachers at Wrigley Field in Chicago yesterday for the home run that gave the Cubs their second straight victory over the Robins, Kiki Cuyler must have felt as well satisfied with the wallop as he ever had felt with any he made while the old rabbit ball was in play. It demonstrated again that the new sphere will travel just as far as the old one when it is hit on the beak, and that it's only because the pitchers are able to do more with it that hitting has fallen off.

Kiki Cuyler

Yet, in discussing the changed ball while the Cubs were playing here recently, Cuyler expressed the opinion that it had already caused a big decrease in slugging, and that in doing so it had taken away some of the charm of the sport by lessening the game's uncertainty. Cuyler says that proof of his assertion may be found at the average major league ballyard along about the seventh inning almost any playing day.

THE FORMER PIRATE outfielder says he has observed that if one of the contending clubs, particularly the home team, is two runs behind at the end of the seventh frame, the fans begin to leave the park. This, he thinks, is due to a belief that under 1931 conditions a handicap of two runs is too great to be overcome in two innings, as a general rule, and that the game is as good as over.

"Things were different before they brought in this new ball," Cuyler continued. "It didn't matter then if one club had a lead of as many as five runs when the eighth or even the ninth inning arrived. The fans realized that the trailing team might start a batting rally at any instant and that anything might happen to change the complexion of the game. So the patrons stuck to the finish. The uncertainty kept up interest, and upon interest, of course, the life of the game depends."

CUYLER CALLS ATTENTION to another feature of the new ball that appears to have been generally overlooked. That is, its effect upon throws made from the outfield. As one of the greatest throwers that ever cut down a base runner with a fling from the outer picket lines, Kiki may be termed an expert witness on that subject, and he insists that the new ball cannot be thrown from the gardens with the same accuracy as the old one.

The Cub fly-chaser says that he could throw the old ball in on a line and that it would go straight and true as aimed, and could also be depended on to hop perfectly in most instances if it struck the ground. But he declares when he attempts the same throw now the raised stitches cause the ball to sail or dart out of its course and that if the sphere hits the soil it is apt to bound away from the player set to receive it.

FOR A PLAYER who is only a reserve and who was rated in the American League as lacking a punch, Bill Regan must be said to have done fairly well since he was sent to second base for the Bucs this week. The Pirates nosed out the Braves twice in the first three meetings, and all that Regan had to do with it was to knock in the winning run both times, in addition to playing his usual smooth game in the field. That's one change that Manager Ens has had no cause to regret making, so far. If some of the other Pirates were to display more thumping power, however, it wouldn't take the club long to get out of the seventh hole. Their position is not nearly as bad as it sounds or looks, as they're only three games from the first division.

Johnny Evers, Jr.

JOHNNY EVERS is not here with the Braves, as he no longer travels with the club. His present job confines him to scouting work, and in that role he recently had the novel experience of scouting his own son, Johnny, Jr., who has just been elected captain of the Georgetown University team for 1932.

Accompanied by President Emil Fuchs, of the Boston club, the Brave scout attended a game in which the younger Evers was a participant, and the two kept a close watch on the collegian's work. It is said the boy will be given a tryout with the Braves after his graduation next year. He has been a varsity player at Georgetown two seasons.

EARL GRACE, the new Pirate catcher, was in the game only four innings in making his first appearance in a Pittsburgh uniform, but he did enough in that short time to give the spectators a favorable impression of his ability.

The former Cub, though handicapped by a sore foot that slows him up, handled himself in pleasing style behind the plate, threw fast and accurately, and in his only time at bat cracked a clean single to center. He hit .324 in 137 games for Reading in the International League last year.

AMONG THE SEVERAL outstanding achievements credited to Connie Mack's great ball club this year must be chronicled the fact that though the season is almost two months old there are no fewer than four clubs in the American League to which they have not lost a game up to today. Up to today they had not been defeated by a western club in 14 meetings, having taken six games from the White Sox, four from the Indians (who have now won 10 straight from other clubs), three from the Tigers and one from

BUCS, BRAVES END SERIES HERE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

What is perhaps the best series the National League has staged this season will come to a close at Forbes Field this afternoon when the Pirates take on the Braves in the fourth battle between the two clubs. Thus far the Buccaneers have copped two of the contests; all three of the scraps have been decided by one run and in two of them the fight carried into extra rounds. The home team won a slab masterpiece yesterday in 13 rounds, 2 to 1, Bill Regan driving in Paul Waner with the winning tally.

Heinie Meine, leading pitcher of the Oakland troupe, and Southpaw Tom Zachary, who has been a menace to the Buccos since he came over from the American League, will oppose each other on the mound in the finale.

BRAVES SCORE FIRST

The crowd of 1,000 that braved the elements to see yesterday's scrap was rewarded by witnessing what was the best all-around performance of the season in the Oakland Orchard. A drizzle fell as the game got under way, but the skies cleared later and by this time Larry French and Ray Moss were down to the business of running off a classic. The Braves scored a lucky tally in the fourth off Visalia Larry, but from this period till the ninth there was no runmaking, the Buccos profiting by a smile from Lady Luck to register the tying run.

French and Moss had both departed for the showers as the battle waged into extra rounds, but their successors, Glenn Spencer and Harold Haid, erstwhile New Castle boy, picked up the pitching batons and carried on

MAX TO DON GLOVES TODAY

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., June 5.—(AP.)—Max Schmeling, the heavyweight, preparing here for his fight in Cleveland July 3 with W. L. (Young) Stribling, divided his time yesterday among golfing, fishing, motoring, sunbathing and seeing a motion picture show.

The German boxer will resume sparring today. Charles Wepner, New York heavyweight, who received a sprained ankle while in the ring with Schmeling, was on crutches yesterday.

Matmen Collide As Both Try Same Stunt

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 5.—(AP.)—A head-on collision last night resulted in Pat Donnelly, 195, Ireland, winning the third and deciding fall over Jack Peterson, 197, Chicago. Both wrestlers tried the butting maneuver at the same time.

Peterson was knocked out completely and Donnelly was barely able to crawl over to the prostrate Peterson and fall across his shoulders to win the match.

ORCUTT CAPTAIN

HANOVER, N. H., June 5.—(AP.)—George N. Orcutt, of Corry, Pa., yesterday was elected captain of the Dartmouth golf team.

GUNN TAKES MEDAL HONOR

WILMINGTON, Del., June 5.—(AP.)—Watts Gunn, of the Oakmont Club, Pittsburgh, carded a net 77, six strokes over par, to lead a field of 170 golfers in the 18-hole qualifying round of the annual Elmer Mitchell memorial men's annual invitation tournament at the Wilmington Country Club yesterday. Scores were high over the tricky course. Five players were tied for second place with 80, and five others were tied for third place with 81.

Match play will start today with morning and afternoon rounds

Brulette Wins Race At Epsom Downs

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 5.—(AP.)—Brulette, the filly owned by Col. C. W. Birkin, today won the 148th running of the historic Oaks Stakes.

U. S. PRO COPS BRITISH GOLF CROWN

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, June 5.—(AP.)—Tommy Armour, Detroit professional, who won the United States open title by defeating Harry Cooper in an 18-hole playoff at the Oakmont Country Club, Pittsburgh in 1927, today added the British open championship to his collection of links laurels.

Armour won with a total of 296 for the 72 holes of play after Jose Jurado, little Argentine star, tossed away a great chance for victory on the last nine.

Armour, known as the "Black Scot," and a veteran of some of the hardest fighting of the World War, finished with a par-cracking 71 after previous rounds of 73-75-77.

TOM RALLIES TO WIN

He was five strokes back of Jurado at the start of the final round and four strokes back at the end of the first nine, but where he came in in par, Jurado went to pieces.

Armour, the former Scotch amateur champion, succeeds Bobby Jones as the British Open king, making it 10 out of the last 11 years the title has come to the United States.

Armour's last-round 71 tied the course record set during the qualifying play by Mac Smith. His winning total was five strokes higher than that with which Jones won the Open last year.

Jurado had a 77 to finish in second place with 297.

Gene Sarazen and Percy Alliss, the British-bred Berlin pro, were tied for third with 298 and Johnny Farrell, also a former American Open king, and MacDonald Smith, the Carnoustie-born American, tied for fifth with 299.

Other finishers in order were: Marco Churio, Argentina, 300; Henry Cotton and Arthur Havers, British professionals, 302; Abe Mitchell, Horton Smith, the Mis-

TECH TO LOSE 16 STARS BY GRADUATION

Homewood Faces Test in City League Tussle; Civics to Meet Dormont

DRESHAR, EYTH INCLUDED IN GROUP

Sixteen prominent Carnegie Tech athletes will receive their degrees at the institution's commencement exercises next Tuesday. Five football lettermen will depart, the basketball squad will lose two, swimming, one; cross country, four; track and field, four, and tennis, one.

The graduating football men include some of the most famous names in Carnegie's history. They are John Dreshar, of Hermine, Pa., who captained the team two successive years; Howard (Dutch) Eyth, of Mars, Pa., who made the longest touchdown run against Notre Dame in 1930; Leonard Schnupp, of Jeannette, Pa., gigantic tackle; Ted Rosenzweig, of Claridge, Pa., brilliant end, and Oscar Carlson, of Jamestown, N. Y., reserve halfback.

NEASE THROUGH

The gridders who are through with football, but not with school are John Karcis, burly fullback; Joe Morbito, reserve fullback; Latham Flanagan, end; Thayer Flanagan, halfback, and John Highberger, tackle.

Basketball loses George Nease, twice captain and Carnegie's most famous player, and Marvin Fox, center. Nease is from Tarentum, Pa., and Fox's home is in Youngstown, O.

A. C. Redding, of Pittsburgh, swimming captain, also goes, and the cross country squad loses Ralph Frank, of Pittsburgh; James Krebs, of Pittsburgh; Hugh Isherwood, of Bellevue, Pa., and Herman Silver, of Philadelphia.

TRACK STARS LOST

Nease, Dreshar, Wilmer Seyboth, of Baden, Pa.; Phil Magnuson, of Jamestown, N. Y., and Elmo Murray, of Huntington, W. Va., represent the track losses. Seyboth is the present holder of the school shot put record, and Nease is a co-holder of the 100-yard dash mark.

Varsity tennis loses only Edwin J. McCloskey, of Beaver, Pa.

ARMOUR WINS BRITISH OPEN

sourian, and Tomasco Genta, the Argentine open champion, 303.

10,000 FOLLOW JURADO

W. H. Davies, British Ryder Cup player, who went around with Jurado and the 10,000 spectators, carded a sub-par 71 for a total of 300 and a tie with Churio for seventh place.

Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot maker from New York, lost his bag of tricks and needed an 81 for 308.

The championship was a bitter disappointment to British golf. None of Britain's touted stars finished anywhere near the head of the list. Percy Alliss, wandering British professional now at the Berlin club, was Britain's sole representative below the 300 line.

Henry Cotton, one of Britain's chief hopes, wound up in the ruck with a grand total of 302. Archie Compston, another of England's star performers, was even further back at the finish, with 309 on his card.

The final 72-hole totals:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Tommy Armour, U. S. A. | 225- | 71- | 296 |
| Henry Cotton, Great Britain | 226- | 76- | 302 |
| Percy Alliss, Germany | 225- | 73- | 298 |
| Abe Mitchell, Great Britain | 228- | 75- | 303 |
| Horton Smith, United States | | 75- | 303 |

N. B. F. HOLDS CONFAB

CLEVELAND, June 5.—The National Baseball Federation is meeting here today. William S. Haddock is the Pittsburgh district delegate.

MEET AT CRAFTON

A track and field meet for all of the Crafton schools is scheduled on the Crafton athletic field, Steuben street, this evening.

STARS IN SCHOLASTIC MEET

MORMAN, PEABODY, WINNING FAST HURDLES RACE

Morman, the best of the local scholastic hurdlers, capturing the 120-yard low event. He was clocked at 14.1. Left to right in the picture are Mercer, Peabody; Metcalfe, Peabody; Mahan, Schenley; Thomas, Schenley; Koehler, Carrick, and Morman.

MILE WINNER

Musico, Langley, winning the mile run in the annual city scholastic track and field meet at Schenley Oval.

CIVICS CHECK LOOP LEADERS

The North Side Civics, who seem to have taken a new lease on life, added another victim to their growing list in the City League last evening when they defeated the league leaders, Homewood, 6 to 3. Gus Otey had the best of Quigley and Steele in a pitchers' duel.

Book Shoe added further to the woes of the North Side Bucks, serving them a 5-to-2 defeat.

In the C. and I. League, the Rieck-McJunkin nine blanked the Champion Coalers, 4 to 0. Reliance Life upset the Griffins, 10 to 3, and the Homestead Aces blanked the Martins, 9 to 0, in the West Penn League.

The Wally Smiths tied with North Bessemer, 2-2, and Jenkins walloped Whitaker, 7-0, in the Greater Pittsburgh loop. Jena downed the Becks, 12-6, in the North-South circuit and the McGraths downed the Rhynes, 7 to 2, in the Central League.

In the Monon Valley loop, Speers trimmed Charleroi's Robins, 5 to 2, and Daisytown nosed out California, 3 to 2.

Redman starred as Colonian Supply won its third straight game at the expense of Colonial Biscuit, 10 to 5.

WESTINGHOUSE TEAMS WIN

Paced by the versatile Roscoe Fleming, who captured three first places and aided materially in the winning of another, Westinghouse High School's senior track and field team won the city championship in the annual meet at Schenley Oval yesterday afternoon.

In the junior division, Westinghouse was again triumphant and the Westinghouse junior girls' squad tied for honors on the Schenley High School athletic field with Herron Hill, making it a great afternoon for Westinghouse.

PEABODY SECOND

Peabody placed second in the senior boys' competition, Westinghouse totaled 67 2-3 points, with Peabody registering 62½. Schenley was next with 15; Oliver scored 12½; Allderdice, 10½; Fifth Avenue, 8; Carrick, 7½; Perry, 5½; Somers, 5, and South Hills, ½.

In the junior division, Westinghouse rang up 29; Oliver, 19; Herron Hill, 11½; Carrick, 8½; Liberty and Somers, 7 each; Fifth Avenue, 5; Baxter and South, 4, and Peabody and Perry, 2 each.

South Hills led the senior girls with 33. Westinghouse totaled 24; Schenley, 19; Allderdice, 18; Carrick and Langley, 13, and Peabody, 8. In the juniors, Westinghouse and Herron Hill each had 27; Baxter, 11; Allderdice, 10; Langley and Latimer, 8, and Liberty and Oliver, 5.

FLEMING STARS

Fleming won the 100, 440 and the broad jump and ran as anchor man on the victorious Westinghouse mile relay team. Three new records were established, the Westinghouse 125-pound 880-yard relay team covering the distance in 1:39.3. Oliver junior quarter-mile relay four hanging up a mark of :48.3, and Manaca, of Westinghouse, heaving the eight-pound shot 47 feet 4 inches.

Irving Morman, of Peabody, state hurdle champion, won the 120-yard low hurdles in :14.1. Binstock, of Peabody, after running second to Fleming in the century, captured the 220 in :23.2.

Four new girls' records were recorded. Schenley ran the 315-yard shuttle relay in 40 seconds, to chop four-fifths of a second off the former record. Westinghouse cut the junior shuttle relay one second with a mark of :29 2-5. Miss Haygood, of Herron Hill, boosted the broad jump mark of the junior high teams to 7 feet 11½ inches. In the senior broad jump Miss Bruene, of South Hills, established a new mark of 8 feet 3 inches.

Bowen to Fly East Today For Meet

R. F. (Pete) Bowen, former Pitt quarter-mile star, will leave by airplane today for New York, where tomorrow he will run for for the N. Y. A. C. in a meet at Travers Island.

Bowen is a former A. A. U. 440-yard champion and won the N. C. A. A. title in the same event last year at Chicago.

ENGLISH CUP STARS WIN

EASTBOURNE, England, June 5.—(AP.)—England's young tennis hopefuls, H. W. (Bunny) Austin and Fred Perry, yesterday won the first two singles matches of the Davis Cup series with South Africa.

Austin defeated V. G. Kirby in a hard-fought five set match, 6-2, 6-8, 2-6, 10-8, 6-3, while Perry ran over N. G. Farquharson, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

TITANS NAME FINDLAY

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., June 5.—Members of the varsity tennis team at Westminster College have elected Harold Findlay, Ben Avon, captain for the coming year. Findlay, a junior, has played three years on the Titan racquet team.

Long's Sport Comment

the Browns. In tying Grove and Brandt by winning his eighth straight yesterday, George Earnshaw pitched the Macks to their twenty-fourth victory in their last 27 games.

NATURALLY, THE EIGHTH-ROUND knockout suffered by Buck McTiernan at the hands of Ignacio Ara, Spanish battler, in the former's New York debut last night caused a lot of gloom among the followers of the Swissvale man, but it doesn't necessarily follow that McTiernan's career is ruined.

Many another fighter has been knocked out in his early attempts to break into big time and yet has battled his way to the top later. Jack Dempsey, Jack Johnson, Benny Leonard and Harry Greb are only a few of them. McTiernan has considerable climbing to do over again, but there is no good reason why he should not accomplish it if he shows the right spirit.

BY VIRTUE OF the decision which he gained over Ben Jeby by a narrow margin last night, Vince Dundee will now be ranked as having first right to meet Mickey Walker for the middleweight championship. But first they'll have to find a way to make Walker defend the title, and that doesn't promise to be easy.

The fact that Dundee and Jeby were selected as the top-ranking candidates for the 160-pound crown shows a queer change in that division in half a year. Only six months ago Dundee, who looked like anything but a world beater in his Pittsburgh appearance, was rated ninth among the middleweights, and Jeby wasn't even mentioned. The quality of the present-day bidders for the crown he used to wear is enough to make old Bob Fitzsimmons turn over in his grave.

Helena Case

THE SCHOOLS OF Ogden, Utah, have in Miss Helena Case the only woman athletic director in the country whose supervision extends over the activities of both sexes. Among other things she is credited with the athletic development of Antone Poloni, who recently annexed the lightweight amateur boxing championship. Miss Case coached Poloni in basketball, baseball and other sports and laid the foundation for the physical equipment that eventually carried him to the top in the non-professional division of the glove game. But Poloni is only one of her athletic products. She has been coaching 12 years and has seen many of her pupils win high honors in the various branches of sport.

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

Rain last night caused the first postponement of the outdoor boxing season in the Pittsburgh district, putting over the Tony Herrera-Eddie Anderson show at Hickey Park, Millvale, until tonight.

The rain did not come until a few hours before ringtime for the opening bout and for a time gave promise of letting up, but when, instead, it increased in volume, the club announced that it would take no chance on interference and posted the 24-hour postponement.

All of the bouts will go on as per schedule. The boxers weighed in at 3 p. m. yesterday, and all were reported in good condition.

BOXERS WEIGH IN

Herrera scaled 136½ pounds and Anderson 138. Frankie Bojorski, of Erie, weighed 133¼ pounds and Angelo Vergona, of Swissvale, 131, for the eight-round semi-final; Don Frazier, 130, and Al Farone, 131, for the second bout, and Floyd Jennings, 124½, and Al Rettinger, 125¼, for the opener.

Between Rounds

Joey Spiegel, Pittsburgh southpaw, wants to fight Marty Gornick, Whitaker star, and a pairing between them shapes up as a good one.

Baby Joe Gans and Jackie Brady both will arrive here in time to work out on Sunday for their 10-round windup battle in the Meyers Bowl the following night. Both are good punchers and the match has a knockout appeal for the fans.

Tiny Roebuck, the Indian wrestler, who meets Vanka Zelezniak, the Russian, in the main bout of the show at Hickey Park, Millvale, next Tuesday night, is a former college football player and heavyweight boxer. He is noted for his ferocity in action.

Eddie Brannon, local Negro lightweight, boxes Harry Devine and Larry Madge, Cleveland welterweight, engages Eddie Williams in 10-round bouts in Erie tonight. Both Devine and Williams hail from Worcester, Mass.

Young Rudy, of Charleroi, and Red Isle, of Akron, who recently fought a close battle in East Liverpool, O., will box the eight-round semi-final to the Frankie Genaro-Jimmy Thomas non-title battle at Hickey Park, Millvale, next Thursday night. Nordi Smith, Negro middleweight, formerly of Newark, O., and Nicky Hughes, of the North Side, are in the second bout, and Young Bordell, of New Kensington, and Steve Senich, of Homestead, have been signed for the opener.

Woods Run School Wins Track Honors

The Woods Run School sixth grade athletes were the winners of the North Side District meet, staged at the Oliver High School field, with a total of 50.5 points. Horace Mann was second, with 35 points, and Crowley third, with 33 points. Other schools finished in the following order:

Manchester, 25; Linwood, 18; Chatham, 17; Lockhart, 6.2; Halls Grove, 13.5; East Park, 12; Fineview, 12; Daniel Webster, 11; Clayton, 9; Schiller, 9; Columbus, 8.2; Spring Garden, 8.2; East Street, 6, and Spring Hill, 1.

JOHNNIES LOSE TO BECKLEY

Rain did its best to spoil yesterday's Middle Atlantic League card, but the best it could do was to ruin four of the six games.

Beckley walloped Johnstown, 15 to 5. The Johnnies had a poor day in the field, committing six miscues. Jennings was touched for a dozen hits, but kept them scattered.

At Huntington, the Clarksburg Generals dropped a 7-to-5 decision, four errors playing a conspicuous part in the defeat. Hardway went the route for Huntington.

Release of Fred Bonker and Irving Cohen, pitchers, and John Stetz, catcher, was announced by Manager Danny Tapson, of Wheeling.

Tapson said that Catcher Joe Hemsley, sold by Wheeling to Huntington at the star of the season, and later released by the Boosters, has returned to the Stogies, and that two new pitchers—Dick Case, formerly with Buffalo, of the International League, and Bill Coleman, sandlotter, of Camden, N. J.—would arrive here today.

BOXER KILLED

BOSTON, June 5.—(AP.)—John J. Holland, of Beverly, a welterweight boxer, died in the Haymarket Relief Hospital last night after a freight train had run over him, amputating both legs. Police said Holland was underneath a car at Long Wharf and was pinned when the train started.

ST. JOACHIM TO AFFORD ACES TEST

By TOM BIRKS

Headed by the Book Shoe-Homewood battle in the City League, fans in the district have another banner card of sandlot games on tap. Many of the battles bring together the leading clubs, and there is the possibility that the leadership of a couple of loops may change hands.

The presence of Book Shoe at Homewood can be depended upon to pack the East End stands. The last meeting between the clubs found Carl Stewart and Chuck Dunn staging a hurlers' duel to wind up with a 4-4 tie. At Dormont, the North Side Civics will meet the South Hills club.

Two games will be played in the West Penn loop. Turtle Creek Community Builders will visit Linwood, and Jack Fertig will have a real fight on his hands at Moultrie Park when Mike Kudrau throws St. Joachim at the league leaders.

Dormont will present one of the strongest clubs ever to oppose the Homestead Grays at Forbes Field tomorrow evening. The fact that Wilbur Cooper will perform on Fogerty Knoll should pack in the cash customers.

Heinie Boll, Homewood captain, will be playing third base, and Harry Geisler will be covering the short field.

The Homestead Grays and the North Side Buicks meet on the North Side and Verona Community plays a benefit game with the Murs at Verona in other games this evening.

A'S, SENATORS WIN; BRUINS TOP ROBINS

Associated Press.

The Cleveland Indians, at least, have enjoyed the satisfaction of keeping the remainder of the American League guessing. It is difficult to tell whether they are the best club in the junior circuit or the worst. They insist on resembling one or the other by turns.

Roger Peckinpaugh's mysterious men started like world beaters, winning nine of their first 12 engagements. Then, with little or no warning, they turned in and lost 14 of their next 15. Just now they are in the midst of another winning spurt that has reached 10 straight and carried them back into the first division, only a game behind the third-place Yankees.

FERRELL VICTOR

Wes Ferrell, apparently fully recovered from the jinx that trailed him after his no-hit performance a month ago, held Boston to eight scattered hits yesterday as the Tribe made it three straight over the Red Sox, 10 to 2.

The leading Athletics and second place Washington Senators kept pace by continuing their slaughter of the visiting western clubs. Philadelphia, with George Earnshaw pitching three-hit ball, took its third from the White Sox, 4 to 1, and General Alvin Crowder pitched the Senators to a 5-to-1 victory over Detroit. It was Earnshaw's eighth win in a row.

The St. Louis Browns jumped on Charlie Ruffing for seven runs in the first four innings to make it two straight from the Yankees, 8 to 6.

PIRATES BEAT BRAVES

Pittsburgh and Boston supplied the day's thriller in the National, battling for 13 innings before the Pirates squeezed out a 2-to-1 triumph. Ray Moss, recently purchased from Brooklyn, held the Pirates scoreless until the last of the ninth, when they tied the count.

Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler, Chicago outfielder, cracked one into the bleachers in the last of the ninth with one on to give the Cubs their second straight over Brooklyn, 6 to 4. Hack Wilson looked like his old self as he hit his third homer of the year, singled, drew a walk and scored the first three Cubs runs.

HALLAHAN WINS

The Cardinals stretched their lead to two and a half games again by nosing out the Giants, 6 to 5. Bill Hallahan, pitching his first full game of the year, got the decision over Carl Hubbell.

After allowing only four hits for seven innings, Ray Benge, of the Phillies, blew up in the eighth and Cincinnati scored four runs to make it two straight, 5 to 2. Pinky Whitney, Phillie third baseman, hit safely in his eighteenth consecutive game.

Fight Results

At New York—Vince Dundee defeated Ben Jeby, 10 rounds; Ignacio Ara knocked out Buck McTiernan, 8 rounds; Jack Hoeberg defeated Vittorio Luvan, 8 rounds; Kid Whalen defeated Larry Maranucci, 10 rounds.

At Flint, Mich.—Lou Scozza defeated Roy Williams, 10 rounds; Freddie Heinz knocked out Bertie Mott, 2 rounds.

At Milwaukee—Harry Lubinsky defeated Mickey Cohen, 10 rounds; Frank Battaglia knocked out Ray Trambie, 4 rounds; Sam Levine knocked out Johnny Lombardo, 1 round.

LONDOS VICTOR

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—Jim Londos retained his world's championship wrestling title last night when he won from Rudy Dusek, of Nebraska. He triumphed after one fall in 58 minutes. A crowd of 10,000 saw the match at Griffith Stadium.

WASHINGTON PARK MUTUELS

CHICAGO, June 5.—(Special.)—The mutuels on the seven races at the Washington Park track yesterday paid a total of $270.16.

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

Nick Altrock

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Boston is sure lucky this season. First, a Boston milkman cops a $25,000 cigaret contest prize. Then a Boston sailor lands first money in the Derby sweepstakes. If Boston's luck is going to run in threes you may even see the Red Sox win the pennant. Although in third place, the Yankees are outdrawing all the other teams. It means that even when Babe Ruth is only the jack or ten spot of home run hitters, folks would still rather look at him than Connie Mack's pat hand. The only reason our Washington club isn't busting attendance records is that all the Congressmen went home and we took a big drop in free admissions.

BUCS, BRAVES END SERIES

just as cleverly as did the skillful starters.

The long contest also saw the induction of Catcher Earl Grace, who recently came to the Pirates in the deal that sent Rolly Hemsley to the Cubs. Gus Suhr batted for Eddie Phillips in the ninth with the bases loaded and one out and one run needed to deadlock. Gus drove in the needed tally and Grace then took his place behind the bat. In his first appearance at the plate he singled to open the twelfth round, but he was left on the sacks.

PAUL SAVES GAME

With the aid of Paul Waner, Grace saved the game in the first half of the twelfth. Haid opened this round with a single and Harold was on second with two out when Red Worthington singled to right. Brother Paul whipped the ball to Grace, who had to work fast to get in the path of Haid who was carrying the important run. The tall pitcher was cut down.

Oakland Bill Regan unloaded a resentful single to break up the party in the thirteenth. P. Waner was the first Pirate up in the inning and Haid was working so closely on the good hitter he hit Paul with a pitch. Capt. Traynor promptly sacrificed and Skipper Bill ordered an intentional pass for George Grantham, who was a batting hero of the game. Regan measured a Haid pitch beautifully and as the line drive found a hole in center, Brother Paul whirled over the plate.

MOSS HURLS WELL

Moss shut the door in the faces of the Pirates through eight rounds. He was nursing his one-run lead as P. Waner came up to pry off the ninth. Ray was trying to make Paul hit an inside pitch, but he got his offerings so far on the inside they were balls. Paul stood by as he saw three close ones and a high pitch flash by and scampered to first.

McKechnie thought Moss was losing his control and Ben Cantwell rushed in. Traynor's bunt looked like a foul, but it stayed inside the white marker and when Neun made a hurried throw to Maguire the ball rolled up Freddie's sleeve. So both runners were safe and Grantham sacrificed. Regan was purposely passed and Suhr batted for Phillips. Haid came in to pitch to Gus and the benched first baseman clouted a long fly to Schulmerich that gave Brother Paul a passport to the plate. The Braves made their lone run in the fourth on a single by Berger, a force play, Sheely's hit and a scratch hit by Schulmerich.

Adam Comorosky, who also has been in a batting slump, was benched, in favor of Bennett.

M'TIERNAN STOPPED BY SPANIARD

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Vince Dundee, dogged workman from Baltimore, punched his way to the top of the working middleweights last night by winning a close decision from Ben Jeby, youthful but inexperienced New Yorker.

With Mickey Walker, the titleholder, in retirement as far as the middleweights are concerned, Dundee and the persistent youngster, who was fighting preliminaries a year ago, battled for possible recognition in this state as new champion. It was a savage duel in spots, but Dundee's experience, strength and better generalship caught the eyes of the two judges, while Referee Jack O'Sullivan voted for Jeby.

Ignacio Ara, Spanish middleweight, knocked out Buck McTiernan, of Pittsburgh, in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round semi-final bout.

McTiernan had all the better of the going until he was floored by a sudden right near the end of the seventh. Two rights to the chin put Buck down again as the eighth started and one more finished him. The eighth round lasted 37 seconds.

KISKI WINS CONFERENCE GOLF TITLE

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

The C. E. Lott trophy, emblematic of the championship of the Interscholastic Golf Conference, rests in the trophy case at Kiski Prep today, following the Kiski squad's decisive triumph over McKeesport High School in the playoff match yesterday for the Conference title.

Kiski, unbeaten in its section schedule, walloped the Tubers, 22 to 2, with Capt. Billy Marks showing the way with a medal score of 74. The match was played at Alcoma.

By crushing McKeesport so decisively, the Preppers ran their point total for the season to 141, against 10 scored by their opponents in six matches. Only Snedden and Drago were able to score against the crack Kiski shots yesterday.

Capt. Marks, who will enter Princeton next fall, had rounds of 36 and 38 for his 74. His younger brother, J. L., Jr., had a 79.

McKeesport and Shady Side Academy, are playing this afternoon at the Youghiogheny Country Club for second place in the Conference.

While the school boys were playing, Art Snyder, Alcoma greenkeeper, set a new course record with a 32-33—65. He was playing with T. J. Danner. Par for the course is 72. Yesterday's scores:

| KISKI. | | McKEESPORT. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| B. Marks | 3 | Gamble | 0 |
| Mercer | 3 | Bennett | 0 |
| Newman | 2 | Snedden | 1 |

Star Graduates, Then Announces Marriage

VILLANOVA, Pa., June 5.—(AP.)—James J. McLaughlin, quarterback of the Villanova College football team for three years, said yesterday that he had married Miss Edna C. Walker two years ago but that the marriage had been kept secret.

He told of the ceremony after he had been graduated from Villanova, whose rules forbid undergraduates to wed.

U. S. C. CHOICE TO WIN TEAM HONORS

CHICAGO, June 5.—(AP.)—Qualifying trials in all except four events will open the tenth renewal of the National Collegiate Association's track and field championships this afternoon at Stagg Field.

More than 350 stars from 78 institutions are entered in the final, and probably the stiffest, competition intercollegiate track offers this season, with Southern California's great band the favorite to do just as it has done in other tests—mop up the field.

Seven defending champions, headed by Frank Wykoff, of Southern California, are entered, and competition is expected to be red hot in every test. Wykoff will attempt to repeat his sensational victory of last year in the 100-yard dash, and his teammate, James Stewart, will try for another high jump title.

DONOHUE SOLD

MINNEAPOLIS, June 5.—(AP.)—Purchase of Pete Donohue, New York Giant pitcher, was announced yesterday by the Minneapolis American Association club. Donohue, in the National League 10 years, will join the Millers soon at Kansas City.

GUM

but TYDOL Gasolines are 99 28/100% Gum-Free

Why TYDOL Gasolines are 99 28/100% Gum-Free

1. SELECTED CRUDES
Crudes selected for their cleanliness are "multi-fractionated" by super-refining equipment costing millions.
2. "GUM-TAPPED"
In towering fractionation stills of the most advanced type, the gum-carrying gasoline is drawn off for re-distillation.
3. GUM-FREE BLENDING
Exclusive, secret blend of gum-free gasolines creates the super-power, high-test, anti-knock qualities of Hi-test TYDOL.

Gum puts teeth in carbon, makes it abrasive, makes it flint-hard.

Gum sneaks into feed lines, clogs carburetor nozzles, sticks valves.

Gum-carrying gasolines are far from uncommon. But wherever you drive, you can buy TYDOL Gasolines with absolute safety.

They are actually 99 28/100% gum-free.

Tide Water spent millions for new refining equipment that gives them extra power. Surprisingly long mileage. And the lowest anti-knock rating consistent with purity.

STOCK MARKET SHOWS FIRM UNDERTONE

List Displays No Hurry To Alter Trend Despite Resistance to Advances

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—The stock market extended its gains today, but encountered considerable profit-taking on the rise.

Trading tended to follow yesterday's pattern. Prices reacted moderately in the early transactions as realizing appeared but the list started upward when another spurt developed in the railroad group. Although resistance to the rally became fairly pronounced by early afternoon the market seemed to be in no hurry about reversing its trend and displayed a firm undertone under drives by shorts and offerings by traders who had been following the line of least resistance for a turn. However, activity slackened when the market eased.

Shares of leading railroads moved up vigorously. U. S. Steel advanced 2 points.

Trade news offered little or no support to the rally, but the market was threatened in the meeting of eastern railroad executives called for the afternoon to consider further the plan for an upward revision of freight rates.

Brokerage houses took varied views on the stock market's sudden outburst of strength, but it was conceded that the longer the rally lasted the more important would be its effect on confidence. Numerous followers of trade trends have pointed out that the extreme pessimism prevailing recently was dampening business sentiment and holding back consumptive demand, so that a turn in security prices, especially share values, was much to be desired. The real test of the market will come when the edge of the heavy short covering wave has been dulled.

The visit of the German statesmen to England will be closely watched in Wall street. Certain situations in Europe have caused some concern, although the strong support placed behind the Austrian Kredit Anstalt in its recent difficulties has done much to relieve uneasiness.

The background of the commodity markets seems to be little changed. In the case of copper, a rather large increase in stocks during May is expected when the monthly report comes out soon.

One encouraging bit of information on commodity prices was the announcement that steel scrap quotations at Youngstown had stopped declining after shading off for several successive weeks.

Money was dull and call loans were available at the familiar rates.

Foreign Demand For Copper Good

NEW YORK, June 5.—Buying of copper is good on foreign account, but small on domestic. There is a large demand for copper at 8 cents a pound delivered. As a result of good foreign sales and the good inquiry at 8 cents in the domestic market no copper is available under 8 1/4 cents delivered.

Macauley Urges Trade Co-operation

Spanish Decree On Security Buying

PARIS, June 5.—A new Spanish government decree forbids the purchase or sale of international securities by Spanish investors if the quotation exceeds by 2 per cent the equivalent in pesetas at the moment of the transaction.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, June 5.—Canadian reports of sprouted wheat dying from drought led to higher grain prices today after an irregular start ascribed to stock market unsettlement. No adequate moisture relief was reported either north or south of the Canadian boundary. Opening at 1/4 cent decline to 3/8 advance, wheat later rose all around. Corn started unchanged to 3/8 lower and subsequently rallied.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Raw sugar was firmer early today and prices advanced 5 points with refiners interested in futures, showing more interest, while offerings were comparatively light. The sales confirmed included 20,000 tons of Cubas for June shipment, late yesterday, to an operator at 3.24 and the nominal 28,700 tons of Porto Ricans sold to an outport refiner at 3.25.

Beginning tomorrow, all departments of the stock market will be closed on Saturdays during the months of June, July, August and September.

Kroger Sales Volume Favorable for May, Report Shows

Sales of Kroger for the four weeks ended May 23 made a favorable showing, with a decrease of only 1-10 of 1 per cent as compared with the 1930 period. In recent periods the company has been showing some success in catching up with last year's volume. Increased significance was attached to the latest figures because the number of stores in operation was 313 fewer than in the 1930 period.

Inquiry made by some interests in quarters close to National Dairy Products indicate that the recent liquidation in the stock came from shareholders of smaller merger units for which National stock was exchanged. The sharp decline in the stock is believed to have increased the supply from these sources.

In the past few days some interests have been calling attention to Brooklyn Union Gas. This stock has suffered from necessitous selling, but the position of the company and its merger possibilities prompted observers to recommend scale purchases on any further reaction. Reports have it that close to 25 per cent of the issue is owned by the Koppers interests, who are affiliated with the Mellon group. The company is earning at a rate about 50 per cent in excess of its $5 dividend rate, which is a better showing than most utilities are making.

Because of its key position in any complete consolidation of public utilities on the eastern seaboard, United Gas Improvement is one of the low-priced utilities favored by many for its long pull possibilities. Some of the railroads in the company's territory are electrifying their lines and this should bring a good demand for power to the organization. Dividends are paid at the rate of $1.20 annually. First quarter earnings equaled 41 cents a share. For 1930, the company reported $1.46 as compared with $1.54 in the preceding 12 months.

A good many in the street are wondering just what part the questionnaire dispatched by the stock exchange the beginning of last week may have played in bringing about the spectacular rally in the share list. It was just a week ago Monday that the request for information on short sales and the names of the makers went out. True the matter had been more or less forgotten when the market suddenly turned Wednesday, but the action of the list since then has aroused renewed interest in that phase of the situation. It would be interesting at least to know what the data since coming in daily has revealed.

Colgate-Palmolive-Peet is in a strong financial position. At the end of last year current assets were $35,881,173 and current liabilities were only $5,932,707, indicating a working capital in excess of $29,900,000, or $2,600,000 increase over the total on December 31, 1929. It is stated that there has been a good demand for the company's products this year so far with the volume and earnings running at least as good as they did in 1930.

Flour Production Off, Survey Shows

NEW YORK, June 5.—Production of flour in principal milling sections of the country, representing approximately 90 per cent of the mills, totaled 70,904,218 barrels in the period from June 1, 1930, to May 29, last, a decrease of 3.4 per cent from the similar period a year earlier, according to General Mills, Inc. In the four weeks ended May 29, last, production amounted to 5,157,543 barrels, against 5,870,128 in the corresponding period a year ago, a decrease of 12 per cent.

Coast Financier Buys Bank Assets

KANSAS CITY, June 5.—(AP.)—The assets of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank have been sold at auction for $26,750,000 to A. C. Stewart, Pacific coast financier, and his associates.

The Phoenix Joint Stock Land Bank will succeed the institution, which was placed in receivership in 1927 with the filing of government charges of mismanagement against its head, Walter Cravens.

New Firm to Make Kolster Radios

NEW YORK, June 5.—Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company owns controlling interest in Orange Securities Corporation, which recently purchased the assets of Kolster Radio Corporation, which controls Federal Telegraph Company. A new Kolster company has been formed to manufacture radio sets.

Boeing Gets Order For Navy Planes

NEW YORK, June 5.—Boeing Airplane Company, subsidiary of United Aircraft and Transport Corporation, has received an order from the Navy for 30 Wasp-powered fighting planes at $494,415. The company's factory has a 1931 military production program of 165 complete airplanes plus spare parts.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Speculative interest in curb stocks waned today. After advancing steadily for two days pivotal shares idled, fluctuating in a narrow groove as trading slumped to the smallest volume of the week.

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded. 000 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list:

STOCKS FIRMED BY POWERS THAT BE

Violence of Stock Upswing Commensurate With Recent Excesses of Selling

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service

NEW YORK, June 5.—The violence of the rally in stock prices has been commensurate with the recent excesses on the selling side.

The mechanical character of the upturn was emphasized by the leadership of stocks in which short selling had been the heaviest.

When it became evident recently that stock prices were reflecting hysterical emotions rather than economic realities, the powers that be, in Wall street, who had long been dormant, mobilized their bag of tricks for stemming the tide of liquidation. In the first place, the New York Stock Exchange last week began asking member houses for daily reports on their short position, thus seeking to discourage questionable raiding tactics.

Mr. Rukeyser

MARGINS CUT

Then this week, leading New York banks in effect expressed their confidence in the stock price level by cutting margin requirements on brokers' loans from 25 to 20 per cent.

A similar pair of maneuvers in November, 1929, likewise turned the tide. These simple remedies, to be effective, must, of course, be timed when market conditions are ripe. The guardians of the financial institutions cannot pull the strings at will, irrespective of conditions.

As a matter of fact, it is good banking to cut down requirements when securities and commodities are cheap, and to raise them when securities and commodities are dear. This applies not only to margins, but also to ratios of quick assets to quick liabilities. It is safe for banks to accept a lower ratio on the part of business borrowers after the event of deflation. As a matter of fact, many blundering bankers have been slow of late to recognize that business can be transmitted with relatively great safety at present deflated levels. The time to have been scared and cautious was when prices were near the peak. With deflation to a very large extent already behind us, this is a time for the spirit of enterprise and courage.

MERGER ALLOWED

The bull maneuver in Wall Street was, of course, favored by the coincidental announcement by the Department of Justice that it would no longer carry on its case to prevent the merger of Standard Oil Company of New York with the Vacuum Oil Company. The incident was construed optimistically because it was interpreted as indicative of the administration's determination not to interfere unnecessarily with economic new set-ups in industry.

Apart from immediate price swings, the real test of the market will be whether investors are ready and willing to buy Standard stocks at these levels. In the recent hysteria, investors have not only shied at stocks, but have even stayed away from sound second grade bonds.

Can't Stop Hauling Illegal Petroleum

AUSTIN, Tex., June 5. — Attorney General James Allred has informed Gov. Ross Sterling that the railroad commission has no legal power to adopt an order forbidding railroads from transporting oil, illegally produced, that is produced outside of and in defiance of the commission's proration orders.

New Questionnaire Issued by Exchange

NEW YORK, June 5.—The New York Stock Exchange has recalled its questionnaire of May 25 which sought information concerning the short positions of its members and has substituted modified request for similar information.

The former questionnaire required the names of customers of exchange members who had short positions. The new request requires merely the short position in each stock without the names of the customers for whom the short sales were made. It applies to the short positions as the close of business June 4 and daily thereafter.

Parents Shocked by News Of Avery's Death

(This famous story has been made into a talking picture by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with Marion Davies in the leading role.)

CHAPTER XXV.

Three weeks later the Jennys made the trip down from upper Quebec by motor, a second car, containing two personal maids and the lighter luggage following.

A premature burst of spring was already on the heels of a languid winter, so that much of the trip was taken on dry roads and to the first freckling of foliage.

Lovely. Lovely. Lovely. Particularly lovely to a pallid Jennifer, who had a habit nowadays of seeing through a glass not so much darkly, as dimly. Low vitality, her doctors easily termed it. There was no form yet to the leaves, or even color. Just the soft pointed promise of them. Lovely. Lovely. Lovely.

Jenny, whose effort all the way down from Canada had been not to seem too constantly excited, was grateful, too, for the loveliness. It helped to account for the exultant something that kept rising and overflowing in her. Ramon was along!

He had spent two of the three weeks with them in camp. Jennifer had been glad for her mother's sake. Her incredible mother, who could while away time, for want of something better with this boy, pleasant enough timber for an evening's flirtation provided there was plenty of the slow windings of tango music to sustain illusion, but who had actually sufficed to keep her mother amused during all of what might have been the interminable stretches of their stay at camp.

PANGS OF LOVE

Could it be that he was smitten with her mother? The slim thought trailed through her tired mind and petered out as she sat looking out at the flashing of spring . . .

How good her mother had been! How heavenly good! From that strange and terrifying moment when her father had sat looking at her as if his eyes were conflagrations that would leap out in flame over her body, the dearness of Jenny had poured like sweet oil over the terrible burning from those eyes.

The indulgent compassion of this woman where her children were concerned! What if she petted them even more than she pitied or understood them?

"Mother, please, please don't keep on talking. You've said that over and over again. I know you think there are as good fish in the sea as ever came out of it. You've told me. What good does that do me if I don't care what is in the sea? For God's sake, mother, please."

Not even such an outburst could puncture the quality of Jenny's compassion.

"He's not worth the nail of your little finger, much less the mental anguish you are wasting on him."

"I know. I know. I know it all by heart. Only don't keep on saying it, or I'll go screaming mad."

What did Jenny know? Thank God, Jennifer did not know what she knew; but just the same, sitting wrapped in fur, she hugged herself with knowing. What did Jenny know? She knew the torment and the ecstasy of Jennifer, because they were boiling within, too—every one of these precious spring-kissed days and nights.

Upstairs, since they had not troubled to open the men's dormitory-camp in a beautiful old spool bed, Ramon, who had arrived a few days before, was asleep under sheets that she had personally laid out for him; under thick silk puffs that she had personally chosen. There would be the first two crocuses of spring on his breakfast tray that she would journey down to the edge of the wild blue lake to pick. What did the older Jenny know of the excruciating pangs of love? Impudent Jennifer to assume she knew little.

THINKS OF BERRY

"My darling, you are all unnerved——"

"I know I'm your darling, mother, and that I am unnerved, but for God's sake, don't keep telling me about it!"

"My darling, do you know what a serious nervous breakdown you are sure to have if——"

"Pretty question. Oh, no I don't know. I think, instead, that I am lying in the arms of my lover—his lips are soft—"

"Jennifer!"

"Oh, God, mother, I'm flighty! I didn't mean that. I loathe his lips."

"Of course you do, darling. He's a dog. My poor darling!"

"I'm a fine darling."

"I'll get you well, my sweet. You're in a trance of infatuation right now. You can't help it. Mother understands."

Strange words for one Jenny to be using to another.

Scene after scene Jenny had lived through with Jennifer those weeks, walking her through the woods of wild, frozen beauty; through stiff March winds, until their limbs sagged. Spring Jennifer. Exhausting her. Imbuing her with a sense of nausea for the potion she was craving, until the last week of their stay, Jennifer was sleeping through entire nights.

Ecstatic nights for Jenny, wakeful even in her tiredness, as she lay there under the same roof with Ramon.

Riding homeward through the woods that were preening themselves for outburst, the something that Jennifer had promised Jenny was dead within her, began to lift its head.

Through woods of running sap she was riding back to the city that contained Berry! He would be under a roof that was no farther from hers on Fifth avenue than the lake had been from the camp. Berry was at the end of this beautiful trail. Would be within easy telephone call. Within messenger call. Berry! Poor Boy!

INSANITY OF DESIRE

How bewildered he must have been these weeks, since that night she had stood him up as he waited for her in his car at a spot which she had appointed at a west-side gate to the park. The letters she had written him since and never sent! There was one now, tucked on the flesh side of the single little orchid-colored undergarment she wore. The gravitation of the universe was toward Berry—

Jennifer had learned to sleep in camp. That meant Jennifer was coming out of the trance of the infatuation for Berry, who wasn't worth her little fingernail. Jennifer had promised. Darling dumbbell Jenny; when the truth of it was that Jennifer was flying back on purring motors to the land of Berry. He was in New York. Madness of her, to have let them put miles between them. He was in New York—enchanted destination.

It was difficult; it was impossible, sitting up there beside the chauffeur, spinning through spring, to discipline one's thoughts, when the craving set in to see Berry. Just to be with him, to watch the squint come out along the eyelids when he talked; to get the faint cool scent of him; to tremble to his nearness; to withhold the hands from making little curved cups of themselves to inclose his cheeks.

His strong hair that was full of a strange electric life. Berry's life. It was hard to keep down an insanity of desire through the craving and to sit silently beside the chauffer and say to oneself, as a child repeats a catechism: "No-good Berry. Cad. Snide. Here is a man about to be a father. Jennifer, have you no pride? No decencies? No. No. No. And, damn it, I'm glad!"

The days were fiery furnaces of desire for Berry. The nights. The weeks. The ride all the way to New York, hills, dales, mountains, grim-roads and the thick slush of thawing mud was one such fiery furnace.

Thank God, Jenny was content to sit with that beutiful nobody-home of a Ramon there on the back seat and let her be.

At Albany she could already begin to feel, in anticipation, that moment of the rounding of her fingers about the pink-enamel French telephone in her boudoir that would bring Berry's voice to her.

SHOCKING NEWS

Two hours below Albany, Jenny placed her hand in its white crinkled gauntlet, along her daughter's arm.

"Jennifer dear, we'll go down along the West Side, by way of the river drive, so we can drop Ramon at his apartment before we go home."

Damn! Damn! Damn! That would delay them 10 minutes. Her fingers ached for the pink-enameled telephone . . .

On the other hand, to Jenny, the river drive meant a detour, and 10 minutes longer with Ramon.

It was not quite dusk when the car slid up before the doors that had been copied from the Florentine Campanile. A messenger boy was running down the steps.

"Was that telegram for me?" she asked.

"No, madam, for Mr. Rarick."

"Where is he?"

"In his library. Shall I let him know that you have returned?"

"No."

"If you don't mind, mother, I'll rush on up to my rooms to rest—alone—"

"Yes, Jennifer."

For some reason which she was later never able to analyze, Jenny, instead of following Jennifer to the left, and thereby avoiding the chance of an immediate encounter with Rarick, went up by the right of the broad staircase, and, trailing her heavy motor coat back off her shoulders, hurried to the library.

Its beautiful quality of dusk, as she entered, was being rattled into by the mechanical organ, which was repeating the famous "Ah! fors e lui" of Violetta, as if some one had forgotten to turn it off, the stained-glass story of "La Traviata" marching before Rarick, who was seated at the far end of the room in his unicorn chair, a telegram crushed in the hand from which he had just read it.

On one of those flashes out of the blue about which one hears, but which one so seldom sees, Jenny looked at her husband calmly and said, "Avery is dead."

He began to nod his head, regarding her all the while with eyes made out of two white chinies.

She started to laugh. She could not stop. She could not stop, because Rarick, sitting there, could not seem to stop nodding. And, nodding, didn't he look for all the world like the bisque bull that used to stand on the mantelpiece in the pressed-brick house of her parents in St. Louis? It had been a black-and-white china bull, with a head that nodded. Every time there were to be guests, her mother used to tiptoe it just before arrivals and start it nodding.

Rarick, replying to her that Avery was dead, kept on nodding like that bisque bull. . . .

'Five and Ten' Synopsis

John G. Rarick, multi-millionaire chain store operator, buys a magnificent mansion after being urged by his wife, Jenny, and finds himself hating her. This is accentuated by his own inability to get close to Jennifer and Avery, his children. Jenny begins to be intrigued by Ramon Lopez, a gigolo. Avery, a college student, tires of school. Jennifer likes the handsome and rich Berry Rhodes, and Jenny urges her to try to win him. Berry kisses Jennifer while taking her to one of Leslie Edgerton's parties. Jennifer learns that Berry and Leslie had been married secretly. Ramon, saying that he has been neglecting his work to see Jenny, gets money from her. Rarick rushes to Jenny's boudoir after receiving a disturbing letter. The letter says that Jennifer is still seeing Berry. Jennifer says that she does not want to see him again. Jenny plans to go to Canada with her. Gerkes surprises Rarick by saying that he is going to marry an Eskimo and live in Alaska.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Walking Home

(All names of characters in this story are fictitious.)

Egotist Forced to Return To Home Town

"Pearl-gray fedora—checkerboard top coat, orange tie, tan spats, cane—well, well and well—one of the Vanderbilt boys must have strayed into our village!"

Jed Smith drawled this, and the others loafiing with him on the postoffice porch chuckled.

"That's Jim Langdon's boy, from Centerville," Jack Olmstead said. Jack used to be the local stage driver and now his son drives the bus.

"Yeh?" drawled Jed Smith, "well, I swanny. If that's th' sort of men's outfittin's they sell in Centerville I'm downright glad I live here in Holton."

"I heard he was to New York workin' for a while," old Jack said. "I reckon he's sellin' somethin'; sort of turned drummer, but he ain't got no sample cases."

Ferdy Langdon, who was encased in the loud tailorings, went into the Eagle Hotel and reported for work. He had secured the proud position of clerk at the hotel because his father and the owner of the hotel had been old-time friends.

Sheriff Cal Potter strolled into the Eagle Hotel the next day.

"What fur?" Sheriff Potter asked, mildly.

"For room and meals, of course."

"Thanks, son, but I get me plenty of good room and meals over to my house. Where's Bill?"

The proprietor came out then. The sheriff asked permission to put a legal notice up in the office and strolled out."

"He's the sheriff," Ferdy was informed.

"Funny old bird—just like the comic strip pictures of sheriffs," Ferdy answered.

"Cal's a pretty good sheriff," the proprietor informed Ferdy.

And then a girl came into the office.

BEAUTIFUL GIRL

Ferdy hastily smoothed back his shining hair, fixed his tie and smirked at her, twirling the register around and taking the pen from the potato, extended it toward her.

"Has father been in here, Mr. Swain?" she asked, scarcely giving Ferdy a glance.

"Not a minnit ago—probably back in his office by this time, Susan," Proprietor Swain answered.

The girl smiled, thanked him, gave Ferdy one swift comprehensive glance, repressed a desire to grin, and walked out.

Ferdy craned his neck to see her depart. Her sport suit was up-to-the-New-York-minute. Her glorious golden hair was something to make Flo Ziegfeld turn around, ditto her trim ankles, perfect little feet and hint of a perfection of curves.

"Don't tell me," Ferdy gasped, "that she's a native."

"All right," Bill Swain said, dryly, for he held himself to be something of a wag, "I won't tell you—but she is, just the same. She's Sheriff Potter's gal, Susan."

"Ah, our village takes on a new interest. She may be only a sheriff's daughter, but she's good in a pinch."

Ferdy laughed.

Ferdy added the radiance of his sophisticated smirk and his sportive garments to the village. He rapidly became acquainted.

And a great many of the younger lads yearned to become just like Ferd Langdon because he sure wore "swell clothes" and he had worked in New York and met a lot of big people and everything.

As for the young ladies of Holton—well, a feller had to watch out because if Ferd Langdon just smiled at your girl, she forgot all about you!

POPULAR WITH GIRLS

Ferd used to stand in the doorway of the hotel when business was not rushing, which was mostly, and give the passing girls a treat. He had a beaming smile for all of them.

Ferdy Langdon became rather popular with the girls of Holton, except Susan Potter.

Susan couldn't see him.

She would always nod and smile, but it was a queer twist of a smile. She always said, "Hello, Ferrrrrrdy," in such an amused and condescending way that it made him secretly furious.

It got so that the only thing Ferdy wanted to do was to go around with Susan.

He finally decided to buy a car.

He went to Sam Dutton, who had an agency. He ordered the car when the first leaves were budding. It was quite a showy little car, in fact, a sporty model that he selected from one of Sam's catalogs and Sam sent for it.

When it came, Ferdy made his first payment and it left him flat broke.

But he had the car and some new spring clothes and felt that he was conferring a great favor on the Holton people by his permitting them to bask in his effulgence.

Sam Dutton mentioned to Susan Porter that Ferdy Langford had ordered a car.

REMINDED OF PAYMENTS

"Use a knife on his money, Sam," Susan advised, "to make sure it isn't wooden."

"Why—isn't he good for it?"

"I don't know. He's been borrowing right along—and that's between you and me, Sam—I got it by overhearing things from Dad's office."

Sam Dutton and Susan Potter had been good friends for a long while. Sam had been a mighty poor and ragged boy, had left school early, worked hard and within a couple years had so conducted himself as to get backing for his car agency.

At this time he was getting along famously.

Sam wanted to get along famously for another six months when he would be able to marry. And he hoped Susan would have him. He hadn't asked her. He didn't want to do that until he could tell her that he owned his agency, had ample credit and a goodly amount of cash in the bank.

Ferdy was notified when his car arrived. He went over from the hotel in his gayest spring attire, with the first payment money in his pocket, part of which was borrowed.

"Well, payments come on the twentieth," Sam reminded him.

"Let me do the worrying about that," Ferdy said, grandly, and then he added, "I guess I'll drive around and give Susan Potter a treat."

"What sort of a treat?" Sam asked mildly.

"A ride—she's always handed me a sort of come-on-along grin, but I've been too busy to bother much with girls."

He drove around to Susan's home. She thanked him kindly but she didn't care for a ride.

Ferdy was sore. He was telling Vick Hodges about it in the pool parlor at the Eagle Hotel.

"Watch me, Kid—I'll make that little dame before the summer is over," he boasted.

Vick was a flannel-mouth. He told Sam Dutton about it. Sam was going to go over and sock some apologies out of Ferdy, but decided to discuss it with Susan's father first. The old man shook his head.

"Don't mess up none with fools," was his advice.

Potter told Susan and Susan spoke to Sam about it the next time he dropped around at her home.

"Now listen, Sam—don't get hot under the collar. Wait a while—I may take a ride with Ferdy yet, we'll see."

STARTS ARGUMENT

They talked about this occasionally.

The time ran on until August. Ferdy kept pestering Susan to have a ride with him. Finally she consented.

Ferdy drove her through the main street to show off, and out into the country. Ferdy stopped at Maple Grove, about 11 miles from Holton. He began to get too demonstrative.

"Well, hop out," Susan said.

She suddenly displayed the badge of a deputy sheriff. She had been appointed, that morning, by her father. She handed Ferdy a paper and then she said, quietly, "Do I have to pull a gun on you and bring you back to the village hoosgow, Ferdy, or do you get out and walk? I have repossessed this car because you have made only the initial payment."

Ferdy looked at her, started to speak, hesitated and then Susan said, "If I were you I'd walk to another town and start all over again and I wouldn't boast openly that I intended to make any particular girl—is that clear to you?"

Ferdy started to argue.

Sam Dutton, who had been trailing, drove alongside.

Ferdy walked home—not back to Holton, but home to Centerville.

He never even acknowledged the announcement of Susan and Sam's wedding.

"Get Your Man" Slogan of Secret Government Agents

Having failed to trap Alfonso Capone on charges of parking too near a fire plug, federal income tax sleuths are said to be planning a drastic summer campaign. Police dogs will be used to run away with Capone's clothes the moment he goes swimming in Lake Michigan. The clothes will then be carefully searched, and if the money in the pockets justifies such action, new charges of evading income tax returns will be filed in an old tin can and placed in the cornerstone of one of the proposed World's Fair building.

Pennsylvania as a Cow

The State Is Fed in Pittsburgh and Milked Elsewhere, as Auditor General's Figures Show.

Pennsylvania was once likened in a public address to a cow, with the head in Allegheny County and the udder in the eastern section. The speaker thus called attention to the fact that while Western Pennsylvania fed the animal with heavy tax payments, the milk, in the form of state disbursements for one purpose or another, was drawn elsewhere.

There is a reminder of the simile in Auditor General Charles A. Waters' report, showing that while Allegheny County contributed in state revenues last year $18.09 for each man, woman and child, one of the highest per capita contributions made, it received from the state through appropriations only $4.83 per capita, the smallest amount disbursed to any county. How small it was can be judged from the fact that Montour County received $70.72, and a number of other counties $50 or more.

Allegheny County pays for state road improvements and for schools and welfare institutions in other parts of Pennsylvania, but is expected to provide its own institutions and make its own improvements, and not look to the state to furnish them.

Mr. Waters' figures provide an excellent argument for the return to Pittsburgh and Allegheny County of a part, at least, of the huge sums that its citizens contribute to the state in gasoline and automobile license taxes.

State Forest Purchases

Western Pennsylvania Must Not Be Overlooked in Adding To Our Timberland Reserves.

Gov. Pinchot was criticized during the campaign last year because, during his first term as governor, the state added no land to its forest reserves.

No forest lands were bought because Pinchot found the Commonwealth at that time in bad financial condition and ordered strict economy. Furthermore, there was pending, in the form of a constitutional amendment, a proposal that $25,000,000 of bonds be issued for the purpose of buying 5,000,000 acres of mountain land for re-forestation.

The people having defeated the bond issue, the policy of adding to the forest reserves, a little at a time, was resumed.

It is gratifying to note that the second Pinchot administration has found it possible and advisable to continue the policy.

Purchases of about 18,000 acres of forest land in Lycoming, Tioga, Cumberland and Clinton counties are announced. The maximum price paid was $3.50 an acre.

Western Pennsylvania has fared badly in the establishment of state forests. All but a comparatively small part of the Commonwealth's timberlands lie in the Central and Eastern parts of the state.

Western Pennsylvania needs state forests, too.

Food and Autos

They Are the Items in Our Retail Trade on Which Pittsburghers Spend Most Money.

There are some interesting bits of information in the Census Bureau's report on Pittsburgh's retail trade in 1930.

Food is the item on which we spend most money. Our food stores number 4,227, out of a total 8,624 retail stores of all kinds, and report annual sales of $102,721,510, or 23 per cent of the total retail business.

Sales of the food group are exceeded by those of the department stores, the five-and-tens, and other shops dealing in general merchandise.

The item in retail trade on which we spend most money, after food, is automobiles. Our 686 establishments dealing in motor cars and accessories report sales of $61,369,124, or 14 per cent of the total retail business.

Such sales, in a period of industrial depression, prove the automobile, so far as Pittsburgh is concerned, is not a luxury but a necessity.

Unsafe and Insanitary

Numerous Houses Require the Attention of the Building Inspection Bureau.

The need of the clean-up campaign advocated by the Sun-Telegraph as a plan to make Pittsburgh more attractive and at the same time furnish work for some of the unemployed is emphasized by the report of Director Maits, of the Health Department, on dwellings that his inspectors have found unfit for habitation.

Dr. Maits states that there are 246 such structures in the city. Some are dangerous because they are almost ready to collapse. Others are a menace to health because of lack of sanitation. In more than one instance an entire family was found living in a single room. At an Arthur street address, four families were found thus domiciled.

The Bureau of Building Inspection has plenty to do in correcting these undesirable conditions, and it is to be hoped it will lose no time in doing it.

The Blue Law Fight

Reception Given Prof. Surface Is But One of Several Encouraging Developments.

Foes of the dismal Sunday have every encouragement, in developments of the last few days, to continue the fight for the repeal of the Blue Law of 1794.

One of the favorable signs is the reaction of the rural districts to the action of the Legislature in defeating the Denning bill, which would have permitted Sunday baseball in municipalities whose voters expressed approval in a referendum.

For instance, Representative H. A. Surface, the Susquehanna University professor, who was denounced by the Blue Law advocates as a traitor for supporting the Denning bill, received a fine reception when he returned to Selinsgrove. Although not in favor himself of repealing the Blue Law, he voted for the bill as a matter of fair play to communities like Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

The question of repealing the Blue Law is to be an important issue in the next legislative campaign, for the executive committee of the Anti-Blue Law Association of Pennsylvania decided at its meeting Tuesday to seek to defeat every candidate for re-election who voted against the Denning bill and to support candidates who voted in favor of it. At the same time an educational campaign is to be conducted.

Preparedness?

(Copyright, 1931.)

A nation prepared to defend itself is respected, and this nation enjoyed that respect in the days of Theodore Roosevelt.

Today we are the laughing stock of World Powers.

America went into the World War unprepared, paid heavily for its folly, and STILL IS PAYING HEAVILY, but it failed to profit by the lesson.

Today we are unprepared properly to defend ourselves. Army, Navy and Marines have been permitted to dwindle below the standards necessary for national security.

"Ladies" and "breeding" and good form" and all that sort of thing.

Manners will be worn with the long skirts and a glace-polish with our ruffles, draperies and feminized pajamas.

All those deluded women who are trying to work out the problem of how to reveal, while pretending to conceal, should be put under the observation of an alienist. Nudity may be healthy for the body, but it is the death of charm and enchantment.

All this display of arm, back, limb and bare flesh may take the SIN out of sincerity. But, alas, it has also taken the man out of woman-ce, and, worst of all, it has taken all the romance out of MAN!

Drape yourselves, Women—drape yourselves!

As long as we let the flappers set the sartorial pace, and then attempt to vie with them, they will beat us at their own game.

The delicate ivory or tan of a baby flapper-arm may look, at the worst, a little scrawny and amusing, when bared to the world.

But any woman over 40 who wears a sleeveless gown looks either "beefy" or pathetic—or both.

Slang, and even profanity, through saucy, flapper-lips, may sound shocking or merely funny. But, through firm, sophisticated lips, it is robbed of its piquancy and becomes plain vulgarity.

Little, thin flapper legs may look doll-like in tight skirtless bathing suits; but a full-grown woman in one of these last-inch, high-water, athletic swimming suits resembles nothing so much as a fresh uncooked ham from the butcher's.

A flapper may indulge in her favorite sport of "petting" and be regarded, at the best, as only a cheap, ill-bred little fool. But when a mature woman of 30 or more slops over with this 10-cent-store sentiment, she flings away her greatest charm, her most precious asset—her RESERVE. And her poise. She is merely ridiculous!

* * *

When Eve discovered clothes, she discovered romance—woman's most subtle weapon. Draperies, whether mental, spiritual or material, are woman's most valuable inheritance.

There is something about the rustle of skirts and a fluttering sleeve—about trails and veils and laces and ruffles and chiffon—which appeals to the age-old romantic impulse in men. Draperies pique and preserve; ruffles promise; manners charm.

Why let the flapper set your pace and your style — and the time-clock for your finish?

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 5.—Thoughts while strolling: Ping pong and archery schools. Geraldine Farrar's lovelier than ever. Sunny skies and skimming birds, tra la. Those incredibly old men carrying spiked sticks, gunny sacks. And faces the shriveled brown of an apple core. The former Jessie Woolworth.

Isaac Marcosson, a Louisville (Ky.) boy, who made good in the city. An O. Henry tea room. Hotel announces: "Rooms Available." I'll say they are. Anna Case always seems so self-conscious. Chunky fellows, smelling of barber lotions, who stand on street corners using nail clippers.

A Chinese mother and her slant-eyed twins. Paul Tremaine's gang of corn-fed boys, who play in a Broadway jazz band. The shadow of palms in an undertaker's windows—like clutching fingers. Ugh! And the crooning blur of a love song from a radio shop. Ed Wynn grows stout.

The scholarly critic of the Times—J. Brooks Atkinson. Who suggests a Kansas plow boy reading Epictitus. Barney Gallant has the world's shaggiest eyebrows! A shady hotel where the notorious Gondorfs held out. Now a respectable inn named for a President.

The hush of chatterers when they step into an art gallery. A bootlegger engraves his card "Vinyardist." The stab of New York's sneering laughter. And the valiant it has crushed. George White swings by with a platinum blonde. Sign: "To smart people who are thrifty." All smart people are thrifty. And lose it in unwise investments.

Eva Steinmetz who looks like a fashion designer. And is. Old time grocery with ginger snaps in window jars. Wonder who names cookies for the National Biscuit Company. There's a career—cookie naming. What became of Charles Voight, the cartoonist? I never knew a Negro called Rastus.

The motor scissors grinder with a white uniform and gold braided cap. Vincent Astor stops at a stall filled with finger-fretted books. A red-shirted Italian waves a dynamite flag and the crowds rush scatter-wise. A girl steps out of a cigar shop puffing a cigarette. What happened to the simple life?

One of the noisest day time spots in a clamorous city is the West Washington market, running off Twenty-third street—an area of live poultry industry filled with crows, clucks and quacks. The district is criss-crossed with narrow little alleys and sudden turns. In one building dealers gather to fix prices for the day under the rule of a union chief—"Tootsie" Hergert. His slight nod is law.

But West Twenty-third street after dark is checkered with solitude. Once boiling with night life it is now solemn in its desolation. It would not seem out of place to hear the forlorn cry of a whippoorwill in the moonlight. And about it all is a ghostly frown—the frown of wraiths who do not wish to be disturbed by prowlers.

Walking along deserted thoroughfares late at night I am always in excited pulsation expecting anything to happen from the slug of a footpad to the sudden growl of a ferocious beast. Yet it occurs to me the only annoyances, frights or mishaps I have ever encountered on the streets were in thickly congested districts.

My pocket has been picked in crowded subways. A falling safe knocked off the straw hat of a man to whom I was talking on a busy street in Dayton, O. A dozen times automobiles have fanned my coat tail crossing Fifth avenue. I went up to my neck in a coal hole on Seventy-second street watching a street parade. A marmoset hopped out of a lady's muff at a counter in a department store landing at my elbow, resulting in periodical attacks of hiccups since. What I need is a wide second-hand prairie.

Right here the phone rang and the operator announced Roy W. Howard. "I have a young man in my office," he said, "who is trying to make a newspaper connection. He is a clean cut chap out of the west and I believe has a future." I thought to myself he must have if the publisher of some 20 newspapers was turning to me to find him a job. Anyway he put him on. It was Will Rogers—the gum chewing ridge hopper!

* * *

Also a telegram: "Your stuff has been great lately. J. G. Bottom."

Thanks to Mr. Bottom from the bottom of my heart and the bottom of the column.

Isn't It So?

A pessimist is one who, of two evils, chooses both.

There is no grace in a benefit that sticks to the fingers.

It isn't so difficult to be decent, but it is a hard job to be noble.

Wealth doesn't buy happiness. Only the poor can afford to marry for love.

Taking the other fellow's dust beats taking the undertaker's dirt, at that.

Many a man doesn't leave his wife much when he dies because he left her so much when he was alive.

Even neatness may be overdone. It's all right to have things in apple pie order but some of us don't like apple pie.

ENCKE'S SKY VAGRANT

By Archibald Henderson

Comets, those strange vagrants of the sky, with a brilliant head and tails covering incredibly vast volumes of space, are among the most interesting of the heavenly bodies to the astronomer. Many hundreds of comets are known to exist, and records have been discovered of some 400 which appeared before the invention of the telescope.

The orbits of about three-fourths of all comets for which paths have been studied show up to be very nearly or actually parabolic. Any student of analytic geometry knows that the parabola is a limiting case between the elipse and the hyperbola. No comet is known to have a specifically hyperbolic orbit. So it appears likely that all cometary orbits are either parabolic, or more probably still elliptic, vastly elongated, with periods of many centuries or even millenniums.

One of the most interesting of these celestial vagrants, known as Encke's comet, paid a flying visit to the earth just last month. It was observed in 1818 by Pons of Marseilles, and the astronomer devoted himself to a careful study of it from the observations which had been made. He was enabled to identify it with a comet first discovered in 1786, one observed by Caroline Herschel in 1795, and one which had been observed by Pons himself in 1805. Encke found that its period was about three years and 110 days, with slight variations. On the basis of his knowledge, Encke predicted that it would appear about May 24, 1822. And sure enough it was discovered near the spot predicted.

Encke's comet is not only important in itself, but also because of its relations to other heavenly bodies. Indeed, it furnished the means for computing the mass of the planet Mercury. The comet was slowed up by Mercury, although to only a very slight extent. It happened to cross the orbit of Mercury, when Mercury was, comparatively speaking, not very far away.

The amount by which the comet was delayed enabled astronomers to compute the pull of Mercury. From the amount of this pull it was possible to compute the mass of Mercury. It has been computed by De Sitter that the mass of Mercury is only about one twenty-fourth that of the earth, the calculation being accurate to within about 25 per cent.

There is one feature of Encke's comet which lends it an air of mystery and makes it an object of unusual interest to astronomers. Both Encke and Olbers assumed, because the comet returned sooner than it ought, that it had to pass through a resisting medium of extreme rarity, whose effect would be slightly to diminish the centrifugal force, and so to lessen the distance from the sun, thus of course increasing the velocity. So far, astronomers have not been able to find any definite observational proof of Encke's assumption. Yet the slight retardation is known to exist.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

White Garden

I want a garden all in white,
A pale, enchanting place,
Gardenia's scent for my delight
And mists of Queen Anne's lace;
With candytuft and bridal wreath
And white petunias there,
And pallid roses to bequeath
Their fragrance to the air.

My garden must have witchery
Surpassing gardens gay,
And sweeter as a dream may be
More sweet than things of day.

And I would keep this garden-spot
For me alone to tread;
White lilies nodding in a grot
And moon-flowers overhead.
Untouched by any alien mood,
Pearl-pale and pure as dew,
Naught in that garden should intrude
On my white thoughts of you.

Text For Today The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower.—Psalms, xviii:2.

A Strange Bird Face

And Wonderful Skull Construction.

HE SEEMS TO LAUGH, BUT IS SERIOUS.

The two pictures in this column are published to stimulate thought in young minds, and possibly in some older minds.

One useful thing that an editor can do is to promote thought in the minds of his readers. What the editor SAYS is not important and is soon forgotten.

What the reader THINKS is what counts.

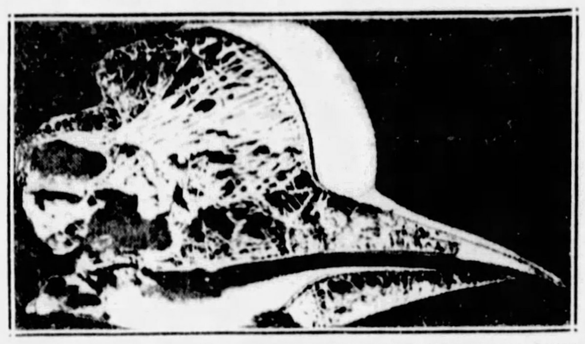
The upper picture makes us think about the strange faces, heads and expressions that Nature gives to her various creatures.

It is the head of an Abyssinian Ground Hornbill. You notice at once that it looks like some comedian disguised as a bird. It is hard to believe that this strange animal with the long beak, the big and utterly useless casque of bone above the eyes and the strangely "humorous" eye is actually not thinking of anything funny.

He is probably thinking of something to eat, if he thinks at all. If his crop is full, you may be sure that his mind is quite empty.

And if that is the case, he is not so far different from some of us other two-legged creatures.

Why are creatures so different, why so many kinds of faces and colorings? This bird from Abyssinia, for instance, has under his bill, around his neck, a lot of skin colored with nearly all the colors of the rainbow. When he is excited, especially in spring at the time of mating, the colors blaze brilliantly and the skin is inflated. This is supposed to make him attractive to the female. Why DOES it make him attractive?



MARVELOUS CONSTRUCTION OF A BIRD'S SKULL.

The second picture, showing the skull of another kind of Hornbill, cut in two, vertically, to reveal the method of construction, causes you to admire Nature's marvelous mechanical ingenuity.

Unlike the bird at the top, the Hornbill that owned the skeleton head needed its big casque rising above the bill.

That casque, covered with extremely hard bone, is used to break nuts and to fight other Hornbills. If the high casque were made of solid bone, it would be so heavy that the bird could not carry it. But the construction, as you see, is largely air space, nearly as light as the construction of an airplane.

How was this wonderful work done? Was it thought out, planned in advance? Did the bird at the top, and birds like the one owning the skull below, live together in the Garden of Eden, all created at the same time, with the ring tailed lemur, the giant sloth, dinosaur, elephant, whale, marmoset and love bird?

Or did they develop slowly through millions of years in the process of evolution? And if they did, what made them do it?

What force gave the highly-colored skin to the neck of the Abyssinian Ground Hornbill? What intelligence made the skull of the other Hornbill so light, and at the same time so strong, with struts like an airplane, to endure concussion?

Think about that.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Do gentlemen prefer Nitwits?

Do husbands like 'em Beautiful but Useless, despite their peeved protestations to the contrary?

And should we be sorry for the Serious Chap whose lady proves to be a worthless whatnot?

According to Melany Rand, of 101 South Illinois avenue, Atlantic City, they do and we shouldn't. For Melany insists that the Serious Chap really wants the Missis to be that way.

It's considerable letter. Sages and prophets have been trying to say much the same thing since Delilah sheared the curls from Samson's brow.

"I read" says she, "that letter from the man who said that the modern wife loafs on her job. And who went on to tell how men long for a Real Woman. Don't you believe him, Elsie! Men choose the sort of a woman they really want.

"The truth is the average man doesn't choose at all when he marries. He just wakes up some day and finds he has done it. And what did he do it for? Did he do it for the capable helpmate and homemaker, the splendid 'mental companion' he has been talking so much about? He did not! He did it for some amusing little trick who cuddled and kidded him straight up the altar. And believe me, that is the sort of girl he really prefers all the time.

"I worked for several years as secretary to the head of an organization for young men. AND IT SURELY TAUGHT ME LOTS ABOUT THE GENTLE ART OF BEING HELPLESS. No wonder women still employ the old bunko game of playing on a man's conceit. Men love to do things to show off. They love a woman who lets them show off . . . a helpless, clinging little stupe who flutters around, rolls her eyes and says—'Oh, aren't you WONDERFUL!' It gives the big boy such a kick that he is willing to pay her board for life if she'll keep it up.

"YOU CAN EMPTY A MAN'S POCKET, TRAMPLE ALL OVER HIS HEART AND FEED HIM DOOR-KNOBS, AND HE'LL FORGIVE YOU . . . BUT YOU'RE DONE THE MOMENT YOU PUNCTURE HIS VANITY.

"A DIMPLE IN THE KNEES IS WORTH SIXTY DOLLARS IN THE BRAIN.

"IT'S WORTH MORE, IN THE MATRIMONIAL MARKET, TO HAVE CUTE EARS OR TANGLED EYELASHES THAN A MEMBERSHIP IN PHI BETA KAPPA. AND A COME-CHASE-ME GLANCE IS WORTH MORE THAN ALL THE CULINARY SKILL IN THE WORLD."

That's Melany's notion about men. That, likewise, is the notion of about 999,999 up-'n'-coming young ladies in these United States. Is it YOUR notion?

American marriage, you'll admit, is pretty much of a mess. Over in Reno they're granting a divorce every five minutes. Look 'em over as they come filing out, each lovely lady with a nice, new decree tucked in her beautifully manicured hand. If you were a man, sister, would you marry one of them—knowing what we know about Us Girls? No, you wouldn't—not on a bet.

Yet some man DID marry them. And some man WILL marry them again as fast as they can change into a going-away frock. And it's dollars to doughnuts he'll be cursing his luck six months from now. Then why does he do it—when he might have had that nice, steady, reliable girl at home? Has Melany said why?
